DO U. S. A FAVOR: QUIT! DIES TELLS 3 NEW DEALERS

Rakes Ickes, Perkins and Hopkins.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Representative Martin Dies [D., Tex.], chairman of the house committee investigating un-American activities, tonight told three executives of the administration to do the country a favor and resign.

He said that the resignations of Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, and Works Progress Administrator Harry L. Hopkins would do more to restore normal conditions in this country than anything else.

He also called for a complete cleanout of the army of satellites which these officials brought into office. Dies said that an overwhelming majority of Democrats desire such a purge and believe that it would "restore peace and harmony to the Democratic party and, what is more, confidence in government."

Dies Singles Out Ickes.

Dies singled out Mr. Ickes for particular attention. Ickes, irked by disclosures of the Dies committee that he is a member of the American Civil Liberties union, which has been identified before the committee as a communist front organization, yesterday denounced Dies and the committee's work.

Ickes, who was forced to admit membership in the A. C. L. U., attacked Dies and called him "the outstanding zany [fool or simpleton] in our political history."

Evidence given by witnesses before the Dies committee repeatedly has connected other high officials in the Roosevelt administration with the American League for Peace and Democracy, which was organized and controled by the communists.

Terms Secretary Unfit.

Replying to the outburst made by Ickes at his press conference yesterday, Dies said tonight:

"The secretary's most recent fit of uncontrolable rage only emphasizes his unfitness for the high position he holds. The secretary literally reeks with the venom of hatred. It flows from him as naturally and freely as water from a spring.

"Because a witness, under oath, testified that the secretary is a member of American Civil Liberties union, an organization which John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers branded communist in 1924, the secretary strikes viciously and savagely at the chairman of the committee, although the secretary admits his membership in the American Civil Liberties union."

Ickes Shuns Invitation.

Dies has invited Ickes to appear before the committee and, under oath, refute any of the evidence the committee has received. So far Ickes has not replied to this invitation.

Continuing his attack on the New Dealers, Dies said:

"The truth is that Secretary Ickes, like Mr. Hopkins and Secretary Perkins, brought many radical associates with him to Washington when he was appointed secretary.

"These satellites range in political insanity from socialist to communist, with the common garden variety of 'crack-pots' in preponderance.

"The aggregation of 'crack-pots' with its liberal sprinkling of communists, has been consistent in only one line of policy—the promotion of class hatred.

Miss Perkins Under Fire.

"While they fortunately comprise only a small minority compared to the thousands of loyal and patriotic public officials, nevertheless they have succeeded in spreading their venom far beyond the confines of their departments and in securing passage of certain legislation bearing their unmistakable imprint."

Mme. Perkins has long been under attack by the Dies committee for her radical leahings, especially in connection with the coddling of alien radicals, such as Harry Bridges, west coast leader of the C. I. O. The committee demanded that she resume deportation proceedings against Bridges, which she had dropped.

Hopkins has been held responsible for the WPA's infestation with communists and other radicals. This has been especially marked in the WPA writers' and theater projects, according to evidence uncovered by the Dies committee.

LEAVE YOUR OBITUARY AT THE OFFICE, PAPER ASKS TIPPLING DRIVERS

Murfreesboro, Tenn., Nov. 24.—(AP)—The Murfreesboro Daily News Journal made this front page plea to motorist readers for Thanksgiving day: "The editorial staf would greatly appreciate it if all citizens planning to take a few quick snorts of fire water before getting into the car to drive to grandma's or the football game would first stop by the office and leave a few notes on their obituaries. This thoughtfulness will do away with the necessity of our having to chase around hospitals and undertaking establishments Thanksgiving night trying to find out who you were."

SILENCE STRIKE BY PASTOR IS HIS REPLY TO CRITICS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Quebec, Nov. 24.—The Rev. C. E. Combe of St. Jude's Anglican church, who said he was "deeply hurt" by criticism of his views on the part of a minority element in his congregation, has adopted a "silence" strike in retaliation.

Acting on the principle that silence is the finest expression of feeling when deeply stirred, the Rev. Mr. Combe has decided to refrain from preaching sermons in his church.

ESCAPES INJURY IN CRASH; BLOWN OFF CLIFF; DIES

Portland, Ore., Nov. 24.—(AP)—George H. Tilbury, 61 years old, of Kennewick, Wash., escaped injury in an automobile accident last night, only to be blown to his death by a wind. Tilbury's automobile collided on the Columbia river highway with one driven by Grover Young of Portland. Tilbury stepped up on a stone guard rail to flag a ride to Portland. The wind blew him from the railing. Searchers found his body at the base of a 350 foot cliff.

Sinks in Frigid Bog; Rescued 16 Hours Later

Hurrying home after a day's work Mike Diglio took a short cut to the street car line. It led him near the old Illinois-Michigan canal in Lyons township. The lonely path meandered across a bog. At every step the mud sucked at Diglio's shoes.

He plunged ahead. Then he floundered. Next he found he could not move his feet at all. Aghast, he looked down and found himself sinking in the clammy quagmire. He struggled and shouted for help only to sink deeper. No one heard his cries.

Shudders with Cold.

Night fell and with it Diglio's hopes of being saved. As the hours passed he sank into the marsh up to his waist; then the mud began to creep upward toward his shoulders. Diglio shuddered with the cold; his teeth chattered. He had strained his throat in calling for help; now he could utter only a feeble croak.

Diglio had kept his arms free. He beat with his hands on the soft ooze about him; he tried to brace himself.

At dawn the mire had reached the trapped man's shoulders. Somehow Diglio found strength to cry for help once more. Then three young men appeared—not shadows such as had tormented him through the night—but hunters, for they carried guns.

That was 7 a. m. yesterday. Diglio had been held prisoner by the freezing mud for sixteen hours.

Returns with Deputies.

Two of the hunters tugged at Diglio's arms; the third sprinted away, to return shortly with Deputy Sheriffs Harold Fandrey and Tony Kirincich of the Willow Springs county highway station. They brought a rope and helped pull Diglio to a firm patch of ground.

A fire was built, his garments were stripped from him. He was warmed, wrapped in a blanket, and sent to County hospital.

Diglio, 47 years old, is a WPA worker employed on a sewer project on West 82d street. He lives at 2620 Lowe avenue with his wife and three daughters. His rescuers were Vito Radnes, 15, Walter Novak, 16, and his brother, John Novak, 15, all of Justice Park.

At the hospital it was said that the patient who enjoyed yesterday's turkey dinner the most was the chap named Michael Diglio.

A PARTY HOST READS A DEFINITION OF NEWS AND THEN MAKES SOME

Racine, Wis., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Louis Wigman never had made news, but, having read a definition of it, he knew how. The definition, of course, is that if a dog bites a man it is not news, but if a man bites a dog it is. So today, at a Thanksgiving party in his home, he started to make some news. In the course of his efforts several women raced down the street, there was great excitement in the neighborhood, and the police were called. But Wigman triumphed—he bit his dog. The women? They were helping Wigman catch the dog.

FIVE INCH BABY KEPT ALIVE BY ELECTRIC LIGHT

DRUMHELLER, Alta., Nov. 24.—(AP)—In a homemade incubator—a wool lined apple box heated by an electric lamp—Canada's "tiniest baby" was thriving today as the attending physician and nurses gave the 22 ounce infant "an excellent chance to live." The baby girl, Molly Alice, was born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. James Carruthers.

Born four months prematurely, the child is just five inches long and has gained little weight since birth. So tiny are the babe's arms that an ordinary finger ring could be slipped over either. Dr. G. M. Gibson said the baby was normal and was taking food regularly. Every half hour she is fed six drops of a diet consisting of water, a food compound, and a drop of rum as a stimulant.

Mrs. Carruthers, 28 years old, and her husband, 30, who is a mine stable boss, have one other child.

WANTED TO GET OFF TRAIN SO HE PULLS IT APART

Wickford Junction, R. I., Nov. 24.—(AP)—The eleven car streamlined Gilt Edge express, New York-Boston flyer of the New Haven railroad, was pulled apart tonight by a sleepy passenger.

Thinking the fast moving train had reached Providence, his destination, and was not going to stop, the passenger pulled the conductor's emergency valve. The train jerked to a standstill and a coupling was broken.

Nine of the cars proceeded to Providence, arriving an hour and five minutes late. Four persons eating a late Thanksgiving dinner in the dining car and passengers in the last coach were taken to Providence about an hour later by a special engine.

POLICE BATTLE PARIS STRIKERS; HURL TEAR GAS

Dozens Hurt; Auto Plant Wrecked.

PARIS, Nov. 24. — (AP) — Mobile guards tonight battled strikers occupying the Renault automobile works in Paris. The outbreak accompanied a wave of strikes in northern France and the Paris region which, at the peak, involved more than 74,000 workers.

Premier Daladier.

Dozens of men were injured on both sides, and much of the Paris factory's machinery was reported wrecked before the Renault strikers, estimated to number several thousands, left the plant.

The workers had barricaded themselves inside the work shops and barred doors with armored cars and tanks manufactured by the plant.

Charge Through Back Doors.

The guards, commanded by Roger Langeron, Paris police prefect, charged through back entrances after hurling tear gas bombs through the windows. A pitched battle developed inside, with strikers using wrenches and hammers to combat the blows of rifle butts.

Premier Edouard Daladier assumed complete control of measures to fight the strikes, and the guards were sent into action as a result. The strikes had been called in opposition to the government's decree law for lengthening the forty hour week. The premier told police to clear important Paris factories.

Daladier took charge of the anti-strike efforts by virtue of his own position as premier and a special decree by President Albert Lebrun giving him authority to act for Minister of Interior Albert Sarraut. The latter is on his way back to Paris from Ankara, Turkey, where he attended President Ataturk's funeral.

Issues Three Orders.

The premier issued three orders which the mobile guards and police carried out. They were:

FIRST — Requisitioning of 4,000 striking railroad workers at the Anzin mines, near Valenciennes, into military service tomorrow to assure the transport of coal and protection of the pits.

SECOND—Clearing of plants in the Paris region where occupation strikes broke out this afternoon. At the height, there were more than 32,000 strikers in this area, but most of the workers tonight had left the plants.

THIRD—Clearing of twenty-five factories in the northern region where 12,000 workers were engaged in "stay-in" strikes. This left 30,000 other strikers still occupying plants, mines and railroad yards.

Acts "to Force Respect."

Daladier's office issued a statement saying "all measures necessary to force respect of public order have been taken." On the premier's direct orders, before he began conferences with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax of Britain, extra units of mobile guards had been rushed to the Lille-Valenciennes area.

One group of employés had erected

Red Bolton Dies as Did Brother, a Legislator

A little more than two years ago State Representative John M. Bolton of the 2d district, one of four brothers well known on the west side, was shot and killed by gangland assassins. His murder is still unsolved.

A few minutes before midnight last night the second of the brothers, Joseph [Red] Bolton, a notorious prohibition beer chieftain and a subsequent handbook operator, was shot to death by one or more gangster gunmen. His murder, too, may be written off unsolved.

Red Bolton was killed at the doorstep of his home, 35 North Menard avenue, in the heart of Austin. He was shot twice, once in the back and once behind the right ear. Either bullet was enough to have caused death. He was 40 years old.

Brother Slain in His Car.

The murders of the two brothers leave Robert and William, the latter a former state boxing inspector. Representative Bolton was killed early July 9, 1936, as he was riding in his car at Harrison street and Washtenaw avenue.

While there were several witnesses to the killing of Representative Bolton, there was none to that of his brother last night. The killers of Red Bolton worked with a deftness that was cruelly efficient. The only clew, and a flimsy one, was a car carrying two men that sped north from the scene immediately after the shooting. The killer, whoever he was, sneaked up behind Bolton and fired two shots into him at close range, then vanished.

Loaded Gun in Victim's Pocket.

That Bolton lived daringly and probably expected attempts on his life was indicated by the fact he was armed. Detectives John Daly and Bert Devine of the Austin station found a loaded revolver in his pocket. In his moment of greatest need Bolton did not have the slightest chance to use it.

The manner in which Bolton was slain suggested only two possibilities to police. Either the killer waited for him to return home and then stole upon him or he posed as a friend. In this second theory police pointed out that the two men in the suspected car may have driven him home, that one of them followed Bolton out of the car without the latter's knowledge and then killed him.

The death shots were heard by Bolton's wife, Margaret, and his daughter, Catherine, 14 years old, who were waiting in their apartment for his return. They told Capt. George Lynch that they last saw him at 11 a. m. when he drove them to the home of Mrs. Bolton's sister at Kostner and Armitage avenues for Thanksgiving dinner. He did not stay, saying he intended to visit his mother at 736 South Ashland boulevard. He never appeared there.

Dozen Possible Motives.

Both Capt. Lynch and Lieut. William Butler agreed that any one of a dozen motives might explain Bolton's murder. Old dry era troubles, the assassination of his brother, or subse-

HINT WINDSORS INTEND TO QUIT EXILE IN FRANCE

Chamberlain Visits Duke and Wally.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 24.—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain today played the leading rôle in two important political developments.

1. He called on the duke of Windsor, a visit which was interpreted by British circles as another step in negotiations for the return of former King Edward VIII. to England with his wife, the former Wallis Warfield. Chamberlain favors such a return.

2. The prime minister affirmed publicly that Great Britain and France are in complete accord on national defense and diplomatic collaboration "for the preservation and consolidation of peace."

Chamberlain Presents Card.

Chamberlain's visit with Windsor was the first meeting the duke and a chief of the British government since the winter of 1936. At that time the duke, as king, had a last talk with Stanley Baldwin, then prime minister, before his abdication on Dec. 10.

Chamberlain on his arrival in Paris yesterday presented his card at Windsor's apartment in the Hotel Meurice. Later he sent word that he would like to see the duke.

This evening the prime minister dressed for a dinner given by Sir Eric Phipps, British ambassador to Paris. He then hopped into an embassy car with Viscount Halifax, British foreign minister, and drove to Windsor's hotel.

Conversation Lasts 20 Minutes.

Chamberlain and Halifax hurried to the duke's suite. The conversation lasted twenty minutes. The prime minister came downstairs wearing a big smile. Halifax wore a frown. The two statesmen drove back to the embassy for dinner.

Chamberlain and Windsor refused to disclose the nature of their chat, but it was assumed that the likelihood of the duke and duchess of Windsor returning to England to live was touched upon.

Negotiations for the return of the Windsors were reported to have been opened by the duke of Gloucester, Windsor's second younger brother, on Nov. 11. At that time it was said the duke and the American born woman for whom he gave up the throne were hoping to spend Christmas in England, perhaps at the traditional royal family reunion at Sandringham house.

Continue Arms Programs.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed that Britain and France intend to continue their program for massive rearmament as the result of discussion among Chamberlain, Halifax, Premier Edouard Daladier, and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet of France.

At the conclusion of the conference, the British issued this statement:

"The visit to Paris of the prime minister and secretary of state for foreign affairs afforded French ministers the opportunity to exchange views with their British colleagues on the principal questions on which the two countries have common concern, including matters of national defense as well as diplomatic action.

"Under the discussions which have taken place today, there emerged once again a complete identity of ideas on general orientation of policy of the two countries, inspired by the same care for preservation and consolidation of peace."

Predicts Future Coöperation.

Daladier, replying to the British, said:

"It is with great pleasure that the French government received today the friendly visit of Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Halifax, minister of foreign affairs.

"The people of Paris also have shown by their manifestation the gratitude of the French nation.

"We examined with complete frankness the principal questions of international life. We reached total agreement on all points.

"The spirit of collaboration that we have shown in the last few months was totally affirmed. I am persuaded that collaboration between the two great democracies in national defense as well as in the question of international interest will continue to give their best fruit in the interest of peace."

Authoritative sources disclosed that the most serious discussion was over armament. Daladier sought to profit under the newly concluded Franco-German agreement by announcing it would lead to easing of the armaments burden.

Since the French public no longer can be convinced that Reichsfuehrer Hitler's signature has any permanent value, the French premier's only chance of success was to convince Chamberlain that Britain must take part of the load of land defense off the shoulders of France. He accordingly raised the question of conscription in Britain without, however, getting any comforting promises.

Instead, a British source said, Chamberlain indicated that the French must continue to maintain a huge army, speed up their aviation program and even be ready to take part in naval defense so long as the European situation remains so potentially dangerous.

Other questions discussed by these four statesmen included Japanese aggression in China where French interests are affected as well as British. Chamberlain apparently did not press for any commitments on colonies for Germany, and the Spanish civil war out of consideration for Daladier's political position.

The campaign which has been whipped up in France against making the slightest concession on colonies—backed up by the argument that the Germans will mistreat African natives as they do the Jews—and on granting belligerent rights to Generalissimo Francisco Franco, Spanish rebel leader, makes it impossible for Daladier to yield on these two points.

U. S. ENVOY LAUDS CITIZENSHIP OF U. S. MINORITIES

LONDON, Nov. 24.—(AP)—United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy praised democracies' respect for the rights of their minorities tonight and declared the failure to recognize those rights leads "to internal decay, external weakness, and discontent and perhaps to civil conflict."

The envoy, who is working closely with the British government in an attempt to resettle German refugees, told the American society at its annual Thanksgiving dinner that "in our country citizenship almost completely overshadows any sentiment of racial origin." He added:

"The classification of Americans into Irish-Americans or Italian or German or Polish or Russian or Czech-Americans does not mean that these people are unabsorbed aliens. Our foreign-born citizens by and large are Americans before anything else. This almost unique social phenomenon is, I feel sure, due to the fact that the Constitution of the United States has in reality and in fact shown its recognition of the basic sacredness . . . of individual personality and of liberties and rights that flow from it by the will of the Creator."

GERMANS MARCH INTO NEW AREA OF CZECH LAND

REICHENBERG, Germany, Nov. 24.—(AP)—German police commanded by Maj. Gen. von Pfeffer-Wildenbruch today occupied the small areas of Czechoslovakia ceded after direct German-Czechoslovak negotiations last Monday.

Similarly the Czechs occupied sections traded in by Germany. Officials of both sides withdrew at 9 a. m. and the formations moved into the respective districts an hour later. There were no untoward incidents.

[Under terms of the four power conference in Munich on Sept. 29 and subsequent negotiations and decisions of an international board the conference established, Germany obtained approximately 11,000 square miles of Czechoslovak territory.]

CITY TO WATCH MILK SALES IN PAPER CARTONS

A report on the sale of milk in paper containers in suburbs of Chicago will be sought for the information of the city council, Ald. Thomas J. Terrell [29th] said yesterday. He is chairman of the council committee on health.

"We considered the matter of paper milk containers some time ago, but Dr. Bundesen, then president of the board of health, and the dairies were opposed to the idea," Terrell said. "I think, though, that we should learn what we can from the experience of the neighboring communities."

Terrell said investigators for the committee probably will be sent to the suburbs in a week or ten days. Milk is to be sold in paper containers, starting today, by retail stores in communities west and north of the city.

South African Mob Chases Jews in Streets; 30 Hurt

JOHANNESBURG, Union of South Africa, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Thirty persons were injured today when a Fascist meeting turned into an anti-Jewish riot. A crowd which had attended the meeting chased Jews through streets, shouting "Down with Jews." Police restored order with tear gas. Of those injured, two were shot and one was stabbed.

JEWISH LEADERS COUNT DEAD IN VIENNA VIOLENCE

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 24.—Jewish leaders in Vienna today estimated the number of dead as a result of recent violences against Jews at 70. Forty deaths were attributed to suicides and thirty to injuries. The number of deaths in concentration camps is not known.

[Associated Press dispatches from Vienna last night said a new roundup of foreign Jews and those unable to produce satisfactory citizenship documents was under way with an estimated 300 already arrested. Those taken into custody included chiefly Polish and Rumanian Jews whose citizenship was contested by their respective governments.]

The Vienna city council has decided to rename 97 streets bearing Jewish names at a cost of $4,000.

Although under official Nazi decrees Jews were allowed to keep business establishments until Jan. 1. Nazi authorities are playing a cat and mouse game with Jewish business men. Some Jews are permitted to open their stores for a few hours. Then they are ordered to close them again. The Jews are threatened with arrest if they call at the police station with the text of anti-Jewish decrees in their hands.

Stores Ordered Closed.

Jews must repair and restock stores which were wrecked or looted by the Nazis during the disorders Nov. 10. Some of them had received official permission to reopen the shops. Today, the permission was canceled. Only American, French and British Jews were spared.

Nazis complained that Jewish luxury stores with wealthier customers did the best business. It was suspected that Jewish stores which enjoyed a brisk business were compelled to close.

In some cases Nazis demand that Jewish merchants—furriers, for instance—turn over their entire stock to prospective buyers, including costly furs that are in storage, before the business is sold.

A notice was published stating that sales of Jewish enterprises must be approved by local Nazi authorities. Aryan buyers must prove that "the survival of the business is to the economic advantage of the German people."

The buyers must meet the approval of the Guild of Traders. Many stores are marked with signs "Being Aryanized," because some of the repaired shops again were attacked.

A photograph of Police Captain Max Finkelstein leaving the German consulate in New York City was published by Der Angriff, official Nazi paper, which described the protection of the consulate by Jewish police as a "deliberate challenge to Germany."

Colombia Recalls Envoy.

A breach in diplomatic relations between Germany and Colombia was foreshadowed tonight when Rafael Jaramillo, Colombia's newly appointed minister, was recalled. Jaramillo withdrew his application for an audience with Reichsfuehrer Hitler to present his credentials and left for home. It was announced that the Colombian chargé d'affaires, Raphael Rocha-Schloss, had been transferred from Berlin to Copenhagen.

It is believed that Germany will retaliate by recalling its minister, Dr. Wolfgang Dittler, from Bogota, the Colombian capital.

The recent anti-Jewish violence in Berlin was the origin of the diplomatic breach. Raids on Jewish stores were witnessed by Jaramillo while he was riding in his automobile which carries a diplomatic license plate. He photographed the wreckage and was surrounded by a mob, taken into custody by the police and detained for two hours.

Jaramillo was scheduled to be received by Hitler five days later, but Nazi authorities canceled the appointment. All subsequent Colombian protests, both verbal and written, were ignored by the Nazi foreign office.

Backs Jewish Home in Palestine.

LONDON, Nov. 24—(AP)—Earl Winterton, member of the British cabinet, told the house of commons tonight the government would stand by the plan for providing Jews a national home in Palestine.

His statement followed upon a warning by Herbert Morrison, Labor party spokesman, that any departure from this plan, embodied in the 1917 Balfour declaration, might be "prejudicial" to British-American relations.

Lord Winterton, a cabinet member by virtue of his position as chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, replying to questions whether this declaration was still binding, said the answer was a "simple affirmative—yes."

Morrison sounded his warning during an attack on what he described as Britain's indecision on the question of troubled Palestine. His attack came after Malcolm MacDonald, secretary for colonies and dominions, explained the government's abandonment of the Palestine partition plan in the face of apparently irreconcilable Arab and Jewish claims.

BRITISH DUCHESS TO QUIT AS M. P., FORCE ELECTION

LONDON, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The duchess of Atholl, fiery critic of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's foreign policy, decided today to relinquish her Conservative seat in the house of commons to force an immediate by-election to test the sentiment of her constituency.

Her decision was spurred by action taken last Saturday by the Unionist [Conservative] association in her constituency of Kinross and West Perth, Scotland. The association refused to nominate her as its candidate in the next election.

Her husband, a Scottish peer, resigned in anger as president and member of the Unionist association when it withdrew its support from the duchess. The association voted to instruct its council to name a candidate "who will support the prime minister's policy of peaceful understanding in Europe."

KING OF RUMANIA SEES HITLER AT BAVARIAN HAVEN

Talk Over Political and Economic Problems.

BERLIN, Nov. 24.—Following the suggestion of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain and Premier Edouard Daladier of France, King Carol II. of Rumania called on Reichsfuehrer Hitler today on his way home from visits in London and Paris.

King Carol and his son, Crown Prince Michael, spent five hours at Hitler's mountain retreat at Berchtesgaden, Bavaria. The Rumanian monarch and the Fuehrer conferred in the latter's study. Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop was present. Problems affecting central and southeastern Europe were discussed, especially political, economic and cultural questions affecting Germany and Rumania.

Sees South African Chief.

Earlier in the day Hitler received Oswald Pirow, defense minister of the Union of South Africa. The two talked for an hour. Whether Hitler's demands for colonies were brought up during the discussion was not known.

The German public, meanwhile, was informed for the first time of the approaching visit of Von Ribbentrop to Paris to sign a French-German "gentlemen's agreement."

While the date of the visit has not yet been fixed, it was said that it will be "in the next few days."

"The conditions for a Franco-German agreement on the lines of that reached between Germany and England at Munich have shown themselves to be extraordinarily favorable in recent weeks," said the official announcement.

It added that Hitler in the last year "frequently has seized the opportunity to declare there is no problem existing between France and Germany that offers a basis of opposition to friendly and neighborly relations."

Nazis Give Credit to France.

France was given the credit in official German circles for initiating the discussions which paved the way to the new understanding.

It was disclosed that joint declarations will embrace three points.

The first will express the mutual view of the two governments that peaceful and friendly relations of the two countries constitute an important element for the consolidation of peace in Europe and for the maintenance of general peace.

The second point will deal with Germany's declarations that she has no further territorial plans against France inasmuch as both nations will recognize the existing frontier. Under the third point, the two governments agree to discuss any international difficulties and disputes affecting them.

Hungary Seeks Premier Acceptable to Germany

BUDAPEST, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary, today adjourned parliament for one week in order to devote full attention to finding a successor to Premier Bela Imredi, who resigned yesterday. Two former premiers, Koloman Daranyi and Stephen Bethlen, were mentioned as possible choices. Imredi resigned because of dissatisfaction over his failure to get Czechoslovakia to cede Ruthenia [sub-Carpathian Russia] to Hungary. The search for a premier was complicated by the fact that the new man must be acceptable to dissatisfied parties in parallament as well as to Italy and Germany, which are opposed to Hungary's designs on Ruthenia.

RED BOLTON SHOT TO DEATH; MEETS BROTHER'S FATE

Gangster Slain Entering West Side Home.

quent handbook feuds offer possible theories, they said. Others, they added, might have to do with the gang killing of Bert Delaney, former Capone brewery boss who was shot at 35th street and Ellis avenue last Oct. 21, or the attempted murder of Walter McComb, old time badman, at Madison and Paulina streets last Sept. 3. Police learned that Bolton had carried since September that revolver that was in his pocket when he died.

The McComb possibility appealed to several investigators. McComb, who was tried and acquitted in connection with the $2,000,000 Rondout mail robbery, was shot by an unidentified man. He denied he knew him. He said he knew of no reason for the attempt on his life. McComb formerly worked for the late Representative Bolton as a dice handler in a gaming joint a few doors from where he was shot. Representative Bolton was reputedly interested in the spot.

Entered Rackets After War.

"Red" Bolton entered the rackets shortly after the end of the war, in which he served as a sailor. In 1919 he was sentenced to Pontiac reformatory for robbery and finally discharged in 1923. He immediately became a beer runner for Terry Druggan. Eventually he opened a saloon in Taylor street and manufactured his own beer. Bolton's saloon was the scene of the murder of Policeman Joseph J. Sullivan in May, 1929. Bolton continued in the beer business until after his brother's murder, after which he took over the latter's handbook interests.

According to friends, Bolton was broke, although he maintained an interest in a handbook at Cicero avenue and Madison street. His financial condition was shown only yesterday when his wife gave him 50 cents for spending money. West side friends were promoting the raffle of a diamond ring, to be held Dec. 20, to raise funds to send Bolton to Arizona. He had been ill for a year.

SOUTH DAKOTANS GET THEIR FILL OF LITTLE NEW DEAL

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Huron, S. D., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—One reason given for the Republican election sweep in this state is that South Dakota once had its own little New Deal. Some twenty years ago it embarked on ventures in putting the state into business. The results were disastrous. Economic tombstones mark the resting place of most of the socialistic experiments in which the state engaged.

This experience, which was hammered on in the campaign as an object lesson, is regarded as one cause of the farmer uprising against Roosevelt policies, especially the farm program. When Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace's experiment in planned scarcity was followed up by a drop in farm prices and a growth in farm imports from foreign countries, it sounded something like the fiasco here in the old days of soapboxing and panacea peddling. Election day found the farmers quite hardboiled.

Norbeck Strategy Fails.

When the late Senator Peter Norbeck, Republican, was elected governor in 1916, the Non-Partisan league was going strong in North Dakota. It overflowed into nearby states. Norbeck took the position that the way to head off the league in South Dakota was to launch socialistic experiments in the state. South Dakota went in for state coal mining, hail insurance, rural credits, cement making, and the bonding business.

Incidentally, the recent election saw the passing of the old Norbeck group as a political power. Some of the chief followers of the late senator went out on a limb and supported the Democratic ticket. Political conjecture here is that the idea may have been to try to swing the state to the Democrats this year, then possibly line up with the LaFollettes and a third party for 1940.

Two-Way Loss Suffered.

If such were the object, it lost both ways. The Democrats were submerged in South Dakota, while in Wisconsin Gov. Philip F. La Follette was beaten, thus sounding the knell for a third party. The old Norbeck group was not even a balance of power in the South Dakota election.

In 1936 Norbeck came out for President Roosevelt, although the question sometimes has been raised as to whether he made the deathbed statement purporting to favor the President.

To return to the experiments in slapping the state into business, chief of them was the extension of rural credits through state funds. This venture was set up in 1917 to make real estate loans to farmers out of funds obtained from the sale of state bonds. The idea was that the state would get money at a low rate and lend it at a higher rate, but less than farmers paid to private banks.

Foreclose on 7,000 Farms.

It didn't quite work out that way. The state had to foreclose on about 7,000 farms, and it now owns 7,000 farm units which consist of nearly 2,000,000 acres of land. The peak of the indebtedness reached 47 million dollars and it now stands at $38,069,000.

The state built a cement plant at Rapid City. It is still going and is said to be financially successful. The state bought a coal mine in North Dakota and sold out years later, chalking up a loss of $211,000.

Gov.-elect Harlan J. Bushfield called the roll of experiments the other day.

"The state went into the hail insurance business," he said. "It blew up. The guaranty of bank deposits blew up. It left depositors holding the sack to the tune of some $40,000,000. The coal mine in North Dakota blew up. Rural credits blew up, leaving the state holding some two million acres of land and still owing 38 million dollars. It's made no loans for years. The state went into the bonding business. It blew up. The cement plant is successful.

"Small wonder, isn't it, that South Dakota farmers, sound and hard thinking, see the results of these experiments are against the wild orgy of extravagance and the nostrums of the New Deal? They are agast at the mounting debt, the failure to provide real jobs, at the drop in farm prices in face of promises that the New Deal would do wonderful things for the farmer, and they know that the taxpayers will have to pay the piper."

HITLER CONFERS GERMAN EAGLE ON 8 AMERICANS

3 Educators Receive Nazi Decoration.

BERLIN, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler today conferred the Order of Merit of the German Eagle, first class, on three Americans and lesser classes of the same order on five others. The reasons for conferring the orders are never announced.

Decorations of the first class were awarded Prof. William Alpha Cooper of Stanford university, Prof. Karl Frederick Geiser of Oberlin college and Prof. Frederick K. Kruger of Wittenberg college, Springfield, O.

Second class awards went to Prof. Ralph Haswell Lutz of Stanford, William Lawrence Montgomery, chief of the foreign trade department, San Francisco Chamber of Commerce; F. W. Elven and Fritz Hailer. The addresses of the latter two were not given.

F. C. Miller, whose address also was not given, received a decoration of the third class.

Says Hitler "Seeks Friends."

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Adolf Hitler's awards of the Order of Merit of the German Eagle to two Stanford university professors and a San Francisco Chamber of Commerce official were hailed tonight by Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Stanford president, as "an attempt by Hitler to look for friends." He added, "I'm glad he didn't spot me!"

Dr. William Alpha Cooper, emeritus professor of German, retired in 1934. Members of his family said they believed the award has been made for Dr. Cooper's efforts on behalf of Germanic culture. Prof. Ralph Lutz of the history department and dean of graduate study, the other educator, could not be reached.

The chamber of commerce official, William Lawrence Montgomery, foreign trade department chief at San Francisco, said he had received his medal Sept. 20. He said he understood it was for his efforts on behalf of foreign trade, saying he made a trip to Germany last year on that project.

Lectured on Nazi Affairs.

Springfield, O., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Dr. Frederick K. Kruger, political science professor at Wittenberg college, could not be reached for comment tonight on the action of Adolf Hitler in presenting him the Order of Merit of the German Eagle.

Dr. Kruger has on several occasions in recent years returned to Germany to lecture in universities as an exchange professor. He is the author of several books on political science and has lectured extensively in this country on Nazi affairs. He attended the University of Berlin.

M'NUTT'S BOOM PUTS MINTON ON POLITICAL SPOT

Must Ally with Roosevelt or Indiana Machine.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—With the definite announcement that former Gov. Paul V. McNutt will be a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1940, Senator Sherman Minton, veteran wheelhorse of the McHale-Minton-McNutt machine in Indiana, is confronted with the problem of deciding whether to remain loyal to President Roosevelt or climb aboard the McNutt bandwagon.

Frank McHale of Logansport, Indiana's Democratic national committeeman, announced yesterday that headquarters would be opened here in January to launch the McNutt presidential boom on a national scale. Earlier in the week McHale had conferred with Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley and other Democratic leaders in New York. Farley is reported to have told him: "It can't and won't be McNutt in 1940."

Roosevelt Cool to McNutt.

President Roosevelt has been extremely cool toward McNutt's presidential aspirations. That coolness had its beginning at the Democratic national convention in Chicago in 1932, when the Indiana group held out on Mr. Roosevelt's nomination.

Therefore, Minton, who has been one of the President's most ardent supporters in the senate, must decide soon whether to string along with the Roosevelt attitude on McNutt or to cast his lot with the McNutt forces. It was McNutt who, as governor in 1933, appointed Minton public counselor for the Indiana public service commission, and thus paved the way for the latter's political rise which led to the United States senate.

Minton's political worries are further complicated by the report that Gov. M. Clifford Townsend will contest with him for his senate seat in 1940. Townsend served as lieutenant governor in the McNutt administration.

Speculate on Vote Scandals.

Meanwhile, Indiana politicians are speculating on the possible effect the vote fraud scandals in this month's election will have on the McNutt presidential campaign.

If Raymond E. Willis, Republican senatorial nominee who lost in the election to Senator Frederick Van Nuys on the face of returns, should win his vote recount contest, McNutt's presidential hopes probably would be sunk.

Recount suits were filed by Willis in seven Indiana counties, where it was charged that frauds perpetrated by the McHale-Minton-McNutt machine built up the slender lead with which Van Nuys nosed out his G. O. P. opponent. Counsel for Van Nuys obtained from the Indiana Supreme court a temporary writ of prohibition to halt the recount. The court will hear arguments for a permanent writ on Dec. 1. The temporary order was granted by three justices, all Democrats. Principals in the contest have generally refused to discuss the matter pending outcome of the hearing next week.

Claims Senate Is Arbiter.

It is Senator Van Nuys' contention, in seeking to block the recount, that the United States senate itself is the final and only arbiter as to the qualifications of its members.

Willis has announced from his home at Angola, where he publishes a weekly newspaper, that he and his advisers are exploring the possibilities of other legal action, should the ecount move be permanently blocked. He said also that evidence of fraud is being prepared for presentation to the senate when it reconvenes in January.

5 FACE POLICE QUIZ TODAY ON ANTI-NAZI RIOT

Five men seized Wednesday night by the police after a free for all fight ended a meeting of the Silvershirt Legion of America, a pro-Nazi and anti-Semitic organization, will tell Judge Eugene McGarry all about it this morning in the Chicago avenue police court.

The men, four of them members of a loosely organized band of the legion's opponents, and the other a Silvershirt member, were charged yesterday with disorderly conduct. They were released in $25 bond each.

Charles Ariet, 47 yars old, 6310 Ridge avenue, the Silvershirt, was bailed out by Carl Schultz, 5743 Wilson avenue, his employer. Schultz said he knew nothing about the organization. The others arrested were Hyman Giskin, 29; Jack Shiffo, 28; Edward Lytton, 27, and Michael Sanders, 24.

The fight took place outside a tavern at 876 North Wells street, where the Silvershirts met after being barred from holding an earlier meeting in the Engineers' building. The riot, in which 200 men took part, was quelled by the police, but not until after Policeman George Olson was slightly injured.

LEADERS TO URGE THAT MAYOR RUN FOR RE-ELECTION

Business, Labor Groups to Call on Him Today.

A delegation of business men, clubwomen, and labor leaders announced yesterday that they will call on Mayor Kelly today to urge him to run for reëlection next spring. The mayor has not yet said whether he will be a candidate.

Mayor Kelly's platform, if he does decide to seek reëlection, probably will not be made public for some time. It is expected, however, that business men supported him will stress among other issues his success in starting a subway for Chicago after thirty years' fruitless discussion.

No Serious Labor Trouble.

Labor leaders say they will point to the fact that Chicago, one of the strongest union towns in the country, has escaped serious labor trouble in his régime. Civic organizations assert they are appreciative of the success of the Chicago police under his guidance in reducing the city's crime rates.

Col. A. A. Sprague, a spokesman for business men in Democratic ranks, will lead the group that calls on the mayor.

Other Members of Group.

Others expected to be in the group include Mrs. John van Wakeman, chairman of the Cook county Federation of Women's Clubs; Fred W. Sargent, president of the Chicago and North Western railway; John Fitzpatrick, president, and Joseph Keenan, secretary, of the Chicago Federation of Labor; David Mayer, president of the State Street council; Karl Eitel of the Bismarck hotel, C. S. Maginnis, president of the Fair store; John D. Allen, president of the Brinks Express company, and James R. Leavell, president of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow, Danish nobleman, has obtained from the British high court an injunction to ban from circulation in this country the December issue of an American magazine, it was revealed tonight. The magazine contains an article on the life of Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz-Reventlow, his estranged wife. She is the American born heiress to $40,000,000 of the Woolworth 5 and 10 fortune.

The article was written by Miss Elsa Maxwell, an American widely known in society for her elaborate parties. It is entitled "The Truth About Barbara Hutton." The countess, who separated from her husband last July, collaborated with Miss Maxwell in preparing the life story.

The reasons for the count's objections to the article were not revealed.

Pana, Ill., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Two men, driving an automobile and posing as mule buyers from the National Stock Yards mule market at East St. Louis, robbed Albert Wertemberg, wealthy Shelby county stock farmer, of $1,800 in a new confidence game yesterday.

The two appeared at the Wertemberg home, negotiated with Wertemberg for the purchase of several mules, and offered a draft $1,800 in excess of the purchase price. They induced Wertemberg to accompany them to the Stewardson State bank, where he drew out $1,800 and gave it to them, although the cashier advised Wertemberg to take out a draft. The two men objected to this on the ground their transaction was a cash deal and they needed the money to make additional mule purchases.

Driving back to the Wertemberg farm the two men, without turning over their draft to Wertemberg, threw him out of their car and sped away.

FATHER GIVES UP HOPE FOR 2 SONS LOST IN FOREST

Gouverneur, N. Y., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Harold Dodds, a Richville farmer, today said he had abandoned hope that his sons, Aubrey, 21 years old, and Duane, 19, would be found alive. They have been lost in the Adirondacks wilderness since Friday.

Dodds, who has been helping volunteer searchers for three days, went home with his wife and daughter as snow forced a virtual cessation of the hunt.

Dodds offered a reward of $400 for the return of his sons, dead or alive. The brothers entered the forest on a deer hunt.

ST. JOHN'S BOYS TAUGHT TO 'PLAY THE GAME'—LIFE

Sporting Aggressiveness Is Spirit of Campus.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Delafield, Wis., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—A perpetual light burns in a monument built of common field stones in memory of the late head master of St. John's Military academy, the Rev. Sidney T. Smythe, who founded the school in 1883. Brass plates in the monument tell of the school spirit which had been written into the hearts of the boys who gathered the stones. These read:

Col. Roy Farrand.

"Carry on."

"Don't be a mollycoddle."

"Play the game."

This cairn and a sky-piercing flagpole where an American flag floats proudly are dominant features of this 185 acre campus. Its twenty buildings are of gray limestone, built in a militant English gothic style, with towers, turrets, and archways suggestive of the age of feudalism, the days of chivalry.

Training to Meet Life.

Training for the highly competitive life of this age, preparedness to defend that flag always, and a refined and sporting aggressiveness in facing the world may be said to define the spirit of this old campus. As the everlasting light in the Taj Mahal symbolizes love for a woman, so the light at St. John's signifies a careful preparedness for the pursuits of peace, or, it may be, for the business of war.

In the thought of military training as a definite part of education of boys, a change has come over American fathers and mothers during the last two or three years, according to Col. Roy F. Farrand, president of the academy since the death of Dr. Smythe in 1923. This is largely due, he thinks, to the German menace in Europe and to the conviction that history may repeat itself and this country become involved in another war.

Pacifist Spirit Subsides.

"There is less of a pacifist sentiment than there was two or three years ago," he said. "I have been invited for the first time to address parent-teacher associations and women's clubs. Parents have told me they think war may be on the way and that they want this country, and their sons, prepared.

"We may look at the world today and know that the way to peace, through internationalism and disarmament, is far off. The armaments of Europe are greater than they were in 1914. The spirit of nationalism is far stronger than it was before the world war. Who, but an incurable idealist, can contemplate that picture and say that war is not impending?

"War may come. Are we going to invite it to come to us as we have done in the past? Are we going to send our American boys again into the hell of a hideous and horror haunted campaign with no more knowledge of the science and art of war than a ribbon counter clerk? Are we going to pour out money again like water in a frantic effort to equip and supply, arm and munition an army which we must first create?

Two Courses Open.

"We may either refuse to fight, or follow the counsel of the great peace loving Washington to spend our money now for the only proven form of peace insurance; to build our navy now to treaty strength; to set up and equip and train now an army of such size as the experts in such matters deem adequate; to give any young American now the opportunity for military training if he wants it. All to the end that whatever eventuality may come upon us, we shall be prepared. There is only one thing that the gangster nations of the world will recognize today and that is force."

The military method as a training for life, whether in war or peace, is, however, the chief emphasis at St. John's. It takes the place, according to Col. Farrand, of the responsibilities and difficulties which boys had to go through in our forefathers' day, and of which modern life has robbed them.

"This is the most highly competitive life the world has seen," he says. "We train boys to know how to take it, not to be swept off their feet. We know just where each boy stands, and in study, athletics, and drill we stimulate the competitive spirit, give them courage to face life.

Old Fashioned Gradings.

"The public schools are dominated by the so-called schools of education, such as Columbia, with theories which take the spirit of competition out of life. There is nothing to make the boy fight for a higher place. The markings are too broad. We keep the old fashioned percentage system.

"The military school is the only place in the country where a boy can get training in addition to education. And training is the greatest need of modern life. It has to do with the building of character, the development of personality, the cultivation of sound judgment, the making of men.

"Drill is only a small part of military training. A boy learns the value of organization and system. He learns to budget his time. He learns to coordinate his effort with the efforts of others. He comes to appreciate the value of teamwork. He acquires a respect for law and order and constituted authority. He learns the importance of details and the value of scrupulous accuracy.

"Military training is based on scrupulous accuracy, on a refined precision, on painstaking exactitude. Mistakes must be eliminated. This develops a superlative efficiency in the performance of the tasks of peace and every day life."

With School Since 1892.

Col. Farrand first came to St. John's in 1892. He was graduated in 1894 as a first sergeant and that fall returned to the school as an assistant military teacher. At the age of 19 Dr. Smythe made him commandant of the school, a situation thrust upon him suddenly. He spent two and a half years at the University of Wisconsin, getting a degree and keeping his contract with St. John's.

At the outbreak of the world war he was a major in the Wisconsin National Guard. He entered an officers' training camp as a private and at the end of the camp was commissioned a major of infantry. He commanded a battalion in France and trained over 500 officers. At the end of the war he was commissioned in the reserve corps and now is a colonel of the 403d infantry.

St. John's has 347 cadets. During the depression enrollment fell off 50 per cent, but now is only 4 per cent below last year. The school is under the direction of the Episcopal church. One of the most beautiful buildings on this or any campus is the new chapel, a gift of alumni and friends, costing $240,000.

Nonprofit Institution.

St. John's was reorganized last August to become a nonprofit institution, run by a self-perpetuating board. The stockholders of the plant, appraised at about a million dollars, donated their holdings to the school. The purpose was to perpetuate the school and insure that the ideals of the founder would be carried on. All earnings will revert to the corporation for improvement to the buildings and to the building of educational facilities.

The men long in charge of the school constitute the new board. These men are Col. Farrand; Lieut. Col. F. W. Mouso, vice president, treasurer and business manager, director of the summer school and camps; Maj. Charles Smythe, son of the founder, secretary of the board and commandant of cadets, and Capt. Edison B. Lerch, director of purchases, coach of football, basketball, and crew. A new state charter has been granted.

St. John's has a corps of thirty-one instructors. The courses are preparatory in Latin-English, science, commercial and preparatory for the United States military and naval academies. The academic courses are planned for college students.

MRS. PAULINE THURSTON.

North Adams, Mass., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Mrs. Pauline Mark Thurston of North Adams, widow of the magician Thurston, today was the bride of Charles K. Collins of Rochester, N. Y., her grandmother, Mrs. Sophie Hinckell, announced here. She said the ceremony was performed Tuesday night at Harrisburg, Pa.

Mrs. Thurston, a native of North Adams, whose first marriage ended in divorce in 1934, married the magician in May, 1935, when she was 26 and he was 65. He died a year later.

LA FOLLETTE AIM TO HEAD SCHOOL IS HEARD AGAIN

Job Not Too Confining and Pay Is $25,000.

BY THORNTON SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—With the defeat of Philip La Follette for governor, the story is revived that he wants to be president of the University of Wisconsin. The story is embellished this time with a similar rumor that Glenn Frank, former president whom the La Follette regents tossed out, also would like to come back.

La Follette always has denied that he wants to be head of the university, and Dr. Frank, who is busy as the chairman of the Republican national platform committee, has not committed himself. Friends of both men make a logical argument that there is sound reason for both reports.

Job Without Security.

Clarence A. Dykstra, former city manager of Cincinnati, now is president of the university, serving on a year to year agreement. The statute gives no security to the president's job. Apparently he can be ousted at any time as Frank's case proved, although the regents voluntarily gave him a public hearing at which he raised a lot of smoke against them. Regents say that was not necessary and that the president can be removed with or without cause.

Educators protested at the Frank hearing that La Follette was putting the university into politics. The La Follette regents had the votes and their answer was only an inferential, so what, as they proceeded to fire Dr. Frank.

Keeps Madison Home.

The former head of the university has kept his home in Madison which gives some grounds for the belief that he would like to head the university again. Daniel H. Grady, former regent who headed Frank's defense at the hearing, said he doubts if Frank ever will return to educational work and discounts the rumor of his ambition to resume his old job.

"Dr. Frank had definite offers from two important universities when he left Wisconsin," Grady said. "He did not consider either and he gave me the clear impression that he was through with school work."

La Follette still controls the regents and will for another year. Governor Elect Julius Heil will have the appointment of four of the fourteen members during his two year term which would give him control. La Follette undoubtedly could place himself in the job but it would be with the full knowledge that Heil could remove him when, as, and if he wanted. There is not much doubt what Heil would do.

Job Pays $25,000 Yearly.

La Follette has said he was going to devote himself to the promotion of his National Progressive party after his term expires. He still could do that and probably to better advantage from his chair as university head. He would be in more demand for public appearance as the president of a great university than as a defeated politician.

The university job pays $25,000 a year plus a fine home and perquisites. The president does not punch a time clock and has lots of time to get away to make speeches. That was one of the complaints about Dr. Frank. He was said to be away so much.

Although Dr. Dykstra must have known of the uncertainty of tenure when he came to Wisconsin, he is going ahead with his job and apparently solidifying himself. He is popular with the students and with the people of the state.

LEGION CHIEF RENEWS PROTEST OVER DELAY OF BRIDGES HEARINGS

Stephen Chadwick.

New York, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Stephen F. Chadwick, national commander of the American Legion, today renewed protests to Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins over delay in bringing about the deportation hearings of Harry Bridges, Pacific coast C. I. O. leader.

In a letter to Secretary Perkins replying to her explanation of why action against Bridges had been postponed, Chadwick said:

"With regard to what you refer to as Mr. Bridges being a prominent figure in a labor leadership, we of the American Legion are not concerned. Our concern is that for four years you have had before you charges that Mr. Bridges is one who believes in and advocates the overthrow of our existing form of government by force and violence."

Chadwick said Bridges should be deported on his record, and that such a record could only be established by an early hearing of charges that he instigated strikes and disturbances in the American shipping industry.

FIREMEN CHECK BLAZE PERILING MOVIE COLONY

All but 3 Areas Under Control; 300 Homes Lost.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Two thousand firefighters tightened their belts tonight for a final effort as all but three brush fires were brought under control.

Flames gained new headway in the Fernwood area, where 2,000 persons live, when a fire hose was burned through. Another blaze was out of control approximately eight miles above Santa Monica.

Eight hundred men were kept at work when a rising wind brought a new threat to the Crestline and Pinecrest mountain resorts near San Bernardino.

78 Firefighters Burned.

From one front after another, however, reports came that the flames had been checked. Seventy-eight fire fighters were treated for burns.

"If the men can hold up, we'll wipe the fires out soon," said R. J. Scott, chief of the Los Angeles fire department.

Starting in yesterday's high wind, the flames destroyed approximately 300 homes and cabins, mostly in the Santa Monica area, and the $750,000 Arrowhead Springs hotel near San Francisco. The fires also reached Malibu beach, home of many motion picture players.

A dozen fires burned in Ventura county in the last 36 hours, one covering 1,000 acres. In Santa Barbara county brush fires destroyed a highway bridge. San Diego county fought three brush fires.

Flood Peril Is Feared.

Damage was expected to total between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 or more, depending on the havoc wrought on watersheds. The fire denuded canyon slopes may become serious flood menaces during winter rains, which will start soon.

Homes reported to have been destroyed in the Santa Monica area included those of Sam Wood, film director; Otto Carrillo, brother of Leo Carrillo, screen actor, and Laura Mathiessen, noted painter.

Seventy-five firemen with trucks and hose averted possible destruction of the ranch estate of the late Will Rogers, actor-humorist, while members of his family loaded valuable belongings into vans, ready for flight.

Stable Blaze Quenched.

Approaching on three sides, the fire cast an ember that ignited a corner of the stables, but this was extinguished.

Thirty-five or forty-five square miles were burned over in the Santa Monica mountain region.

Most of the destroyed homes and cabins were in the Topanga canyon area near the ocean and a few miles north of Santa Monica. One hundred cabins were destroyed in Topanga canyon.

Approximately 50,000 acres were burned over in the San Bernardino mountain fire, which last night reached almost down to the city of San Bernardino.

HELD FOR WIELDING TURKEY KNIFE.

Joseph Albrecht, 39 years old, was seized by Sheffild avenue police yesterday on complaint of his brother, William, 45, who said Joseph tried to attack him with a knife after carving a turkey in their home at 3103 North Hoyne avenue.

JUDGING CONTEST TO RAISE CURTAIN FOR STOCK SHOW

Gates of Exposition Will Open Tomorrow.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Teams from twenty-two states will compete in the noncollegiate live stock judging contest at the informal opening of the International Live Stock exposition today. The show will be formally opened in the International amphitheater, 43d and Halsted streets, at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. The exposition will last for eight days.

In the preliminary judging event sixty-six high school boys and girls will compete. There are three students on each team, all winners in state judging contests held during the summer and fall.

Teams from 22 States.

The teams are from Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Texas, Virginia, West Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming.

B. H. Heide, general manager of the show, said last night that all of the animals, between 11,000 and 12,000, will be in their stalls and pens by tonight, ready for the first round of judging that begins early tomorrow morning. Officials and directors will have a preview of the exposition this evening, but the gates will not be open to the public until tomorrow morning.

The first of the International's light horse shows will be given tomorrow night. Cowboys of Union Stockyards are to give demonstrations of the horsemanship required for their daily routine in maneuvering live stock in the pens and alleys of the yards.

Two Trainloads from Canada.

Two trainloads of prize winning farm animals from the flocks and herds of Canada are on their way to the International. The trains are due this morning. Some of the herds include Shorthorn cattle once owned by the duke of Windsor, who still retains his ranch at High River, Alta. The Canadian blue bloods are coming direct from the Royal Winter fair at Toronto, which closed early this week. The shipments include the grand champions and important prize winners of the Toronto show.

Homer Graber, 20 years old, winner of the 1937 junior live stock feeding contest, is here again to compete. Last year he won with his pet Hereford calf, Jerry. The calf sold for $1,320. This year Graber has listed eight Hereford cattle in the show. His pets were raised and fitted on his father's farm near Mineral Point, Wis. This exhibitor is a strong believer in names—he has another Jerry in his herd.

Graber will have plenty of competition, since there will be 274 boys and girls in the junior contest. They are exhibiting more than 400 baby beeves, lambs and pigs. The junior exhibitors come from fifteen states. Most of the animals they show were champions or first prize winners at earlier shows this year. The junior contest will be held tomorrow.

Wheat from Australia.

Australia has sent four samples of wheat to compete with growers from the United States and Canada in the hay and grain show held as a part of the International. Forty-one nations have sent samples to be exhibited in the educational department.

Five foreign countries have sent corn. They are Bolivia, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland, Peru, and Santo Domingo. Among the nations that submitted wheat samples are Algeria, Argentina, Belgium, Bulgaria, China, Japan, Denmark, Egypt, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Ireland, Italy, Sweden, Lithuania, Holland, Norway, Palestine, Russia, Scotland, South Africa, Iraq, and Spain.

Forty-eight states and six Canadian provinces are represented in the field crop section. New Brunswick growers are participating for the first time.

FIRE RAZES PENS IN CALUMET CITY; 600 SHEEP SAVED

Fire last night destroyed forty stock pens and nearly 300 tons of hay at the Calumet City transfer yards, Burnham avenue and State street. The yards are operated by the Indiana Harbor Belt railway for the shipping of live stock to eastern cities. They are not affected by the stock handlers strike in Chicago.

The fire spread rapidly. Handlers drove 600 head of sheep to safety. The flames spread to three hay barns, destroying them and their contents.

Capt. Leo Lessner of the Calumet City fire department estimated the loss at $50,000.

New York, Nov. 24.—[Special.]—When the liner Normandie halted in choppy New York bay today a woman reporter's legs were drenched as she went from cutter to ship at Quarantine to interview Marlene Dietrich. "You must have a pair of my hose," said the movie actress, and nothing else would do. Miss Dietrich was elated by the prospect of becoming an American citizen next March, as is her daughter, Maria, 13 years old, who is in school in Switzerland.

Couple Robbed of Auto and $16 by 4 Bandits

Bert Campbell, 30 years old, 1816 North Clark street, a clerk, and Miss Helen Bonham, 23, of 2468 Orchard street, had an automobile ride with four bandits early today. The robbers boarded their car near Miss Bonham's home and drove them to the 2200 block in North Drake avenue, where they put them out after taking $16 from Campbell.

PREPARE PEACE TALK TOMORROW IN YARDS STRIKE

Pickets Stay on Duty Through Holiday.

With both sides in the C. I. O. stockyards strike looking toward a conference arranged by federal conciliators tomorrow, Thanksgiving passed peacefully in Packingtown.

Pickets of the Stock Handlers union, No. 567, the striking group, remained on duty at Halsted street and Exchange avenue, at 42d and Halsted streets, the entrance to the Livestock exchange, and at 39th and Morgan streets. They had nothing to do.

5,000 Head Arrive.

The yards were quiet, with only a faint echo of the usual holiday bellowing from animals awaiting slaughter. About 5,000 head of cattle, sheep and hogs shipped direct from stock growers to packers arrived during the day.

The federal conciliators, Robert Mythen and W. H. Rodgers, were not in evidence. They are to resume preliminary negotiations today in preparation for the conference tomorrow with representatives of the union and of the Union Stock Yard and Transit company.

Today will be the fourth day, excluding the holiday, that the strike will have tied up the stockyards.

Demand Closed Shop.

The union is demanding a forty hour week, time and a half for overtime, pay raises for sixty-five men now getting less than 62½ cents an hour, a checkoff [collection of union dues by the company], closed shop, and written contracts. The company particularly opposes the checkoff and closed shop.

James Rice, secretary of Live Stock Handlers' union No. 517, an A. F. of L. union, indicated members of his group will be prepared to return to work Monday. Another union executive discounted claims of the C. I. O. organization that it has 18,000 to 20,000 membbers of Packingtown.

VIEWS HUGE, FAST FLYING BOATS AS FUTURE CARRIERS

Builder Tells Advantages Over Land Planes.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bridgeport, Conn., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Huge flying boats weighing between 100 and 150 tons and flying at speeds ranging between 190 and 250 miles an hour, depending upon operating height, will be the most efficient and practical types for long range aircraft of the near future, according to Igor Sikorsky, head of the Sikorsky division of United Aircraft corporation.

Igor Sikorsky.

This conclusion represents years of study of large airplane design problems by the distinguished Russian aeronautical engineer, who has built more big airplanes than any other living person. Sikorsky upholds the argument for larger and still larger planes against such designers as Maj. Alex de Seversky, who sees smaller, faster craft taking the world's commerce into the air.

As Fast as Smaller Craft.

He believes that big flying boats not only will be more efficient than smaller machines, but also that the big boats will be as fast and will carry more cargo or fuel than land planes of equivalent size and power. This is contrary to all the opinions of such experienced builders as Donald Douglas, and engineers of the Boeing Aircraft company.

"With reference to structural weight," Sikorsky said in a paper delivered three weeks ago at the Lilienthal aeronautical conference in Berlin, Germany, "our studies indicate that in very small sizes the seaplane or flying boat is, in general, heavier than the landplane of similar size, power, and lifting capacity.

"In medium sizes, between ten and twenty tons, a well designed flying boat normally would have a somewhat smaller structural weight. In large sizes the flying boat becomes substantially lighter than the landplane.

Compares 100 Ton Craft.

"Investigations of large ships disclose that under similar conditions of payload accommodations on board, engines, gross weight, the landplane would have a structural weight of at least five or six tons more than the flying boat in the 100 ton class aircraft."

This is caused, the engineering studies indicated, because the flying boat hull becomes less and less a percentage of the craft's gross weight as size increases. On the other hand, the landing gear of a large landplane tends to increase its percentage of weight as the gross weight of the craft goes up.

A tabulation showing top speed, cruising speed, and range of two similiar planes, one a landplane and the other a flying boat, both carrying an identical payload, was made by Sikorsky as part of the study. The table follows:

	Flying boat.	Land plane.
Payload	25,000 lbs.	25,000 lbs.
Range in still air	5,986 miles	5,700 miles

"These figures," wrote Sikorsky, "are believed to represent fairly well the characteristics of a 100 ton long range transport which can be produced on the basis of our present day engineering.

Landing Favors Boats.

"It is believed that in view of practically unlimited take-off and landing spaces, the flying boat can, under similar conditions, stand a heavier wing loading than the land plane, thus increasing its speed and load carrying capacity still more.

"The favoring aspects of large size seaplanes or boats remain constant up to sizes of about 500 tons. The author believes that limitations in the size and weight of flying boats will come from trafic requirements and from economic factors and not from engineering difficulties.

"For the land plane, the conditions are not the same. The structural weight of the landing gears would require a greater percentage of the total as the weight increases. Furthermore, the size of the airports would create limitations in the size and wing loadings of the aircraft.

"This and other considerations point to the conclusion that the largest land planes will remain substantially below the size and weight of flying boats."

Suitable for Great Heights.

Sikorsky said that the question of supercharging for high altitude operations had not been considered in his study. But in large flying boats, he declared, the added structural weight would be about the same as in a land plane. In general, he added, large boats would be well suited for high altitude flying.

There probably will be no need for "assisted takeoff" of large flying boats, he said. Suggestions have been made to launch large planes on a car on a railroad track, or to refuel them in the air, or help them to fly as in the case of the British pick-a-back Mayo composite plane.

"Modern requirements call for a cruising speed of at least 190 miles an hour at sea level, with about 50 per cent of the available take-off power," he wrote in his studies. "It is believed that with the wing and power loadings of the order that has been discussed, the larger flying boats would have excellent takeoff characteristics, eliminating therefore the necessity of any artificial methods of launching in the field of commercial craft."

He concluded his study by pointing out that a flying boat offers safety advantages in that it has at its disposal thousands of square miles of inland water in case of bad weather at its destination.

The actress was last in Hollywood in 1933 when she appeared in "The Greeks Had a Word for It."

Did she get ALL of your letters out yesterday? Would it help if she didn't have to write them twice?

Did you call for a stenographer and sit and wait impatiently? Did she finally come . . . take your dictation . . . and then find towards the end of the afternoon that she could never get them typed? If she didn't have to write them twice would that help? If you could dictate any time you wanted to dictate; if you never had to wait on a stenographer; if she could work at other things while you are dictating . . . . . isn't the answer obvious? a lot of money saved? ESPRIT DE SANTA CLAUS

By CALEB

GREAT STIR in a great store! That's the picture of approaching Christmas here at Field's. An excitement seen, felt and heard from our third basement below-ground to our thirteenth floor above it. And from the evidence of zeal and cheer on every hand, I would gather that over it all has presided also the influence of a Great Star!

Actually, the main store preliminaries of stage-setting were well under way in early November. But afield and abroad, the emissaries of Santa Claus were plying their trade long months before that. And in a separate, secretive division of this establishment (where our artists in window display hold forth) the magic business had begun as long ago as last January! The sidewalk-thronging window at State and Washington bears startling witness to this policy of taking time and taking pains, in order to honor the year's climax in true Field fashion.

Labors carried far into the night-hours, by planners, painters, carpenters, engineers, electricians, decorators and stylists, have enhanced with vivid holiday settings the lure that invests toys, jewels, furs, china, silver, fabrics, furnishings, and other giftwares innumerable. And had you heard the acclamations which greeted the first of our thousands of new Christmas boxes, you would have understood what "getting ready" means to our own personnel, as well as to the public they serve!

Somewhat a-daze, I have just returned from an hour's inspection of all this Yuletide preparation. And my impressions are a sort of gay, mad dream. Mazes of lights—a shimmer shot through with golds and greens, scarlets and silvers; sumptuous vistas and rainbow-hued aisles . . . and the whole backgrounded by a beauty that only order and design could rescue from such charming chaos. Believe me, Toy Center alone is a fantasy such as the Gift Saint of yesterday never would have imagined!

But an hour of your inspection will be worth a dozen commentaries on this elusive subject. Suffice it that while, in Christmases gone by, a myriad holiday mysteries bearing our name have distributed delight among the farthest civilized lands—I still insist that never until now have you visited any store more alive with esprit de Santa Claus. As for proof . . . I would only add that in matters which are indescribable, there is no believing like seeing!

PRESIDENT CUTS TURKEY; BOY, 12, GETS FIRST SLICE

Dines with Patients at Warm Springs, Ga.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Warm Springs, Ga., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today slid a gleaming knife into a succulent turkey, deftly severed a crisp-brown drum stick, and plunked it on the plate of Robert Rosenbaum, 12 years old, of New Rochelle, N. Y.

This marked the opening of the celebration of Founders' day, the day set aside to honor Franklin Delano Roosevelt, not for the high office he has won, but because he established this haven for fellow sufferers of dreaded infantile paralysis.

Little Robert was one of eleven lucky patients who drew seats at the head table. They had an hour of glory at the table in the eyes of fellow patients and friends of the institution in the huge dining hall of the Georgia Warm Springs foundation.

Second Helping to Woman.

The second helping of the noble bird went to Mrs. Margaret McCausland, 24 years old, of Toronto, Canada, who drew second place. She was seated beside Mrs. Roosevelt, who arrived yesterday to participate in the big day of the foundation.

The eleven honor guests, with the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, put thirteen persons at the head table. This occasioned no concern for Mr. Roosevelt.

The meal into which the President pitched with his hearty appetite was one of ample proportions. On the menu were fresh fruit cocktail, turkey with oyster stuffing, candied sweet potatoes, peas, hubbard squash, cranberry sauce, Parker house rolls and harvest salad. Dessert was old fashioned plum pudding.

Patients in Charge of Program.

After the meal the program was turned over to patients. The jest for the most part concerned only patients and their friends. Mr. Roosevelt, who loses the dignity of his office here and glories in his rôle of No. 1 patient, lifted his laughter above that of the 500 patients and guests in the hall.

At the close of the meal he was called upon to speak. The first five minutes of his address was directed not only to his visible audience but to the nation.

At the close of his speech Mr. Roosevelt read without comment a telegram from Eddie Cantor, radio and movie performer, who said:

"May you and yours have a happy Thanksgiving. I am thankful to live in a country where all leaders can sit down on Thanksgiving day and carve up a turkey instead of carve up a map."

AWAIT REPORTS ON $100 HOLDUP SUSPECT'S HAIR

A laboratory analysis of a strand of hair taken from Hubert Heintz, son of a Winnetka broker, is expected within a few days, police said yesterday. Heintz is at liberty in $6,000 bond on a charge of holding up the Household Finance corporation office at 3150 Lincoln avenue on Nov. 4 and taking $100.

Heintz's description, except for lighter hair and a mustache, tallies with that of the gunman who committed the robbery. Experts at the police crime detection laboratory are trying to determine if Heintz is a natural blond and has never dyed his hair. Hearing on the robbery charge is set for Dec. 7 in Felony court.

MUST KEEP PEACE WITH NAZIS, SAYS BRITISH OFFICIAL

Admits Persecution of Jews Is 'Setback.'

CAMBRIDGE, England, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Sir Samuel Hoare, secretary for home affairs, said today Great Britain must cling to the aim of English-German peace despite the "setback" caused by Germany's treatment of Jews.

At the same time, however, he apparently further closed the door to the return of Germany's former African colonies. He hinted at a broad scheme of self-government for Africans and declared Britain must resist any attempt to "impose Europe on Africa."

The home secretary failed to differentiate between former German colonies and Britain's other African "dependencies" in his speech before the Cambridge university Conservatives association. Thus he left the impression that he was talking about both.

Jews' Plight an Obstacle.

Sir Samuel frankly admitted that the "plight of Jewish refugees" was an obstacle to Prime Minister Chamberlain's "after-Munich" appeasement policy.

To the country's "honest doubters" he said:

"Let them hold firm to the outstanding lesson that the people in England and Germany wish to live at peace with each other and to see carried out in the spirit and letter the resolution against war signed by the German chancellor and Mr. Chamberlain."

Sir Samuel said Britain had accepted for all time "the principle that we hold colonial possessions in trust, first for the inhabitants, and second for the general good of the empire and the world."

"Carry on Imperial Mission."

"The people who brought to full partnership the dominions, who have created All-India and put it upon the high road of self government have henceforth to carry on their imperial mission in Africa.

"They have once again to display to the world the British principle of trust. Setting aside a policy of selfish exploitation and refusing to impose Europe upon Africa, they have once again to raise the standard of living and help the peoples that they govern to develop the continent's resources, though the task may take many years to help them along the road of self government."

FREE DINNERS BRING THANKSGIVING CHEER TO THOUSANDS IN CITY

More than 1,500 men and women of the near west side, the guests of Sergt. Edward De Vries at his Trinity Gospel mission, 203 South Halsted street; 1,000 who ate turkey with the Greensteins in their restaurant at 701 South State street; 2,500 children, guests at Block's restaurant, 22d street and Indiana avenue, and thousands of others who were remembered by charities and generous citizens.

Inmates of Cook county jail, the Bridewell, Illinois state penitentiary, Oak Forest infirmary, Juvenile Detention home, and all other public institutions for special food and fun.

And last—the Evanston police department. It had no prisoners to share its Thanksgiving dinner.

ERRING PILGRIMS WIND UP HOLIDAY AT BALONEY FETE

One turkey thought yesterday was Independence day. It escaped from the nuns at St. George's school, 918 West 33d street. It evaded a Deering street police squad by flying from tree to pole for several blocks. It was finally captured, too late to be roasted, by Tom Stankas, 922 West 33d street. He jumped from a tree and seized it in midair.

a barricade on the Valenciennes-Paris road to keep mobile guards from reaching the gates of the plant. After an altercation in which several workers and guards were injured, the workers agreed to leave the forges on condition that the guards retire.

Invade Mine Freight Station.

At Denain, 400 strikers invaded a mine freight station and forced a mechanic to take a workers' train, bound for the mines, back to the train shed. Several hundred mobile guardsmen and local gendarmes arrived and took the train out again under guard.

A conference between workers and officials at Denian, which is near Valenciennes, brought a promise that workers would leave the large Denian forges, where more than 5,000 men had been barricaded for two days.

The premier still faced a new strike of 25,000 coal miners in the Valenciennes region. The strike was called for tomorrow night.

POLES OUTLAW STRIKES

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Nov. 24.—Listening to broadcasts from certain foreign radio stations was made punishable by a heavy fine and two years' imprisonment under one of a series of decrees issued today by the Polish government in Warsaw. President Ignace Moscicki issued the decrees without waiting for the first session of the recently elected parliament.

One of the decrees outlawed all free masonry in Poland. This affects mainly the Scottish Rite Masons. The French rite organization is affected, but is of lesser strength. Masonic property was ordered confiscated for the benefit of charitable institutions. Masonic files were ordered handed over. It was promised they would not be opened within fifty years.

Strikers Face Prison.

Besides further throttling the press, other decrees provided rigorous punishment for attempts to sabotage government armament plants, the spreading of rumors endangering the welfare of the country, inciting strikes and lockouts, and attempting to prevent foodstuffs from reaching cities.

General strikes were forbidden. Life imprisonment or capital punishment was provided for participation in strikes harming national defense. Imprisonment up to five years was established as the penalty for persons taking part in general strikes or those endangering food supplies.

Polish foreign office officials asserted they knew nothing about reports published abroad that Polish and Hungarian armies would invade Ruthenia [Sub-Carpathian Russia] on Sunday and seize that autonomous eastern section of Czechoslovakia.

Warned By Germany.

Such a stroke would realize Poland's and Hungary's goal of a common frontier. It is unknown whether Poland intends to respect repeated warnings of Berlin to abandon this project. Berlin, however, is interested in divorcing Danzig, port bordering Poland, from league of nations supervision. Berlin also wants Polish support for the German demand that the Jewish question be handled as a European problem.

Polish newspapers, largely under government control, have desisted from their campaign for overpowering Ruthenia, but reported that Poland likely will ignore Prague's request that Poland, Hungary and Germany guarantee Czechoslovakia's present frontier.

It is known that two Polish army corps, and a division of Gendarmerie [resembling secret police] are concentrated near the Ruthenian frontier ready to coöperate with the Hungarians on the opposite side of Ruthenia.

BARCELONA BOMBED 8 TIMES IN 22 HOURS; 51 KILLED, 153 HURT

BARCELONA, Spain, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Nine swift rebel bombers dumped new death into Barcelona's streets today in the eighth raid in twenty-two hours. The toll for the raids was 51 dead and 153 wounded.

Three rebel planes raided the government naval base at Cartagena. About a dozen bombs were dropped but the report from the southeastern Mediterranean port gave no details of casualties or damage.

Loyalists Lose Segre Salient.

HENDAYE, France [at the Spanish frontier], Nov. 24.—(AP)—Crushing of the Spanish government's salient on the west bank of the Segre river south of Lerida was reported today in rebel advices. The loyalists took the Segre sector in northeast Spain on Nov. 7. Rebels were reported to have thrown back the government troops to positions they held before undertaking their offensive. The final operations on the west bank of the river succeeded with the recapture of the village of Seros. The rebel garrison of Seros, which had been cut off near the Seros bridgehead, was relieved as government troops withdrew to the Segre's east bank.

A FRIENDLY WARNING: You cannot be sure of getting the best value in anti-freeze until you know what Du Pont has to offer in "Zerone."

First, extraordinary anti-freeze protection. Scientific tests prove that "Zerone" would keep water from freezing solid even at 215° below zero. You'll never encounter temperatures like that, so you can be sure "Zerone" used in accordance with directions will protect your car in the coldest weather you'll ever experience.

The materials from which "Zerone" is made are so effective you need comparatively little "Zerone" to achieve protection. That's economy. Properly used, replacements of "Zerone" are little indeed—and that's economy, too.

Furthermore, scientific tests prove that the mixture of "Zerone" and water passes off engine heat better than water alone. That improves engine performance.

"Zerone" in a clean cooling system prevents formation of rust and corrosion—avoids power losses, helps save fuel and oil. Those are the facts, so ask your dealer to protect your radiator with "Zerone" today. It's only $1.00 a gallon. Du Pont, "Zerone" Division, Wilmington, Delaware.

Many Cities Copying It; Offenses Curbed.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

Inquiries from nearly two score cities on the subject indicate that Chicago police made a major contribution to police science in the establishment last Jan. 17 of the combined homicide and sex crime bureau. More important to Chicagoans than this departmental prestige, however, is the performance of the bureau in reducing sex offenses, an extremely difficult part of the fight against crime.

From the time the bureau was established until the end of August, the number of cases of rape declined one-fifth as compared with the same period in 1937. The department solved 77.7 per cent of all such cases, an improvement in efficiency of 24 per cent over the 1937 period. And despite the smaller number of offenses, it obtained virtually the same number of convictions in the courts, 44 as against 45.

Sex Offenders Repeat Crimes.

Sex offenses do not fit regularly into the conventional pattern for punishing and preventing crime, in that with the exception of some murders, they are virtually the only major crime that does not spring from a profit motive. In that sense, the rapist and other sex offenders are not professional criminals.

But sex offenders in a large proportion of cases are repeated offenders. This, with the fact that rape cases often result in murder, was the basis for combining the sex and homicide bureaus, and of the new setup for dealing with sex offenders.

Like so many of the other activities of the reorganized Chicago department, a records system plays an important part in the new bureau. The key to these records is a set of master cards for offenders.

Every prisoner charged with a sex offense is classified according to his physical description, manner of approach and offense, ownership of an automobile, employment, place of residence, and other significant factors. Similar master cards, with all information available, are made out for unapprehended criminals. Every prisoner taken to the detective bureau, if he has a past record of sex offenses, is included in the file.

Classified by Neighborhoods.

Attached to the master file is a cross file classifying sex offenses according to the neighborhood in which they occur and the type of offense. Simply by comparing the two files and drawing deductions as to known offenders who might by reason of residence and known habits be guilty, police have cleared up a number of cases.

The sex and homicide unit is only one of eleven in the investigation division of the detective bureau. This division, in turn, is one of four in the bureau. The present streamlined organization of the bureau, instituted in 1933 by Police Commissioner Allman, is virtually contemporaneous with Mayor Kelly's tenure of office.

The keynote of the reorganization program was responsibility of the numerous units of the bureau through proper control by the commanding officer, the chief of detectives. This was accomplished first by organization into the four divisions and their subdivisions and, second, by extensive improvements in the records systems that have been mentioned so frequently before in these accounts of the present status of Chicago police work.

Before the reorganization the chief of detectives had a score or more of units directly responsible to him. It was impossible for him to keep tab on their operations. Under some of Commissioner Allman's predecessors more than 1,000 officers were assigned to the bureau.

This resulted from the development of the automobile as a crime fighting weapon. For a time all automobile squads except the station flivvers—Model T Fords originally—worked out of the bureau. There was, however, little control over the squads. The leaders reported from time to time to the chief of detectives, but otherwise they roamed the city as they pleased, doing pretty much as they desired.

Squads have been decentralized. Every district now has at least two squads, one of uniformed men and the other of plain clothes officers. The general duty detective bureau squads are reduced to thirteen on each eight hour shift. Each squad has specific duties, and a specific zone to patrol, in which it works on all major crimes. These squads, under a supervising lieutenant, form one of the four detective bureau divisions. They are the minute men of the department.

Investigators' Field Wide.

The investigation division is the second of the four major divisions. In addition to the sex and homicide unit, it has ten other units: industrial and communist, bomb and rackets, stolen automobiles, confidence game, bank, pickpocket and store, cartage thefts, paroles, narcotics, pawnshops, missing persons, and the general duty section.

In 1932 Chicago had 102 bombings, and convicted two bombers. Last year, after six years of work by the reorganized bomb detail, the number of bombings had dropped to 55, and 15 bombers went to prison.

The stolen automobile section is one of the largest police details assigned to a specific task. It has a personnel of 106, and works closely with 78 other men assigned out of district stations on similar missions. It has an elaborate system of reports and card indexes for dealing with stolen cars and automobile thieves and for enforcing the inspection of second hand parts dealers which keeps stripping of stolen cars to a minimum. Automobile thefts in Chicago last year were only one-twelfth of the 1932 total.

Never Forget a Case.

One result of the detective bureau reorganization is that while public interest in a particular crime may die out, police interest is maintained. A fresh flow of crime inevitably forces special units to give less and less attention to older cases. But part of the general duty section is a force of detectives, working directly under the chief and assistant chief of detectives, who are put on major cases and kept there until they are solved, or until all reasonable hope of solution appears lost.

The other two detective bureau divisions are the criminal correspondence and identification divisions. The former carries on the voluminous correspondence between the Chicago department and other city, state, federal, and foreign authorities on wanted criminals. The identification division operates on the bureau of identification, with its hundreds of files crammed with finger prints, photographs, and descriptions of known criminals.

Day in Plymouth

Rabbi Samuel A. Friedman addressing union Thanksgiving services in Church of the Pilgrimage at Plymouth, Mass., yesterday.

Plymouth, Mass., Nov. 24. — (AP) — Shattering 317 years of precedent to protest against Nazi anti-Semitic activities, a rabbi stood today in the pulpit of the Church of the Pilgrimage, near the hill where the Pilgrim fathers are buried, and gave thanks for the "peace in our land."

His voice breaking, Rabbi Samuel A. Friedman of Beth Jacob synagogue cried out: "The last few weeks have been a nightmare to a group of innocent people living in Germany, whose only crime is that they were born members of an old people—the Jews."

"We are blessed in living in a country where law and order abide for the welfare of its inhabitants, where its people enjoy liberty and the right to pursue happiness," Rabbi Friedman added, saying that his presence in the pulpit was one answer "to those who have strayed from the precepts of the 'Sermon on the Mount.'"

DOLLAR AT PAR IN GUATEMALA, BUT IT DOESN'T GO FAR

Country a Dictatorship; Lacks Competition.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GUATEMALA, Nov. 22.—[By Air Mail.]—American money is received at par in this Central American republic, the hotel clerk informs the traveler.

This parity is a wonder when prices are compared. The room which the clerk assigns is on the street level with a lone window opening directly on the cobblestone street and only twenty feet from a busy corner. Motorists drive with their horns here and there are many iron tired, animal drawn vehicles.

Arrow locates capital city of Guatemala.

The window has a thin curtain but no drapes. A small single light drops from the ceiling. It is not bright enough for reading or writing. The floor is bare except for a small cotton rug beside an iron cot. The bathroom is 3½ feet by 7 feet including the shower space. The fibre board walls are bare except for a hotel notice.

Country Under Dictatorship.

The price for the room is $5 American money. That is what is to be expected in a dictator country where competition is absent.

The gold quetzal is the monetary unit of Guatemala. It is of the same weight and fineness as the United States dollar and likewise is divided into 100 cents. Many American dollars circulate here.

Much propaganda is released regarding the political setup and the popular vote. In reality, informed persons say, Guatemala is an absolute dictatorship, with President Jorge Ubico the supreme boss.

Even small gatherings on the street are broken up. If too many persons stand on a corner at one time the police order dispersal. Secret fraternities like the Masons are frowned upon.

Many Improvements Made.

On the other hand, foreigners in business here say Ubico has made great improvements since coming into power. He balanced the budget, taxes have been reduced, and there is no income tax at all. Roads have been improved. Crime has been practically abolished. Three months in the penitentiary for the theft of 15 cents is not worth it, the natives say.

The virtual slavery of agricultural labor has been abolished.

The principal exports are coffee, the outstanding leader; bananas, sugar, mahogany and dye woods. Imports are cotton, silk, and wool textiles; iron and steel, wheat, liquor, railway, industrial, and agricultural machinery.

Local fruits and vegetables are cheap—oranges are 6 cents a dozen—but imported goods are very high. American cigarets are 40 cents a package.

Linked to Two Oceans.

Guatemala, the capital, is a city of 135,000 population, and is located in a valley similar to that of Mexico City, only smaller. It is surrounded by mountains only a few miles out and has an altitude of 5,000 feet. This insures a good temperate climate the year around. A fall rainy season and a spring dry period when everything dries up are drawbacks. The city is accessible to both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans by railways and is served by highways and air lines.

The city lacks attractiveness. It might be any town of the United States' southwest border. The terrain is slightly rolling. The streets are straight and of average width with narrow sidewalks. The pavement is of cobblestones and clay. The buildings are mostly one story of cement with tin roofs. Many stores have open fronts. Seen from higher up the city looks very compact.

President on Motorcycle.

There are many police and trafic cops, but trafic is not heavy. New American cars, mules, horses and ox teams vie for supremacy.

There are innumerable bicycles with one cylinder power. There are two reasons for this: The president rides a motorcycle and the motor bike wa sa product Guatemala could use when Germany insisted on paying in trade for coffee and other products bought.

Police Raiders Discover Bookies Work on Holiday

Only half a dozen hopeful patrons were trying to pick winners yesterday when Sergt. Andrew Fosse and a squad from Central police station raided a handbook at 30 North Wells street. Two employés were arrested. They are Edward Meek, 22 West Van Buren street, and Al Bernstein, 4347 Roosevelt road.

X-RAYS OF ALL TYPES DECLARED TO HAVE SAME KILLING EFFECT

PARIS, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Evidence that all X-rays, whether from million volt or small tubes, have the same killing effect was reported in the international week against cancer here today by Dr. Francis Carter Wood of New York City. The difference in the rays is in wave length, the high power rays being much shorter. The million volt rays have more penetrating power so that they can reach deeper growths than the long rays. Dr. Wood is director of the institute of cancer research, Columbia university.

EXPANDED REPAIR FACILITIES URGED AS VITAL TO NAVY

Admiral Points to Needs in Annual Report.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Mobile repair facilities of the navy are now taxed to capacity and with a naval expansion program under way more funds are needed for navy yard work, Rear Admiral Harold G. Bowen, chief of the bureau of engineering, said in his annual report to the secretary of the navy, made public today.

In an emergency, lack of mobile repair facilities might seriously hamper the fleet's long range operations, naval officers say.

New program ships of the various types embody many advances and improvements in the field of marine engineering, Admiral Bowen said.

Credits Engineering Bureau.

"The bureau of engineering has kept abreast of modern development in this respect," he reported, "and has incorporated in these ships new machinery and new materials best fitted for the exacting services of units of the fleet. These improvements continue to reflect engineering progress which has resulted in much more effective vessels."

Although available funds are not sufficient to permit completion of all desirable items of work, Admiral Bowen said, the condition of the fleet from an engineering standpoint continues to be generally satisfactory because of thorough coöperation between navy yards and the forces afloat, intelligent distribution of funds budgeted to the administrative commanders, and continued use of the repair facilities afloat to their maximum capacity.

Procedure Also Improved.

"With this has been coupled a program of improvements in procedure on shipboard to minimize the extent of damage to machinery and to keep the engineering plants operating in spite of damage, a vital improvement in case of emergency."

The battleships New York, Oklahoma, and Texas are handicapped by lack of funds for replacement of their reciprocating engines with the more modern types installed in other battleships, it was reported.

BULL SWALLOWS NAIL; IT PIERCES HEART AND ENDS LIFE OF ANIMAL

Gratiot, Wis., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—John Hammer, a farmer near here, found his Guernsey bull dead in the pasture. When the carcass was removed to a rendering plant it was discovered that a nail in the animal's stomach had pierced its heart. Other nails, staples, and pieces of wire were found in the bull's stomach.

U. of Arkansas Instructor Killed in Hunting Accident

Fayetteville, Ark., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Prof. Malcolm Lyons, University of Arkansas animal industry instructor, was shot and killed today on the university's farm near here. Coroner Glenn M. Riggs said Lyons and Marcus Williams, North Little Rock senior, had gone to the farm for a holiday hunt and finding game scarce, were amusing themselves tossing a block of wood into the air and firing at it. "William's gun missed fire," Riggs said. "He was working with it and failed to notice the professor had stepped in front of him."

WIND AND SLEET BOMBARD EAST; SNOW IN SOUTH

Planes Grounded; 8 Below in Upstate New York.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Snow, fanned by gale like winds, bombarded a large part of the nation today as subfreezing weather pasted a coating of ice on highways and handicapped thousands of home bound Thanksgiving celebrators.

But in the midwest clear skies prevailed in Illinois, Michigan, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Indiana and Nebraska. Forecasts generaly indicated rising temperature and snow tomorrow. Ohio was covered with snow.

Air trafic was at a standstill throughout the east. Weather forecasts indicated they might have to cancel service tomorrow.

Sleet and Snow Strikes City.

New York City, pelted first by sleet and then by a driving snowstorm, called out its "A" snow fighting crew to clean dangerous streets. The weather bureau predicted a three inch snow fall. The temperature dropped to 23 at 10 p. m. to break a forty year record and catch thousands of careless motorists unawares. Late tonight thunder and lightning bombarded New York City for an hour.

A strong wind and heavy seas brought the Socony-Vacuum oil tanker Rochester in collision with the Jugo-Slavian freighter Ivan Topic ox Staten island, in New York harbor. Seven plates were cracked in the freighter, but neither vessel asked for aid.

Near zero temperatures gripped central New York with the coldest Thanksgiving in years. The town of Owls Head, known as the ice box of the state, lived up to its reputation with a temperature of eight below. Rochester reported a four inch snow and a temperature of six above zero.

At Pittsburgh, Pa., a 4 inch snow fell, slowing all trafic.

Ten Killed in New England.

Ten persons were killed and scores injured as the storm covered all New England, endangering shipping and trafic.

The weather bureau warned of a severe storm sweeping the coast from Cape Hatteras to Eastport, Me.

It snowed as far south as Birmingham, Ala., slowing up a football game. Half a dozen other games were postponed because of cold weather. But Miami, Fla., reported a noon temperature of 80 with the beaches crowded. Meridian, Miss., recorded the first snow in many years. Kentucky reported snow in most of the state.

At Leadville, Colo., two miles above sea level, the thermometer touched 10 below, while in Montana, Wyoming, New Mexico, and Utah, the cold wave that hovered around zero or below for three days was banished by warmer weather.

Pacific coast states reported no unusual conditions, although last night saw temperatures around freezing in interior valleys and highlands.

Triplets—and Papa's Unemployed

Jack of All Trades

Irvington, N. J., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—When two girls and a boy were born to Mrs. Alice Fuihn, 29 years old, on Nov. 12, the father thought that Thanksgiving would find him a job. But the day passed without an offer attractive enough to lure him from various tasks as a handyman. Each of the children weighed about four pounds at birth and now are gaining weight.

CLUBS WOUNDED RABBIT WITH GUN; KILLED BY CHARGE

William L. Bradfield, 21 years old, reloaded his gun after he shot a rabbit yesterday on the Watson farm near Barrington. Then he found that the rabbit had only been crippled by the charge. He seized his gun by the barrel and attempted to club the animal to death. The gun was discharged into his face and chest. Bradfield fell, fatally wounded. He died in the Sherman hospital in Elgin.

Bradfield, who lived at 1121 Gunderson avenue, Oak Park, was hunting with his brother, Charles Jr., and Donald Brown, 1037 Gunderson avenue. Bradfield was a steel company clerk and former student at Northwestern university. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m., Monday in the chapel at 124 West Madison street, Oak Park. Burial will be in Mount Olive cemetery.

2 Burglars Take 6 Suits, Flee Watchman's Bullets

John Hornback, 3270 Wrightwood avenue, a private watchman, fired four shots at two men early yesterday after they broke a window in the Bilford Clothing company, 2737 Milwaukee avenue, and stole six suits of clothes. Hornback was attracted to the scene by the sound of breaking glass. He told police he opened fire as the men drove away, but did not know if he hit any of them.

POLICEMEN FILL HER DATE WITH FRAUD SUSPECT

When Erwin G. Tierks, 35 years old, went to keep a date at the La Salle street station last night, he found Policemen Charles Clark and Andrew Collins waiting for him.

The woman he intended to meet was Miss Belle Rockenbach, 46 years old, of 812 Clark street, Evanston, a bookkeeper in an Evanston department store. She signed a complaint at the Central police station charging Tierks with defrauding her of $535.

They met in September, she told police. A dozen times since, on various pretexts, he borrowed sums ranging from $15 to $100, she said. Then his attentions lessened, he broke dates, and she began to doubt his promises to marry her.

Tierks said he lived at 2633 Foster avenue.

SHOT TO DEATH AS HIS SISTER COMES ON VISIT

Miss Hazel Slavin, young employé of the United States public health service at Lewisburg, W. Va., drove to Chicago yesterday from her home there to spend the Thanksgiving holiday with her brother, Robert.

She stopped first at the home of friends on the north side, and then telephoned to the lodging house at 2 West Walton street, where her brother, a secretary-accountant, lived. The landlady, Mrs. Elizabeth Flanning, answered the phone. "You'd better hurry over," she said. "Something has happened."

Miss Slavin hurried to the Walton street address. She learned her brother was dead. He had been found shot in his room a few hours earlier. A wound under his left arm and a pistol on the floor near his body indicated, police said later, that he had committed suicide. Slavin was 25 years old.

Americans in Berlin Meet for Thanksgiving Turkey

BERLIN, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Berlin's American colony held a Thanksgiving day turkey dinner today in the Kaiserhof hotel. Prentiss B. Gilbert, counselor of the American embassy, read President Roosevelt's Thanksgiving proclamation, which asked that "we offer prayers for unfortunate people in other lands who are in dire distress." About 250 persons attended the dinner, held under the auspices of the American church. A few of the less than 100 American Jews remaining in Germany were present.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Shut Farm Barber Shop.

November 24, 1938.

THE big barber shop for lambs which has been in operation on the Tribune's Du Page county farm for the last few weeks nas been closed for the season. The barbering table on which the lambs were placed for their beauty treatments has been stored, and all of the animals have been shipped to Chicago to be judged in the International Live Stock exposition. The final clipping and grooming is being done at the international amphitheater, where the big show opens tomorrow.

The big sheep barn, which has been the headquarters for more than 100 lambs since early spring, now seems deserted and empty with the lambs gone. And these animals won't be back when the live stock exposition is over, either, for they will be sold after they have been in the judging ring. Pieface, the old riding horse used by the flockmaster, will be the only farm animal living in the barn until cold weather forces some of the ewes and rams into the barn for shelter from the snow and cold winds.

Playmate Lonely.

Cindy, the mischievous cocker spaniel puppy on the farm, is going to miss the lambs. Cindy has been one of the favorite playmates of the flock. Whenever she was able to leave the house she headed for the sheep barn for a romp. The puppy enjoyed acting like a half back making an open field run through the surprised lambs. The lambs were getting used to the little spaniel and seemed to enjoy her company. Regardless of what they were doing when she appeared they would all stop to watch her. Even fresh green hay in the feed racks was forgotten when the puppy came into the barn.

Yesterday was a day of feasting and rest on the experimental farm. Each of the farm families received a fat goose for the Thanksgiving meal, and none of the men had to work after their early morning chores were completed.

Enjoy Hearty Repast.

All of the families had traditional holiday meals of roast goose with dressing, cranberry sauce, nomemade cider, plum pudding, and all of the other delicacies associated with old fashioned Thanksgiving meals in farm homes.

The cold weather earlier in the week doubtless was a reminder to the fox and gray squirrels on the farm that it won't be long until they must turn to their hidden supplies of food when they want a good meal. At this season of the year these thrifty animals can find plenty of food above the ground. For example, the squirrels living near any of the corn fields on the farm still can visit one of them and pick up corn scattered through the field.

A little later, when snow has come, the squirrels will dig into the ground for their hidden stores of food. They are very smart about hiding quantities of acorns and nickory nuts for the cold snowy days of midwinter, so there are no bread lines in the squirrel world when winter comes. A common idea is that the squirrel remembers where he hid each nut beneath the snow. This is highly improbable. It is much more reasonable to suppose that the animal is guided by a sense of smell.

Plenty Nuts Stored.

There was a good supply of acorns on many of the farm oaks this fall and a number of the hickory trees also produced a pretty good crop of nuts, so the squirrels ought to have many a square meal buried beneath the leaves.

When we were watching a fox squirrel earlier in the week through binoculars we wondered if the old animals which usually lead a solitary life in the winter have any regard for the other fellow's buried food supplies. Apparently the acorn that has been buried goes to the animal that finds it first, and the finder doesn't worry about who stored it!

FALSE LABEL.

In congress the wages and hours bill was urged as a measure to raise the buying power of those "who suffer great human hardship because they are unable to buy adequate food and shelter to maintain themselves in good health.' Any business in interstate commerce which paid its employés less than $11 a week was to be required to raise their pay to that figure or be without their services. In the month since the law went into effect a few no doubt whose pay was close to the minimum had it advanced to that point. Wherever that has been the outcome of the law there is cause for gratification.

Employers of something like 50,000 have found it impossible to pay as much as $11 per week and have discontinued their services. And this consequence, too, can be viewed complacently. With the millions we have long been carrying on the relief rolls, an extra 50,000 won't make much difference. If sweat shop conditions could be eliminated for so small a cost, it is a bargain.

But the principal effect of the wages and hours law was upon groups not mentioned at all when the bill was in congress. Through an interpretation of the hour provisions of the act a far greater number of persons are affected than would be reached by any minimum that has ever been suggested. The government has construed the law to give it the power to dictate the basis of payment for highly paid artisans, semi-executives, and clerical workers. It has even used the law as authority to forbid employers from making changes in the rates of pay of such employés.

In establishments which have been far in the lead in the treatment of their employés as regards wages, hours, working conditions, vacations, pensions, and freedom to join unions, it has frequently been desirable to have certain employés work varying hours. The flexibility applied in particular to semi-executive, clerical, research, accounting, and sales employés has made possible continuous functioning of the production departments. The need for the services of these employés has varied with the season and with the development of certain exigencies. One week certain employés might work 48 or 50 hours, in another week it might be only 30. The government has now presumed to say that this cannot be done except under a penalty. An employé cannot accumulate a credit for time off or a vacation by working overtime as he has long been able to do. He must be compensated for it in only one way—by time and a half payment for overtime in excess of 44 hours per week.

In some businesses, in which all pay scales have been far in excess of the minimum, a basic 48 hour week has been in effect. Many employers have, with the consent of their employés, adjusted their wage scales so that employés will receive the same weekly income as before. This was done by adjusting the pay for the first 44 hours so that the extra 4 hours at the overtime rate would bring the total up to the previously existing weekly rate. The administrator of the wages and hours bill has cast doubt upon this and intimates that if this can be legally done congress will amend the law to forbid it.

The wages and hours bill was claimed to be an instrument to help the underprivileged. It turns out to be just another step in the direction of federal oppression, not primarily an instrument to benefit the workers of the country but one to harass industry.

LA FOLLETTE'S SHABBY REVENGE.

It is difficult to believe that an American who for years has been honored by his people could conceive so shabby a thing as the device by which Gov. La Follette of Wisconsin aimed to embarrass his Republican successor. He has stripped the state treasury in the midst of a depression year to pay a number of nonpressing debts, including such obligations as a debt of a million and a quarter dollars incurred during the civil war whose bonds have been among the cherished assets of the state's common school fund. The defeated La Follette was clearly motivated by rancor and hate and by the purpose of punishing the people who had voted him out of office.

The payments were bookkeeping transactions only. They will save the state little in interest payments. They will merely tie up the cash in the departmental assets of the school and the teachers' annuity fund and compel the payment of additional taxes to replenish the emptied treasury.

La Follette's obvious purpose was to put the new governor into office with no cash reserve, which, with the certainty of greatly reduced income and miscellaneous tax revenues next year, will compel him to levy a state property tax. It will be needed to pay for the extremely "liberal" social program enacted during the La Follette administration. The unpopular state property tax then will be labeled with the name of the new governor and create an issue for the Progressives in the next election.

The act was so bold and the purpose so palpable that a storm has arisen all over the state and the state officials have refused to obey the orders of the La Follette board. The latest information is that La Follette has appointed special counsel to compel the state treasurer to release the money from his funds.

The deliberate planning to bankrupt the state treasury would be contemptible for any one. For a man like La Follette, who has enjoyed public honors and emoluments almost more than any person of his age in America, it is unspeakable. It is especially revealing because the La Follettes have been conspicuous among the truly good. They have ascribed to themselves the mantle of righteousness and have pictured their works as blessed because of their superior love of mankind and the human virtues. The governor has been exposed as willing to impose a hardship on the people who have honored him. His brother Robert, in the United States senate with his vicious persecution of business, has shown equally that he lacks the conception of honor that should be the basis of public service.

The Wisconsin voters at the last election proved that they have seen through the pretenses of Philip La Follette. Their next big job must be directed at his brother in Washington, who must not be permitted to succeed himself when his term expires in 1940.

A PLAIN MAN HAS HIS SAY.

Politicians and publicists, journalists and professors, statesmen and would-be statesmen are busy these days discussing the state of the nation, what is or may be wrong with it, and how it may be cured of its ills. It is an impressive debate and if our doctors disagree that is an old story; something profitable will come of it sooner or later. But while the consultation of the learned proceeds at the bedside it may be worth while to hear from the patient. After all, his reactions to treatment are relevant and informing.

We pass along therefore a letter published by Mr. Arthur Krock in the New York Times of recent date. Mr. Krock says the letter comes from a town in Westchester county, N. Y., and we agree with him that it could as well have come from Ohio, or Pennsylvania, or in fact from any other state, for the writer, though he has an admirable ability to express himself concisely, is undoubtedly speaking for many Americans who are not precisely enjoying the more abundant life of the New Deal. He places himself in what he calls "the so-called middle class." He fulfills his duty to vote and, while he still thinks the President has done "fine things," he and his wife switched their votes in the last election and he conscientiously sets forth their reasons for so doing. We think our readers will be interested in them. They are as follows:

1. The high federal debt, with no apparent end in sight. "I can't run my business that way very long, so how can the government?"

2. The great number of unemployed. "It is near the mark of '32 and '33 in spite of all the spending."

3. The President's inner circle of advisers. "I don't like them—Corcoran, Cohen, Hopkins, Jackson et al. They are radicals, and they make too many 'cutting' remarks."

4. A tendency toward "dictatorship and socialism in Washington."

5. The constant stirring up of "class hatred in the United States" by spokesmen for the administration.

6. The "undue influence of John L. Lewis and the C. I. O. in Washington [in my opinion, the A. F. of L. is O. K.]."

7. The constant strikes in the country, and particularly the sitdown strikes, have been dealt with "too leniently."

8. The failure, detail and economics of the farm program.

9. "Too much meddling with business, and blaming business for everything that goes wrong whether they had anything to do with it or not."

10. The President's "party purge," with its threat of one-man government.

11. The Supreme court enlargement bill, the reorganization bill, and the appointment of Justice Black to the Supreme court.

12. The one-sided political makeup of congress for six years. "I only recently realized what a dangerous thing that is."

13. "When everything is going along fairly good, the President or his spokesmen suddenly start to tinker with something or other, thereby throwing a wrench into the machinery."

14. "The spending of some of my money, raised through the direct income tax and indirect levies, among WPA workers for political purposes, especially as campaign funds for the Democratic party; also political coercion of these workers. Why should my money be used for that? It doesn't belong to the government for that purpose. It's O. K. for relief only."

Four more reasons supplement the major items, namely: the President's irritation against the Dies committee, which this writer thinks is producing useful information, the WPA scandals in Pennsylvania, the concentration of government on "the lower third" and the failure of Mr. Roosevelt in his pre-election radio broadcast to mention the mounting federal debt and the continuing high unemployment.

This is a judgment which plain men and women throughout the country have been forming while the New Deal operations on their welfare have gone merrily on. The anæsthetic of fine phrases has pretty well evaporated and unfortunately the operations have not produced the results predicted. These victims, and they are a majority of the American people, are not thinking narrowly or superficially, as this bill of particulars reveals, and they can and we believe will save the American way of life. They are dissatisfied with some things, but they do not propose to burn down the house over their heads, for they and their forerunners have builded it. And as Americans they know what free government is and is not.

Editorial of the Day

GERMAN PAPER HITS NAZIS.

[Bloomington (Ill.) Pantagraph.]

The New York Staats-Zeitung, published in the German language, has taken a significant stand in the debate now raging between the governmental authorities in Germany and those in the United States.

In an editorial analyzing the events in Germany, the Staats-Zeitung formally abandons hope that any "decency" can be expected from the leaders now in power in Germany.

German Americans condemn the mob violence which has lately taken place in Germany, the newspaper says. It adds: "In the names of our dear ones, do we protest against desecration of the German name through fanatics in the ranks of the party in power who are trying to drag a great people into the mire of their sadistic lowness. We hope fervently, through our belief in the German people, for the dawn of a better day which will put an end to all mental agony."

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

UNVEILING THE LOST DAUPHIN.

Citizens of Chicago, assemble for the unveiling of your Lost Dauphin, Louis Charles, son of Louis XVI. of France and Marie Antoinette! You were not aware that such a royal and romantic personage had lived here for many years and is buried in an easily accessible cemetery; but the Line o' Type column, always seeking to enhance the civic legends, has brought this fascinating piece of historical lore to light.

To the witness stand comes the historian who has mentioned this matter in his work, "The Son of Marie Antoinette." He testifies as follows:

* * *

You have living in Chicago a family by the name of Brosseau which claims [and firmly believes itself] to be descended from the Lost Dauphin, who spent his last years and died and was buried in Chicago under the name of Brosseau. So they say! Meade Minnegerode.

* * *

Here is a more detailed account of the circumstances:

The remains of the dauphin are buried in Calvary cemetery. On the gravestone is the name, Pierre Brosseau, who died in Chicago Nov. 20, 1875. He left a number of descendants, chief of whom is Louis Philip Brosseau of Oklahoma City; Frederick Brosseau, Mrs. Corinne Hile, Mme. Marie de Bourbon, and Mrs. Hortense Delzell. These last four have lived in Chicago and may still be in residence there.

Their story is this: The dauphin was smuggled out of the Temple and sent to Canada, where he lived under the protection of Jesuit priests in Montreal until 1800. That year he was placed under the protection of a Brosseau family whose name he took. When he reached the age of 20, he went to New York and was known there as Pierre Brosseau. He married in 1814, became the father of thirteen children; and in 1851 he moved his family to Chicago.

Lucy Pierce Castle.

* * *

Pierre Brosseau's first grave was in lot 41-17-J of Calvary. On Feb. 16, 1877, his remains were moved to 2-16-U, called the Duckarme lot. One of his descendants, Fred Brosseau, is in business at 920 North Michigan avenue; he also uses the name Frederick de Bourbon. The family is well represented in the present generation of Chicagoans.

THOUGH WINTER COMES.

May will come again. It's never failed
To touch that lilac bush with the first flush
Here in November with a windy rush
Of snowflakes 'round me, why must I hesitate
And reassure myself that birds will mate
And flickers build, crying as always, quite Oblivious of the sad affairs of state.
Spring will awaken. Though the wars may break
About my head, the apple tree will take
Its pink in innocence, and I shall see
Poplars like tall green masts. My heart is blind
Now with mortality, but I will find
Beauty again when May is certainty.

Vivian Hughes.

Freakish Football Yells.

I think you'll agree with me when I say that I think this football yell has them all beat, even the Abraham yell. It certainly would be harder to memorize.

De boom de rah de I DePauw,

K'ville stands for Kendallville, Ind.

* * *

The following yell was originated at Kinmundy, Ill., where I was high schooled a few years ago. We used to be able to tear through this in five seconds flat, crescendoing on the Ray! Ray! Ray!

His accent I freely disparage.

Well, Mère de Moliere! and Corpo di Bacco! and likewise, Himmel Herrgottkreuzmillionendonnerwetter! If Ray Dieden was at your birthday party he is the schizophrenetic wizard of all time; because he never left Fort Wayne, Ind. Qu'est-ce que c'est? James De Gibbons.

[It was a matter of "Let's pretend," the Linemaster explains.]

Order in the Court!

In Judge Robert C. O'Connell's court recently, the clerk said to the witnesses in a case, "Raise your right hands and be sworn." One lady raised her left hand and the clerk asked her to raise her right hand. The lady answered, "But I'm left handed." Philardee.

What's all this rioting at street corners? Is there no law and order in the land? O, merely customers trampling one another underfoot to get their copies of the Line Book, 1938! O. K., officer, let the unruly citizenry continue to commit mayhem in pursuit of happiness!

HEAD NOISES—PERSISTENT AND OTHERWISE.

THERE are many causes for the buzzing, roaring, rushing, hammering, or ringing sounds that may be suffered at times by every one. More often than not the source lies within the hearing machinery. But this does not mean that disease is responsible. Drugs can produce the phenomenon and a sizable dose of quinine, sodium salicylate, even aspirin may usher in a clanging imitating the chimes of Normandy.

This galaxy of noises is grouped by physicians under the caption, tinnitus, from a word meaning tinkling. Of course the origin must be sought. Perhaps the individual is suffering from inflammation within the throat, the nasal passages, or the tubes [Eustachian] which lead from the throat to the middle ear; whereupon a hissing, like escaping steam, may be sensed continuously. This ceases gradually as irritation subsides.

A collection of wax in contact with the eardrum may create enough pressure to dull hearing and produce effects which suggest a pack of wolves howling. This is often the case with those who find that their annoyance is aggravated when they are reclining. Lying on one side or the other forces the plug more firmly against the drum, where it sets up vibrations. Furthermore—In considering the external canal—we should make certain that there is no ringworm fungus flourishing in this area.

The possibility of focal infection must be investigated, as it may be that when trouble about the teeth, the tonsils, or in the sinuses is cleared out, the situation is relieved. We must understand that any disorder in the upper part of the body may influence the performance of the aural apparatus. Of course, an abscess within the middle ear may occasion not only pain but sufficient pressure to set up roaring. There may be enough swollen tissue within this space to account for the whole matter. As general health improves this irritation subsides, only to reappear with a fresh infection or whenever loss of sleep and overfatigue have lowered physical reserve.

Not long ago I was interested in a colleague's description of one of his patients who exhibited a rather severe grade of iron deficiency anemia, and who complained of head noises. All symptoms disappeared and she was able to sleep in comfort the entire night when the blood condition was corrected.

Among the more deeply seated disturbances may be friction between the ends of the tiny bones of hearing, similar to creaks in the joint when one moves a finger, a wrist, or an elbow. In other words, changes in these bones may be comparable to what takes place in the presence of arthritis.

Again, the difficulty may be ascribed to the fact that the patient is unconsciously contracting the palate and the pharynx. We are always guarding the lungs against the entrance of foreign particles such as food—and every movement of the tongue, each swallow, may initiate contractions in these pharyngeal structures. Of course, vibrating air and the rat-a-tat-tat of a pneumatic hammer are conveyed to the drums, where their subjective reaction may continue long after the noise from without has stopped.

In high blood pressure, in which arteries are in the process of hardening, the pulsating currents through them may give rise to throbbing, the beats coinciding with each contraction of the heart. In such individuals there is usually little interference with hearing, although slowly advancing deafness is not an infrequent accompaniment.

Inside the ear itself, however, we must consider the state of the nerve of hearing, as a toxin, for example, may render this pathway to the brain more irritable. If the blood supply is interfered with we may expect that lack of nutrition will be argued against by the nerve cells.

Every patient with tinnitus should have the benefit of a careful study and the examination should include not only the ears, but the sinuses, the airways, and the Eustachian tubes. There are many cases, however, which will not respond to simple procedures and we can then direct our efforts toward raising the resistance with outdoor exercise, sunshine, and good food. Occasionally correction of some metabolic fault will be helpful. A reduction of sodium chloride [common salt] in the diet has exerted a favorable influence in some instances.

IRREGULAR HEART.

T. M. writes: What is meant by auricular fibrillation, and what is wrong with a heart so affected?

REPLY.

Auricular fibrillation is a condition in which the contractions of the heart are out of step. In other words, certain fibers contract independently and with such rapidity that there is no complete emptying of the auricles [upper chambers]. As a result, the lower portion of the heart [the ventricles] becomes irregular. There are three prime causes: [1] rheumatic disease; [2] hardening of the arteries or too much secretion from the thyroid; [3] poisoning of the fibers because of some infectious disease, or too much digitalis. An excessive quantity of tobacco or emotional strain should also be considered.

HIVES.

Mrs. A. F. writes: Will giant hives cause a miscarriage?

REPLY.

Hives are the result of allergy [sensitivity] and, in themselves, have no effect on pregnancy or birth.

GOOD TIMES AFTER AN INFLUX.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Did it ever occur to us that the United States has enjoyed its greatest periods of prosperity [not WPA prosperity] during and immediately after the influx of large numbers of foreign peoples to our shores?

In a country with plenty of room, added population means added wealth. This has always been true in the past. Why not give it a chance today? There are sound economics behind this reasoning. Let's try it for selfish reasons as well as for humanitarian considerations.

WASTE AND DISCOURTESY.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—As bearing on the matter of railway ailments, I made some observations on a railroad right of way in a suburb last week. On my way to a railroad station I passed a building used as a section house and office by the roadway department. Piled outside was a large heap of ashes and half burned or coked nut or egg coal; about half coal and half ashes. If this is a fair sample of the fuel conservation [if any] practiced by that road, the fuel wasted on the entire system in the course of a year would go a long way toward helping it to get out of the red.

I reached the passenger station and went to the ticket window to ask round trip and single fare rates. After some minutes the ticket clerk finally turned to me and answered my inquiry in a tone of voice best described as a cross between a snarl and the bark of a vicious dog.

Apparently the lean years experienced by the rail carriers during the last decade have not had the desired effect if the above is to be taken as a criterion.

AN EX-RAILROADER.

THAT JEFFERSON MEMORIAL.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—A news broadcast tells of an interesting "cherry tree" argument in Washington. I agree with the ladies therein mentioned, but for a different cause.

Can you explain to the public at large, i. e., the taxpayer, under what school of thought can it be considered necessary to invest, in these times of financial uncertainty, three million dollars of the government's money [the public's money] in the Thomas Jefferson Memorial?

The memorial would be a fine thing in normal times; but a nonproductive project, which adds practically nothing to the governmental income, cannot be considered, in its true sense, for the public good. It merely adds to the grand total of "frozen assets." Truly, it is a poor investment for the government to make for the public, because today there are no dividends; merely further assessments [taxes] on the stockholders.

AN ARDENT READER.

SLEEP WITH MOUTH CLOSED.

Waukegan, Ill., Nov. 22.—What's the matter with the nurses and Dr. Dafoe that the five little "Quints" should have to have had their tonsils and adenoids [!] removed at this early age?

I was determined that my youngsters would never be running around with their tongues hanging out, breathing through their mouths, etc., etc., and we always told them to roll the end of the comfort, or quilt, and tuck it under their chins.

It was easy to cite cases of mouth-breathing and adenoids to them from among their own acquaintances, and that seemed to be sufficient warning for them, so they gladly used the simple safeguard we suggested for them. The easiest way to control this is to have the child sleep on its side, incline the head slightly, with a little roll of the quilt tucked under its chin.

It might take a little watching at first, but it's worth it, rather than seeing your children going around with the lower jaw hanging down like a tired dog.

It was dad's idea about sleeping with the mouth closed. And now I've got six granddaughters. FLOYD REEVE.

BY THE RIVERS OF BABYLON.

Cotter, Ia., Nov. 22.—Thomas K. Davey says we must go back seventy-five years for the first sitdown strike.

Yes, and even as far back as six centuries before the Christian era. Following the subjugation of the Jewish nation by the king of Babylon, a goodly portion were taken captives and exiled to Babylon, not as slaves, but rather for the purpose of colonization. They were allowed to take, with many other things, their musical instruments. The natives insisted that they sing and play. But no, they went on a sitdown strike, as recorded in Psalm 137.

"By the rivers of Babylon, there we sat down; yea we wept when we remembered Zion.

"We hanged our harps on the willows in the midst thereof.

WILLIAM OWEN.

HOW LONG MUST WE WAIT?

Chicago, Nov. 22.—How long will Chicago have to wait to obtain a comfortable and sanitary Surface Line system?

When may the average street car rider be assured of a seat without having his limbs endangered in his effort to obtain one?

Why must home-going crowds be herded like cattle into close packed street cars, which take on the appearance of large human cargoes during the evening rush?

Surely, the board of health should realize the dangers to our citizens under such conditions and strive to give Chicago's great working class a safe and comfortable surface system. D. L.

ESTATE MATTER.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My sister died without leaving a will. My other sister and I are the only heirs.

1. She swore in the Probate court that I was dead when [2] she knew I was living. Afterwards she changed it. My late sister left $12,000 and about $7,000 in real estate bonds. My sister had herself-appointed administratrix without my knowledge and put in sums to pay out of the $12,000 that were false. I did not know it at the time.

3. There was no work for a lawyer to charge $700. My share was turned over to me and [4] one real estate bond worth about $2,000. The estate was settled in Probate court last March.

5. I have been trying ever since to get my share of the bonds.

6. The lawyer keeps putting me off, telling me it takes time. What must I do or can I do anything to make him turn my share of the bonds over?

T. D.

1. We assume that you mean the surviving sister.

2. If you could prove these facts it would be a basis for prosecuting for perjury.

3. We do not have the facts before us to pass upon this point.

4. This seems to say that the bond was turned over to you.

5. This seems to contradict number 4.

6. We cannot advise to advantage without knowing more clearly what the real difficulty is. It seems probable that the lawyer is willing to explain matters to you, and he is in a better position to explain than we are.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ESTATE SETTLEMENT.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have been informed by a reader of your paper that I could get desired information. I am administratrix of the estate of G. S. In a will left by F. B., Mr. and Mrs. G. S. were to receive $10,000 at the death of F. B., who has been dead past two years now. A trust company was appointed trustee under the will to settle [1] the estate.

2. Can you inform me as to whether the will has ever been probated or does it necessarily have to be?

3. If the will has to be probated then [4] how long will it be before a settlement has to be made?

5. Am I right in thinking a trustee's time for settlement is two years? We cannot get an answer from the trust company.

6. G. S. and family are badly in need of money and anything you can do for me will be greatly appreciated. L. L.

1. It is not clear which estate you mean.

2. Our law department service is limited to answering legal questions by mail. For information as to the status of a pending probate estate, we suggest that you try writing to the clerk of the Probate court.

3. The necessity for probate depends on the nature of the assets and the attitude of the parties with whom you must deal.

4. Creditors are allowed a year in which to file their claims. Ordinarily there is no distribution until after the expiration of such year.

5. If at the expiration of probate the property is to be turned over to a trustee, then the duration of the trust will depend on the wording of the will creating the trust.

6. See preceding answers.

SIX AUSTRALIAN STATES WRECK DEFENSE SCHEME

Accuse Federal Cabinet of Passing Buck.

BY W. A. O'CARROLL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 24.—A call for political leadership has been headlined in the press and boomed over the radio throughout Australia following the collapse of a "national security conference." The discussions were sponsored by the loan council on which the federal and the six state parliaments are represented.

Approval of a proposal of the federal government to borrow an additional $20,000,000 for defense was all that happened. The loan will be floated simultaneously with a conversion loan of $338,000,000. The defense loan will increase the loan expenditure on defense in the current year to $30,000,000 and will increase the total commonwealth expenditure on defense in the current year to $100,000,000, by far the largest peacetime expenditure on defense in the history of Australia.

Rule Against Advisory Council.

The state premiers and their ministers scrapped a proposal of the federal government for the establishment of an advisory council, on which the commonwealth and states were to have been represented, as part of "national security." They dismissed as "visionary" Deputy Prime Minister Sir Earle Page's long range plan for "a national coöperative attack on the problems of defense and development."

This plan, which had the backing of the federal cabinet, involved substantial expenditure for "actual defense equipment and industrial development in its widest national sense, designed to supplement the direct defense program by securing a mobilization of Australia's full resources."

Page explained that the advisory committee would have captains of industry among its personnel and would give advice about the location of new establishments and the proper employment of existing ones. The program involved a plan for coöperation between the commonwealth, the states, and industry over a period of from seven to ten years, the objective being a proper economic utilization of the country's limited financial resources, Page said.

Charges Buck Passing.

The states answered that behind the plan was the aim of the federal government to carry out works of a defense nature from state funds and to establish a committee to determine the priority of works to be carried out.

"The commonwealth's idea of coöperation was that the states should do what the commonwealth wanted them to do and that the states should pay for it," said Premier William Forgan Smith of Queensland. "The commonwealth attempted to pass the buck."

Premier A. A. Dunstan of Victoria told the federal government that it was simply trying to grab moneys raised for the states to keep the idle in employment to carry out defense projects which were a commonwealth responsibility.

Premier B. S. B. Stevens of New South Wales, leader of the revolt against the federal scheme, argued that no national effort was possible without money. The money, he said, could be got in two ways—one by importing it by way of loans, the other by expanding internal credit by means of extending the functions of the Commonwealth Reserve bank.

Treasurer Attacks Stevens.

Federal Treasurer R. G. Casey, who has staged several battles with Stevens on this issue, attacked him as being an inflationist. Nevertheless, the state premiers made it clear that they were inclined to subscribe to the growing belief that the way to provide the money is not by borrowing but by using the nation's credit through the Central Reserve bank to do those things necessary for national security.

The big private banking interests and powerful financial group which originally backed Joseph A. Lyons for prime minister—on the plea that as a Labor member who had good reasons for leaving his party he was the perfect symbol of democracy in a non-Labor government—now are said to have swung behind Stevens.

Mrs. Bessie Krosover, 70 years old, 4114 Roosevelt road, was killed last night when she was struck by an automobile while crossing the street near her home. The driver was Robert Griffe, 36, of 835 Wolfram street.

An unidentified man about 70 years old, dressed all in black—hat, suit and shoes—was injured fatally when he was struck by an automobile last night in front of 3040 Pershing road. He died in the County hospital. The driver, John Holewinski, 23 years old, 3704 South Spaulding avenue, surrendered to the Brighton Park police.

William H. Smith, 45 years old, colored, of 5658 South Park way, was killed by an automobile in front of 354 East 57th street last night. The driver, John Usher, 32, also colored, of 649 East Marquette road, told police that Smith was sitting on the pavement and that he did not see him until it was too late to stop.

Dies of Crash Injury.

W. C. Augenstein Sr., 70 years old, 7812 South Hermitage avenue, died yesterday in La Porte, Ind., of a skull fracture suffered in an automobile accident near there Wednesday. He was in a car with his son, W. C. Augenstein Jr., 40, and the latter's wife when it skidded on a snow covered road and crashed into a truck. The younger Augensteins are in the Holy Family hospital, La Porte.

Ignatz Levy, 67 years old, an itinerant peddler, died in the County hospital last night from injuries suffered Wednesday when he was struck by an automobile at Western and Potomac avenues. The driver was Frank Nader, 4853 Kenmore avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 770 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 596 were killed in Chicago. In the same period 18,306 were injured in trafic accidents within the city.

11,000 Chickens Roasted Alive in Poultry House

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Two three-story poultry houses of the Lambrecht Creamery chicken farm were destroyed by fire tonight. Eleven thousand chickens were roasted alive. An explosion of undetermined origin preceded the fire. C. H. Mueller of Waupun, Wis., bought the plant from J. H. Lambrecht last March. On Nov. 15 a fire wrecked one of the units and destroyed 4,000 baby chicks.

6 COUNTIES DELAY CERTIFIED COUNT OF VOTE RETURNS

The official canvass of election results in Illinois, which will settle all doubt of party representation in the legislature, is being delayed by lack of certification of the returns from six counties, including Cook. County Clerk Michael J. Flynn said a meeting will be held today to certify the country town returns outside of Chicago.

The election law requires the state canvassing board, made up of the secretary of state, attorney general, auditor and treasurer, to meet within twenty days after the election. A perfunctory session to comply with the twenty day clause may be held next week, but Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes said the slow returns might delay the official proclamation ten days or two weeks.

Interest in the canvass centers chiefly in the 48th district where Representative E. W. Lewis, Democrat, apparently was defeated for reelection by 279½ votes in a seven county district. He has intimated he will appear before the state board to protest the Lawrence county certification, which shows Fred A. Reavill, Flat Rock Republican, elected. Reavill's election gives Republicans an apparent 79 to 74 majority.

DIXMOOR SPEED TRAP CASE TO BE DECIDED TODAY

Judge William J. Lindsay is scheduled to decide today whether Mayor Charles Special of Dixmoor, his justice of the peace, and three policemen convicted of conspiracy to operate a speed trap, should have a new trial or be sentenced in acccordance with a jury verdict. The jury heard testimony for four days before deciding all were guilty of the charge of cheating and defrauding motorists by making fake arrests.

The five face a maximum penalty of one year each in the county jail and a fine of $2,000. The judge, under the form of verdict returned by the jury, will fix the punishment if he refuses a new trial.

Beside Special the defendants are Justice of the Peace Charles A. Braun, who was a motorcycle policeman and then became village judge, and Policeman Robert Grecco, Charles Paduano, and Tony Bater. Judge Lindsay at the time the verdict was returned characterized Justice Braun as the ringleader.

Assistant State's Attorneys Richard Austin and Alexander Napoli said they would oppose the new trial motions and would insist on maximum punishment for all defendants.

MATTER TO ASK NEW TRIAL TODAY IN WIFE SLAYING

James K. Matter, industrial engineer who was convicted last week by a jury of slaying his wife, Marguerite, is to appear today before Judge Robert Jerome Dunne in Criminal court on his motion for a new trial. The jury fixed his punishment at twenty years in the penitentiary.

Mrs. Matter was shot to death in the Matter home at 4233 Du Bois boulevard, Brookfield, on Oct. 1. She was killed with her husband's army rifle. A daughter, Martha Jean, 10 years old, testified at the trial that she heard her mother say, "Jim, do not shoot me." The daughter was the principal witness against her father.

CAR THEFTS DROP, BUT BURGLARIES UP OVER NATION

F. B. I. Reports More Crimes by Youth.

Crimes of burglary and larceny are increasing in the United States; robbery and automobile thefts are declining, according to the uniform crime reports for the first nine months of 1938, issued by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation. These are the crimes known to the law as offenses against property.

Approximately one-half of the burglaries were committed in residences, 35 per cent of them in daylight. Burglary increased 2.2 per cent over 1937, and larceny rose 2.1 per cent. The decrease in robbery was small, the reports said, although compared with 1936, robbery increased 13.7 per cent.

Murders Show Drop.

Murder, manslaughter, rape, and felonious assault—crimes against the person—decreased. However, the 1938 rape figure is higher, the reports stated, than for all preceding years of this decade except 1937.

More than one-half—55.7 per cent—of the crimes were larcenies, 23.1 per cent burglaries, 12.8 per cent automobile thefts, and 4 per cent robberies, a total of 95.6 per cent committed for the purpose of obtaining property, said the reports. The remaining 4.4 per cent consisted of homicides, rape, and other felonious assaults.

Youth's Crimes Gain.

The federal reports, which are made from data submitted by police departments throughout the country, showed that crime among youth increased last year. The report said:

"Finger print cards representing 432,527 arrests during the first nine months of 1938 reveal that 19 per cent of the persons arrested were under 21 years of age. During 1937 only 18 per cent of the persons arrested were less than 21. There were more arrests for the age 21 years than for any other single age group.

"From 1932 to the middle of 1936, age 19 was the group in which the largest number of arrests occurred. Since the middle of 1935 there have been more arrests for ages 21, 22, and 23 than for any other groups.

"During the first nine months of 1938 there were more arrests for age 21 than for any single age group."

Arrests by Age Groups.

Age.	No. of arrests.
22	19,039
23	18,874
19	18,802

The report said 230,595 or 53.3 per cent of the persons arrested in 1938 were less than 30 years old.

It also pointed out that repeaters are responsible for many of the crimes. It is pointed out that 120,639 of the persons previously had been convicted of 301,446 crimes. The number of crimes is larger than the number of defendants because many of the defendants committed more than one crime.

FOUR PRISONERS SLUG GUARD, GET GUNS AND FLEE

London, O., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Four prisoners at the London prison farm today slugged a guard at the main entrance, knifed a trusty, looted the armory of at least four pistols and escaped in a stolen automobile.

They later stole another automobile from Russell Descombs near Springfield, and headed north in the two machines. Descombs said all four had pistols. The main entrance guard, W. C. Thomas, was knocked almost unconscious with a blackjack but was not seriously injured. The fugitives were Chester Price, 25, years old, serving one to seven years for larceny; Albert Kraus, 30, one to 20 for auto theft; Otto Buchanan, 40, ten to 25 for robbery, and Charles McKinely, 28, ten to 25 for robbery.

Supt. T. C. Jenkins of the prison farm said McGinely, Kraus and Price previously had escaped and had been returned.

CHINESE DECLARE BOYCOTT TO MAKE CANTON DEAD CITY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONGKONG, Nov. 10 [By Airmail.]—Prominent Chinese business men in Hongkong have secretly organized a campaign to boycott Canton when that South China metropolis, captured recently by the Japanese, has been restored to normalcy.

The purpose of the boycott will be to wipe the city from the commercial map of China by refraining from establishing business connection with the abandoned Kwangtung province capital when the Japanese eventually declare the city open for business.

To date the Japanese have given no indication of their plans for the future of the city. Nor have the people, who fled when the Japanese closed in on Canton, been induced to return.

Plan New Trade Centers.

Arrangements are being made by some Chinese import and export firms here to establish branch offices in Kwang-chow-wan, Haiphong, and Saigon in French Indo-China. Goods will be reshipped from Hongkong to those centers and then exported into the interior of China, thus short circuiting the usual trade route up the Pearl river to Canton. Former business men and residents of Canton say they will not return there, but will leave it deserted.

Reports of increased Japanese troop movements indicate to observers that Canton is to be the military base for a long Japanese campaign into the interior and that industrial and economic rehabilitation must wait. There is much curiosity here as to the personnel of the puppet government which may be created by the Japanese.

There also is speculation about Hongkong's relations with Canton. This British colony has recovered from its first shock of the Japanese invasion of South China. Prices of vegetables and other foodstuffs are falling, indicating that supplies are entering the city. This has relieved the community's primary anxiety.

Fear Future Developments.

It is realized, however, that the possibility of disturbances close to the Hongkong border is considerably greater now that the Japanese have announced their intention to clean up the area between Sheklung and Shumchun. In this area there are more than 5,000 Chinese troops cut off from their main body weeks ago. They now pirate the district in gangs. Their raids have come within ten miles of the frontier.

There is much criticism here of the Japanese blockade. It is contended that if the Japanese are in control in South China, as they contend, then this area should cease to be "enemy" territory. In ruthlessly extending the blockade to attacks on trading junks and fishing boats, it is contended, the Japanese action was of doubtful moral and legal value.

Business Men Demand Action.

British business men are demanding that their government take determined action to protect their trade position. They suggest that such action be taken either in concert with the United States or with other European countries with interests in the far east, such as the Netherlands, Portugal, and France.

The isolation of Hongkong from the interior of China by the cutting of the Canton-Kowloon railway by the Japanese has had an extraordinary effect upon the colony.

Scattered throughout the colony are dumps of stores which had been ordered by the Chinese government, but which now probably will never be able to claim them. Vacant lots are filled with automobile chassis, iron rails, locomotive axles, metal gun platforms, and coils of wire.

JAPANESE TRAP 3,500 CHINESE GUERRILLAS; 1,000 OTHERS KILLED

PEKING, China, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The Japanese army reported today that operations against guerrillas throughout North China had come to a head with a series of battles in several provinces.

The heaviest engagement was said to have been in Shantung province, where Japanese reported 3,500 Chinese were trapped near Chenchiakou. Most of them were killed when they attempted to escape. Near Tungchang 1,000 guerrillas were reported killed in an all night battle. Another 2,000 were said to have been killed at Hsuchien, in northern Kiangsu province.

[In South China warfare came within twenty miles of the British crown colony of Hongkong when Japanese opened a pincer drive to wipe out Chinese east of Canton. On the central front Japanese driving south along the Canton-Hankow railway were reported to have been stopped.]

FORMER CHINESE ADVISER ASSERTS U. S. MUST REARM

America must rearm and keep a watchful eye on the Pacific if this nation is to escape the fate of China, Paul Myron Linebarger said here yesterday. Mr. Linebarger, a former United States judge in the Philippines, passed through Chicago on his way to Washington, D. C., after a speaking tour on the west coast. He was at one time legal adviser to Sun Yat-sen, founder of the Chinese republic.

"Americans, like the Chinese, feel that their nation is so big and powerful there is nothing to fear," said Mr. Linebarger. "China discovered to her sorrow how dangerous it is to rely on bigness and remain unarmed. Japan is conquering China and becoming one of the strongest and richest nations in the world. Hitler has given Japan its leadership in the drive on Japan, and his Nazi philosophy dominates Japanese thought today. It is time America recognizes the menace."

NEW PRESIDENT OF CHILE ADOPTS ROOSEVELT IDEAS

Will Start Nation Along Path of New Deal.

BY NORMAN INGREY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 24.—President-Elect Pedro Aguirre, the victorious Popular Front candidate in Chile, takes only one foreign leader as a model—President Roosevelt.

Aguirre and his friends of the radical-socialist-communist combination consider that, after the transfer of power next Christmas eve, there will be only three democratic presidents in the Americas—Mr. Roosevelt, Cardenas in Mexico, and Aguirre.

The day after the Popular Front victory, La Hora, daily organ of the leftists, printed the photographs of President Roosevelt and Aguirre side by side with a joint "new deal" caption. It was hailed as a "great victory."

Calls Roosevelt His Idol.

When interviewed, the president-elect said he had the maximum admiration for President Roosevelt, who, he said, was the "hero of American democracies." Aguirre said he was determined to take President Roosevelt and his program as a model in government.

Aguirre has no time for Europe or things European. Europe's day has passed, he thinks, and the future is in the Americas. Although he represents the Popular Front and things democratic, he asserted he is determined to remain aloof from the league of nations. His government, he said, would not lift a finger to go back to Geneva, which, he declared, only maintained an expensive burocracy and wasted Chilean taxpayers' money.

The Chilean new-dealer has been cross examined closely on his attitude toward foreign capital. The Popular Front convention committed him to a 34 point program which said harsh things about "imperialism" and inferred stormy times ahead for the foreign investor.

Sets Forth His Views.

"We shall not attack foreign capital," was one of Aguirre's first post-election declarations. "We shall welcome it, so long as it remembers that 'old times' have passed and it has other obligations to this country besides paying wages to workers."

But foreign capital must behave itself, for, he asked, "has not President Roosevelt himself stated, only a short time back, that American capital has not always comported itself well in our southern countries?"

The president-elect has his mind made up on most matters. He's going to give women complete equality, including the vote. He will recognize Russia if the "public welfare" so demands. "Public welfare" for him is just trade. If there's enough trade between Chile and Russia, then there will be recognition.

The rich are not going to be "soaked," but they must give up something so that the poor can have more, Aguirre promised. There will be agrarian reform and a minimum rural wage, and there will be no persecution of the church, he promised. The priests must remember, however, they have no more than the common citizens' rights, Aguirre said.

GRADE SCHOOLS' USE OF LIBRARIES WILL BE TESTED

Supervised Reading Experiment Planned.

An experiment planned for the improvement of elementary school libraries will be conducted in thirty-two public schools starting in February, Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson announced yesterday.

He said trained teacher-librarians will be placed in sixteen schools scattered throughout the city. Their work will be to teach reading and literature in the upper grades and also serve as a supervisor and guide during the periods when the library might be used by children for free or leisure time reading.

Sixteen other schools of comparable types of children and library facilities will operate as they do at present without a teacher-librarian.

Schools to Be Compared.

At the beginning of the semester pupils in the sixth to eighth grades in all thirty-two schools will be given evaluation tests which will be prepared by a committee of principals and teachers. Similar tests to determine the pupils' advancement will be made in the middle and end of the semester.

"In this way we will learn the true value of having teacher-librarians with a possible view toward placing them in all schools," Superintendent Johnson said. "If the tests should show no advancement on the part of the library supervised pupils as compared to those undirected we will change the library supervision technique."

40,000 Books Added.

During the last year 40,000 new books were added to elementary school libraries. Previously such libraries received scant attention from school authorities and in many instances only top grade pupils were permitted to use the libraries.

As part of the present program books in the libraries have been classified and made available to all pupils.

"The backward pupil needs more help and encouragement in the use of the library than the advanced pupil. All should get aid," Dr. Johnson explained.

Four Point Program.

During the last year a four point program for the development of high school libraries was carried out. The libraries received more books, the number of librarians was increased, more libraries were established in branch high school buildings, and forty-one high school and branch libraries had space increased.

In 1935, 1936, and 1937 135,000 books were added to high school libraries. During three comparable years, 1927 through 1929, 45,000 books were placed in high school libraries, according to Don C. Rogers, director of the bureau of research and building survey of the board of education. The average high school library contains 7,700 volumes.

U. S. DEALER BUYS LONDON STAMPS BY OCEAN PHONE

Pays Almost Record Price in Odd Sale.

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Nov. 24—Bidding by trans-Atlantic telephone was introduced into the stamp world today when a unique mint block of 24-cent issue of 1869 with center inverted was sold to Y. Souren & Co., New York dealers, at the record breaking price of 2,500 pounds sterling [$11,600].

It was not only the second highest price ever paid for an American stamp item—the $12,000 paid in 1935 for a 24-cent airmail stamp of 1918 issue still stands—but the third highest price ever paid for a stamp item of any kind.

T. L. Behr, associate of Souren, who had come to London to bid for some outstanding items in the collection formed by the late William H. Crocker of San Francisco, created a stir in the usually tranquil auction rooms of Harmer Rooke & Co. when he stationed himself in the telephone booth at the opening of the sale today.

Sticks at Phone 20 Minutes.

Behr stayed by the telephone continuously for the first twenty minutes relating the proceedings to Souren, whose instructions then were relayed to Behr's young woman assistant for the proper wave of the hand necessary to carry on the bidding.

Although there were about a dozen single copies of the inverted 24-cent center of 1869—the signing of the Declaration of Independence thus shown upside down—the block sold today is the only mint block known to exist in the world.

The bidding started at 1,000 pounds [the pound is currently quoted at $4.64] jumped in stages of 40 pounds to 1,500 pounds, where it was raised in jumps of 100 pounds.

Behr did not start until it reached 1,800 pounds. The auctioneer's voice remained expressionless as after calling "going once, going twice," he cried "sold."

Sale Broadcast to U. S.

All the more outstanding items were sold during the first 20 minutes of the proceedings, which were broadcast by the British Broadcasting corporation and relayed to the United States by short wave. Total for the day was £8,800, bringing the total, including yesterday's returns, to £13,015. Sale of this portion of the collection will be concluded tomorrow.

A mint block of four centers of the Columbia issue of 1893, printed in blue instead of ultramarine, also attracted spirited bidding among American dealers, who had come over for the sale. It was acquired by Souren at £700.

Topers Left Only 4 Places to Go in City of 135,000

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

GUATEMALA, Nov. 24.—Beer drinkers in this city of 135,000 inhabitants will have only four places to quench their thirsts after February. Some time ago the government limited the closing hours of theaters to 11:30 and midnight and now conditions limit the sale of beer to four saloons, apparently because it was considered too many were in operation. The present owners have been given three months to close out their saloons and seek other employment or business.

FRANKENSTEEN MAY KEEP STATE JOB TILL OUSTED

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 24.—[Special.] Saying that he had been "purged by experts," Richard T. Frankensteen, Gov. Frank Murphy's labor representative on the state emergency welfare relief commission, indicated today that he might wait for Republican Governor-elect Frank D. Fitzgerald to force his resignation from the commission.

Frankensteen, former assistant president of the United Automobile Workers of America, who was deposed by Homer Martin, U. A. W. president, in the latter's purge of communists and Red sympathizers and was reinstated on order of John L. Lewis, C. I. O. president, has been marked for early dismissal by Fitzgerald.

If he chooses to await the Republican executive's action Frankensteen will be the sole survivor of the present commission. William J. Orton, Detroit, Republican member, is resigning to accept a Murphy appointment to the new state hospital commission.

William A. Neithercutt of Flint, appointed along with Frankensteen by the present Democratic governor, has promised to lay his resignation on Fitzgerald's desk when he takes office Jan. 1.

Members of the commission, unlike those of most state boards, serve wholly at the governor's pleasure under the law and need not be confirmed by the state senate.

Fitzgerald made an issue of Frankensteen's presence on the commission during his successful campaign, assailing the Murphy appointment as evidence of his gubernatorial rival's sympathy for radical leftists.

Murphy defended Frankensteen as a "capable and conscientious young man" prior to the Martin purge, but made no comment subsequently.

SYNOPSIS.

David Beddoes, young American, and his cousin, Alison Young, going to a party at Lady Wibbe's, stumble by mistake into the house next door. While they are talking to the spinsterish woman who receives them they hear a woman scream and a body fall. The spinster explains it is a parrot. Young Penelope Wibbe says their strange neighbors have no parrot. But they acquire one next day. David learns his former love, Betsy Greentree, lives in the mysterious house. Betsy's father died after losing his money. While traveling in Europe with her aunt, Fanny Rush, Betsy met and married an Englishman, Geoffrey Scarpath. David sends a letter to Betsy which is unanswered. He confronts Scarpath who explains that Betsy is suffering from a chronic nervous condition and can have no visitors, that she is being cared for by his sister Evie. David gains a secret interview with Betsy and learns she is miserably unhappy. When the specialist, Dr Broderick, insists on her taking the medicine which always makes her feel worse, Betsy grows desperate. Alison's friend, Dr. Colin Ladbroke, leaving her flat one night, finds Betsy unconscious on the threshold. Revived she explains Penelope helped her escape. Under their care Betsy rapidly improves. Colin learns Dr. Broderick is a drug addict. Fanny Rush arrives and stays with Geoffrey, whom she admires. When Geoffrey learns she intends to disinherit Betsy he kills her. Broderick has the body cremated. Under pretext that Fanny is dying and calling for her, Geoffrey gets Betsy to go off with him. Drugged and unconscious she is taken home and from there by ambulance to a private nursing home, with Evie as nurse. Penelope Wibbe sees them leaving. David, Colin, and Alison trace the ambulance to the home. They see Evie in an upper back room Late that night they attempt to rescue Betsy, and have a terrific battle with Scarpath, Broderick, and Evie, in the dark room where they find Betsy lying unconscious, exposed to the elements, near death from pneumonia. Geoffrey escapes.

INSTALMENT LIX.

THE GENTLEMAN AMATEUR.

Thinking of the awful, simpering woman, Alison shuddered with repugnance. Perhaps, she suggested, the brother, too, had some taint of insanity?

"Whatever the case," said Colin, "if Scarpath's failed, it's been from no lack of ability. I think I once mentioned what I considered the basic flaw in young Geoffrey's composition. In all undertakings, even the serious business of murder, he's the gentleman amateur. In other words, his private inclinations always come first.

"Suppose he'd been willing to sacrifice himself to the extent of playing the attentive husband? Elizabeth would never have got out from under his thumb—no, not even when David came alone. Her death would have occurred in accordance with a most admirably-conceived plan, she herself not once suspecting she was a victim."

"Then her original illness . . . ?"

"Fraud. Foisted on her, with diabolical cleverness. Want to hear how it was worked?"

He listened alertly, and as no sounds reached them leaned forward to expound.

"Take the existing circumstances. They not only prompted the idea but furnished the groundwork on which to build. I needn't tell you what Elizabeth was like—young, much shielded . . ." He moistened dry lips, "... and, most important, without friends in this country. Brutally cheated in her marriage, she's plumped straight down in surroundings physically and psychologically unsympathetic. Naturally her spirts decline—and as the result of it her health. First to suffer is her sight. Constant day-dreaming makes her stop focussing, she aggravates the trouble by oversmoking.

"Unhappiness and too many cigarets began Elizabeth's visual disturbance. Symptom number one. Soon she got the tiresome knee injury. It kept her indoors and made everything worse. That knee was never properly treated. It was symptom number two. Then Elizabeth flared up and most convincingly swore she would leave her husband and go back to America. She meant it—and if she had done this Scarpath would never have touched a penny of the fortune she was due, unknowingly, to inherit.

"I fancy that made him first plan to kill her. Either he must give up the prize for which he had bartered his liberty or else find means of keeping his wife in utter subjection till the time came for removing her altogether—that's to say directly the aunt was dead and before Elizabeth could make a will. He was counting, you see, on Mrs. Rush's early decease, with good reason. From Mrs. Rush herself he knew of the high blood-pressure which was already causing acute alarm. He supposed he wouldn't have to wait long for the money. Wherein, of course, he was mistaken. The aunt went on living, and meanwhile Elizabeth was threatening to go. Mere lack of funds would not have stopped her. Illness, on the contrary, would.

"It had to be a protracted illness—preferably an obscure one. In addition, Scarpath could not have produced what was required alone. It was necessary to have worthy medical sanction as well as assistance—so that brings us to Broderick. For a man of Broderick's eminence to lend himself to a piece of flagrant malpractice is simply unthinkable—unless he has already landed himself in a bad hole and in moral ways let go.

"Broderick had lost heavily in speculations—and driven by fatigue and worry he had got thoroughly enslaved to cocaine. I assume Scarpath found things out and took to supplying the excess quantities of the drug. Seeing he could cut the stuff off when he chose, wouldn't that give him a powerful leverage?"

"Yes—no! Surely a doctor can get his own cocaine?"

"The popular delusion. He can't—not above very moderate amounts, or rather not without running the risk of serious challenge. You may ask how Scarpath could manage it better than a physician. I can only tell you there's an enormous deal of cocaine circulating in London and accessible to those who want to obtain it.

"Let's say that Broderick was spending more than he earned and doping quite recklessly. Suddenly he's offered a thundering big reward for services rendered—easily rendered, and with negligible risks. He can't resist. There's not the slightest fear that the false diagnosis will come out. The girl will die not from the alleged chronic complaint but from a simple, genuine, intermediary illness. Broderick himself will sign the death certificate. No living person will dream of querying the previous treatment. Very astutely, he hit on disseminated sclerosis. See how it dovetailed with all the requirements?

"First, it conformed with the existing symptoms—liability to fall down, impaired eyesight without discernible cause, emotional upsets. Next, in the early stage it's so difficult to pin down that no medical opinion could be expected to displace an experienced neurologist's. Last the attacks themselves made it plausible to cut the patient off from the outer world, keeping her more or less bedridden and a prisoner.

"O! It was wickedly clever? But the attacks?"

"Broderick produced them." Colin's eyes smouldered. "Having questioned Elizabeth pretty closely I think I know how. Here again he showed brilliance—by using the very thing present day science regards as legitimate treatment for the disease. He began with injecting typhus vaccine—from five million germs onward. It induced high temperature and great exhaustion, thus lowering her resistance.

"Presently, quinine, by mouth—the bitter stuff she complained of that caused such ghastly effects. You see, he gave her too much, and here's the point: It created an approximation of the very symptoms correct dosage designs in bona fide cases to relieve. That is, blurred vision reaching to blindness, and partial paralysis of certain muscles.

"On the last occasion—it was when Scarpath had got the wind up over David—the overdose of quinine came devilishly near finishing her off. And with her aunt still alive! They were in a blue funk till they'd dragged her back again."

It was as though the mere contemplation of these fiendish acts had robbed Colin of self control. Head bent, he was hammering his forehead with his two fists. Was this the contained man she had known?

He looked up and past her, taking a fresh grip on himself.

"Well! She slipped the cage—because our amateur criminal wanted to play golf. That was one knockout blow, and another was to follow. The aunt turned up, and Scarpath saw his whole beautiful scheme on the rocks. He managed in the nick of time to save it from smashing by a rather blundering murder. Mrs. Rush must have told him she meant at once to alter her will. At one stroke—a literal one!—he prevented her and aided by a little forgery, got his wife back into his power. By luck he nabbed Elizabeth while the MacConochie appointment was still pending."

No fruit bowl is as attractive as it should be these days without a few of the bright skinned Japanese persimmons. These are sweet fleshed and delicious when they are fully ripened and soft. They may be served alone as a dessert, in a salad alone, or with another fruit, or in puddings to be served with a citrus sauce.

To serve Japanese persimmons alone as dessert, allow one to each person. Serve it whole on a dessert plate, accompanied by a dessert knife. Or cut it into sections toward the stem end to make the diner's work easier. Leave the sections attached at the stem end, if this is done.

Be sure persimmons are thoroughly ripe. The flesh should be soft to the touch. Before this fruit has ripened it has a somewhat puckery taste.

PERSIMMON AND AVOCADO SALAD.

Allow one persimmon per serving. Slice each into six sections, leaving them connected at the stem end. Spread apart on lettuce or chicory and insert slices of avocado between the sections. Very thin slices of apple, with red skin left on, may be added to the arrangement. Top with French dressing to which chopped parsley or watercress has been added.

PERSIMMON PUDDING I.

[Serves six.]

1 cup persimmon pulp
½ cup chopped dates
½ cup chopped nuts
1 cup flour
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup sugar
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mash persimmons through a sieve and measure pulp. Add dates and nuts. Sift flour before measuring. Combine with other dry ingredients and resift. Add milk to persimmon mixture. Combine the two mixtures, stirring until the dry ingredients are blended. Add vanilla and turn into a greased mold, filling it about two-thirds full. Steam for an hour. Or turn into a greased loaf pan and bake at 325 degrees for about fifty minutes. Serve with orange or lemon sauce.

PERSIMMON PUDDING II.

1 cup persimmon pulp
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup crumbled cake crums [dry]
1 tablespoon melted butter
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¾ cup milk

Mash persimmons through a sieve and add sugar, salt, crums, and butter. Sift flour and baking powder together and add alternately with milk. Turn into greased baking pan and bake at 325 degrees for forty-five to fifty minutes. Serve with lemon or orange sauce. Cookie crums may be substituted for cake crums.

PERSIMMON SAUCE FOR PUDDINGS OR ICE CREAM.

Mash persimmons through a sieve just before using and serve a spoonful for each serving. Because of the bright color, persimmon pulp is a very attractive sauce for ice cream.

PEAR PUDDING'S SIMPLE, AND IT PEPS UP A MEAL

Cinnamon Sauce Makes Dessert Tempting.

It's like finding a gold mine to run across a recipe for a simple, easily made dessert that makes the family dinner a more attractive meal. That's the way you're bound to feel about this pear pudding with cinnamon sauce. If you're out of marshmallows they can be omitted without serious damage to the pudding, although they do add to flavor and creamy texture.

Use any other dessert sauce with this pudding, when the spicy one ceases to tempt—if it's possible for that to happen.

PEAR PUDDING.

[Serves 6.]

3½ tablespoons cornstarch
4 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
9 marshmallows
6 canned pear halves, drained

Mix constarch, sugar, salt, and ½ cup milk. Scald remaining milk. Slowly stir in cornstarch mixture and cook in double boiler for 10 minutes, stirring constantly until thickened. Mix a small amount into egg, return to remaining hot mixture and blend. Add lemon rind and 6 marshmallows cut in small pieces; cook 5 minutes longer, stirring constantly. Turn into sherbet glasses; place pear half, cut side up, on top of each pudding and place half a marshmallow in each hollow. Serve with cinnamon sauce.

CINNAMON SAUCE.

1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 cup pear sirup [or other fruit juice]
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Blend cornstarch with ¼ cup of the pear juice. Heat remaining sirup to boiling, add cornstarch mixture and stir until sauce boils and thickens. Stir in cinnamon, butter, and lemon juice and cook one minute longer. Chill and serve with pear pudding.

WEEK-END FOOD PRICES UP AFTER HOLIDAY BUYING

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Heavy buying of food for Thanksgiving meals made it necessary for retail grocers to restock their shelves, cases, and counters with fresh supplies for today and tomorrow. Merchants generally are offering few items at new bargain prices for the week-end.

There is a tendency for foods to be marked higher in the staple, green grocer and meat departments in most shopping centers. Prices on an unusually small list of items have been marked lower.

Eggs Marked up 2 Cents.

A long list of stores marked up eggs 2 cents a dozen, flour 6 to 14 cents for a 24½ pound sack, lard 2 cents a pound, and sugar 2 to 3 cents for a 10 pound bag.

Green peas are so high that some green grocers are not offering them. Most of the other merchants who continue to carry them raised their prices 2 to 4 cents a pound. Green beans are 1 to 2 cents higher but still are considered reasonable for this season.

Head lettuce is 1 to 2 cents a head higher. The price of lemons has been increased 2 cents a dozen, and green onions are up in some places.

Butter Price Drops.

Butter is included among the few foods that are lower this week than last. THE TRIBUNE'S weekly survey shows that both package and roll butter will be from one-half to one cent a pound under last week's prices.

Cranberries are scarce and still high, although merchants have cut their prices 2 cents a pound. Spinach is lower. Two cents a pound has been taken off the price of the lower grades of coffee in several stores.

Butchers followed the lead in price advances made by the staple department salesmen. Shoulder, rib, and loin lamb chops are mostly 2 to 4 cents higher. In many shops consumers will find pork loin roast and beef pot roast 4 cents a pound higher than a week ago.

Lamb Prices Fluctuate.

Leg of lamb is up 2 cents in some and off 4 cents in other shops. Frying chickens are a penny lower in many retail meat markets.

John Campbell, federal live stock market reporter, advises consumers his survey of packers' supplies indicates there will be plenty of fresh and cured meat, despite the interruption of shipments of live stock during the strike at Union Stock yards this week.

Campbell said packers are getting live stock direct from the country. Trading in live stock was discontinued at the stock yards Tuesday.

Choice Steers Higher.

Good and choice steers and yearlings are steady to 25 cents a hundred pounds higher than last week, Campbell reported, with the week's top selling at $13.50. Beef prices from these grades of steers are about the same.

Hogs went down 5 to 10 cents a hundred pounds. The top for the week was $7.60 a hundred. Cooler weather, however, sent fresh pork prices up 50 cents a hundred.

Lambs are steady to 10 cents a hundred pounds higher. The highest priced lambs this week sold at $9.65. Competition from turkeys drove dressed lamb prices 50 cents a hundred lower, according to Campbell.

Most of the price changes on the wholesale fruit and vegetable market are higher this week than last.

Romantic News Is Revealed at Holiday Parties

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE romantic significance of more than one family gathering on Thanksgiving is being revealed today. Mr. and Mrs. W. Edwin Smith are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Virginia Louise, to John Hudson Poole Jr., son of Col. and Mrs. John Hudson Poole of Pasadena, Cal.

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Soper Jr., are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Stevens, to William Benedict Westcott Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Westcott of Utica, N. Y. Dr. and Mrs. William E. Cary are announcing the engagement of their niece, Miss Lois Jane Kelsay, to Robert C. Hunter, son of Maj. and Mrs. Robert C. Hunter.

The engagement of Miss Smith to Mr. Poole was made known at a family dinner given by Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Forgan, in their Highland Park home. Col. and Mrs. Poole and their son were present at the gathering. During the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Smith gave a cocktail party in their Winnetka home.

Miss Smith attended Saint Mary's school in North Carolina, and the University of Southern California. Mr. Poole studied in Europe, and later was graduated from the Gunnery school in Connecticut. The wedding will take place in June.

Also planned for June is the wedding of Miss Soper to Mr. Westcott. The announcement of their engagement was made at a tea in Utica at the home of the senior Mrs. James P. Soper, at which the Soper family, including young Jimmy who is a student at the Deerfield academy, was present.

Miss Soper, a debutante of three seasons ago, attended the Catherine Bronson school in California and was graduated from the Ethel Walker school in Simsbury, Conn. Mr. Westcott is a graduate of the Utica Country Day school and attended Swavely and Hamilton colleges.

Carys Entertain for Daughter and Her Husband.

Dr. and Mrs. Cary were at home yesterday afternoon and evening so their friends could meet their daughter and her new husband, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Norwood [Miriam Cary] of Marion, S. C., and at the same time they revealed the engagement of Miss Kelsay to Mr. Hunter. Mr. Hunter was graduated from Harvard in 1936, and is studying at the University of Chicago medical school. Miss Kelsay is a senior at the University of Chicago. No date has been set for their wedding.

Dr. Norwood, son of Mrs. Samuel W. Norwood and the late Mr. Norwood of Marion, and the former Miss Cary were married on Sept. 17. He is a graduate of the medical school of South Carolina at Charleston, and took his internship in the Chicago Memorial hospital last year. The list of other attendants is not complete, but it does not include the name of Mr. Fairbank's sister, Miss Janet Fairbank. Miss Fairbank will not be able to come back from Germany, where she is studying voice, for the occasion.

Mr. Fairbank and his bride will live in Cambridge, Mass. He is not arriving until two days before the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Hobart will give a dinner for the bridal party and the families at home on the 10th, and Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank will give another family party for their son and his fiancée on the 11th.

Swank and Comfort in New House Coat

A house coat of fleecy thick fabric resembling lamb's wool. White, candy pink and sky blue are the three flattering shades obtainable, the satin lining to harmonize. Monklike sleeves, a turnover collar and a single hip pocket, together with a long tie belt, complete the details.

Folds Accent Long Lines of Dinner Gowns

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Distinguished dinner dresses stress a long, sleek streamline, long fitted sleeves, interesting flat masses of folds or shirrings in the clinging long skirts and a total absence of anything that even faintly resembles extra trim.

These gowns depend upon a clinging fabric, fine details and flawless workmanship. They are the most exciting finds of the week.

If you're bored with too saccharine confections of wide skirted and beflounced creations, these excessively simple clothes will take all your money. Priced modestly, these dresses are the last word in distinction at a moderate sum.

Dull black, the arch flatterer for every personality, they are quickly dressed up or down to fit the occasion for which they are worn. With handsome pieces of jewelry, with belts of barbaric splendor, or with high colored sandals or the bejeweled thick sole variety you will have an extraordinarily dramatic costume.

Two models come with jeweled accents. One has crescent shaped shallow pockets placed on the front hipline. The other has a wide, wide belt brilliant with simulated jewels on dusky gold background. Otherwise the gowns are severly plain, using the lovely clinging fabric to the best advantage in soft, flattering folds.

A brand new trick also just packed . . . is the dinner-daytime dress. This is exactly what it sounds. The dress is smartly cut with soft shirred folds and narrow bands in the streamlined bodice. The sleeves are short and effective. To make it into a dinner outfit, fasten the matching long separate skirt over the slim skirt of the dress, somewhat like an all around apron. Behold the best of the practical aids to an appreciative clothes collector. These double meaning outfits are also in dull black, have the same exquisite materials and subtle shirrings. They have the distinction of the single purpose dinner dresses.

Fashion photograph . . . white as fleece, this astoundingly low priced house coat is made of a thick, woolly like fabric resembling lamb's wool. The undeniable look of luxury comes at a modest price. The colors are pure white, candy pink, and celestial blue. The satin lining, which harmonizes runs the full length in the coat and long loose sleeves. There's hip pocket, turnover wide collar and a tie belt.

Front Views and Profiles
By June Provines

An Amateur Sees the Hounds.

The M. F. H. of the Mill Creek Hunt club, Prentice Porter, wearing a long, white kennel coat and gloves, had consented to show the hounds to some visitors. The door of the handsome white, black weathervaned kennel opened and the hounds rushed out, tumbling over one another in their eagerness to dash to the point of command.

"Is that Remus?" we inquired, indicating a beautiful, eager hound with a wide chest, well-ribbed body, and straight, clean-cut legs. Remus is an imported hound, the pride of M. F. H., who considers him the best in the country. "That one beside Mr. Porter—wagging his tail," we specified.

"Does Remus pass his characteristics on to his offspring?" we inquired, as we admired the exhibition of well trained hounds offered by the M. F. H. and Jasper, the picturesque, efficient kennel huntsman, whose language, when he speaks to the hounds, is something to listen to. And to understand, if you can.

"You mean, does he stamp his get?" smiled our mentor. We made mental note of the breeder's phrase.

"How many dogs have you?" was our next question.

"You mean, how many hounds in the dog pack here, exclusive of the bitch pack and the puppies, Let's see . . . "

At that moment a beautiful animal with friendly brown eyes approached. We mastered the impulse to pet him and Jasper called severely, "'Ware, stranger.'" It sounded like "war stronjer." The hound immediately retreated and joined the pack surging about the M. F. H.

Upon command, all the hounds made a concerted dash for the kennel, and for a moment the door was a churning mass of brown and white, of legs and ears and bodies and tails—or should we have said sterns—as the hounds gave instant obedience.

Rag Bag Mind Note.

As we heard the hunting talk, a fine descriptive phrase came to mind that once had struck our fancy:

"A pack closes to the note of an old hound like a lady closing up her fan."

Friday Cuffnotes.

The song hit, My Reverie, Larry Clinton's version of Debussy's Reverie, will give the heirs of the French composer almost twice as much as Debussy made from all his music during his lifetime. And at first the heirs didn't want to even listen to the Clinton interpretation. . . . A young woman borrowed a handsome gown from her sister in another town to wear to the Bachelors and Benedicts ball and had it insured against fire and theft while it was in her possession. . . . The pianist of the Playboys at the Balinese room, and the only one of the four who doesn't play a string instrument, is named Strum—Robert Strum. . . . Leslie Howard was having champagne cocktails there the other day—on his way back to Hollywood from England to peddle Pygmalion, the picture he produced abroad.

Small Town Dweller.

A visitor from a small town came to Chicago for the first time and Willard Abraham met him at the station. They left the loop and started to the south side. The visitor began getting fidgety at about 18th street. At 22d street the size of the city began to defeat his imagination.

"Where the heck are you taking me?" he blurted. "We ain't a-goin' back home, are we?"

Wonder which mayor of a city on the B. and O. route missed his message by carrier pigeon of the 1,000 pigeons released when the new Baltimore and Ohio streamlined Diesel powered Capitol Limited started out on its birthday trip Wednesday? One of the pigeons was injured and unable to fly.

A child in the third grade of the Grant White grammar school was doing her homework, which consisted of penning the following self-explanatory sentence:

"Because some one in this room wasn't a good enough sport to tell on himself for whistling, we all have to write this ten times."

Menuhin Has Full House at Stock Concert

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Those whom Beethoven might conceivably have kept away, the fame of Yehudi Menuhin drew in. A packed Orchestra hall, therefore, heard last night's all-Beethoven program of the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

Mr. Menuhin, playing the violin concerto, made on this occasion his first appearance at these concerts. Known for years as the most spectacular of America's home grown prodigies, he is now a husky, majestic looking young fellow of 21.

Mr. Menuhin found in the concerto innumerable purple patches on which to lavish his penetrating sweetness of tone and his flexible, eloquent phrasing. The piece was taken slowly, which fact helps to account for the predominantly lyrical impression which it made.

This violinist has neither the tonal impeccability nor the sense of long classical line which other exponents of the Beethoven concerto have displayed. In recompense, he offers a quite melting warmth and intensity.

Responding to the good sized ovation which rewarded his playing of the concerto, Mr. Menuhin added an excerpt from one of Bach's sonatas for violin alone.

Frederick Stock prefaced the concerto with the "Egmont" overture and the Fourth symphony. The latter work received a serene, delicately calculated performance which made the most of its thousand exquisite details. Such things as the little conversations between soft-spoken woodwinds, the gracious curves of tiny, unassuming melodies, the quiet instrumental colorings which remain so inseparable a part of the composer's flow of idea.

The performance rose to a peak of excellence during the slow movement. Here the massed violins sang as ethereally as massed violins can sing. The effect was overwhelmingly beautiful.

New Portraits by Williams on Exhibition

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Two brilliant exhibitions have opened within a stone's throw of each other, to continue through Nov. 30. At the Ackermann galleries, 408 South Michigan avenue, are recent portraits by Charles Sneed Williams. At the Roullier galleries, 701 Fine Arts building, are etchings by John Taylor Arms, with, as an additional attraction, a group of drawings by Alfeo Faggi, the sculptor. And in the little room is another group of the intriguing characters from Walt Disney's "Snow White."

Charles Sneed Williams is well known to Chicago through the various stunning exhibitions of portraits and landscapes [though chiefly portraits] which he has given to us over a period of years. This latest exhibition lives up to the fame of those which have preceded it.

Mr. Williams is marvelous at getting a likeness. The charm of his painting, as illustrated in the simple yet appealing manner in which he handles accessories, never grows stale. His use of color is delicious.

Probably the most entrancing portrait in the gallery is that of a young English girl whom Mr. Williams painted last summer, Miss Sheila Wyndham. He has been extremely lucky in the pose, it is natural and unaffected and the eyes look just enough away and beyond you to save them from any chance of "photographer's blight"—that painful "watch the little bird" alertness.

In this portrait the artist has used a delightful color scheme of gold and rose and the entire canvas is a mellow, bewitching harmony of soft tones. It is fascinating.

The etchings by John Taylor Arms cannot from their very nature compete with the portraits of Mr. Williams, yet they have a definite place in any scheme of art. Mr. Arms is a distinguished etcher, probably the foremost American etcher of our day. His group of French churches is superlatively fine.

The delicacy of his line, the use of light and shadow, the feeling of strength and bulk with no loss of sensitiveness, all stamp his work as that of a master craftsman. The few drawings shown add greatly to the exhibit.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Quiz for Movie Stars.

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 25.—A—In the year that is about to end have I retained my standing as a human being? Am I, in other words, as genuine a person as I was when I detrained from the Chief? Or have I gone Hollywood, with its implication of snobbery and pretense? [Don't answer too quickly. Think it over, Toots.]

B—Have I done three truly charitable things during the year, without suggesting that the studio publicity department get it into the newspapers? [Don't tell me that you didn't know that the publicity department was releasing a fanfare.]

C—In my list of intimate friends can I number a few failures? Or have I yielded to the shrewd temptation to associate only with the successes who may be able to do me some good?

D—Have I gone out of my way to get a job for some actor or actress who needed only an influential voice raised in his or her behalf? [It's not too late, at any event.]

E—When I greet people am I "putting on an act" or is the greeting on the level?

F—In the last year have I saved some money for a rainy day or have I spent it all on "front"? [Bigger stars than you will be are working as extras today, honey.]

G—Can I afford the house in which I live, the servants I maintain, the car I drive, the clubs to which I belong, the jewels and furs which my wife demand, and which my vanity insists upon?

H—Have I, in the last twelve months, learned something additional about acting, or am I just about where I was a year ago?

I—When I was broke and down on my luck on Broadway and couldn't land a job on the stage I handled failure pretty well. Have I handled success as well?

J—At Thanksgiving did I truly give thanks and express appreciation, or did I think to myself that my success was due to genius, rather than a liberal helping of luck? [In other words, do you believe your press clippings?]

K—Have I, in the last year, tried as hard to be a success as a parent, a husband, or a wife, as I have tried to be successful on the screen? [Your family can give you the answer, Big Shot].

L—If I am a husband, have I been on the level with my wife? [And vice versa].

M—In achieving success, have I achieved happiness? Do I do a few of the things I'd honestly like to do, or is success just another way of spelling nervous stomach?

N—What would be the estimate of me if, God forbid, I were to die tomorrow? [Would your obit notice say that you were decent, honorable, helpful, or would it just list the amount of money you left?]

O—In seeing "You Can't Take It With You," did I understand what the authors were saying, or was it just a picture to me?

P—Do I, in everyday life, practice some of the intolerance which I publicly decry in the dictators? [That query can stand quite a lot of self-probing, my little chickadees.]

Q—In fighting Nazilism, Fascism, and communism and all the other "isms" of page 1, have I remembered to support Americanism? [Uh-huh, it's a pretty good country, and the birthrate of ingrates is surprisingly high.]

R—Have I gone to my doctor for a complete annual examination? [Success and health are related more closely than you think.]

T—Have I conquered rudeness, tactlessness, ingratitude, temper, jealousy? [All of these have held you back in the last twelfthmonth.]

U—Have I paid my debts—money I've borrowed, bills I've run up at stores, charge accounts I've neglected? [Honor is a very precious asset.]

V—In helping to buy an ambulance for loyalist Spain and in contributing to the fund for Chinese sufferers did I remember to send some money to the distressed of my own country? [I know you don't get publicity for aiding American kids and women.]

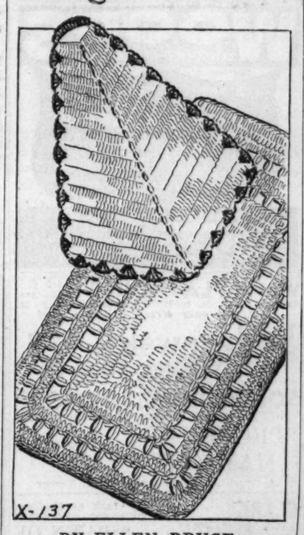
W—If I am an important studio executive have I been nice to the people who work under me? Have I given some hopeful kid a chance to click in pictures without making a pass at her? Have I appreciated the loyalty of the men and women under me, or have I become an insufferable bore, catering only to the officials above me? [It's not too late to turn over a new leaf at any event.]

X—If I am a performer do I insist that the success of Muni, Tracy, the Barrymores, the Gables, and the Shearers is luck or the result of "pull," or do I go to their pictures and analyze the technique they have mastered?

Y—If I am a movie columnist have I resisted the temptation to be a "wise guy" in my comments on the industry? [You'll have to tell me.]

Z—If I am a movie fan have I read these questions and realized that they apply as much to me as to any movie star?

Crocheted Mats Ideal for Under the Hot Plates



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

In this day of crocheted luncheon and dinner sets, crocheted hot plate mats are most important, and they must be as highly stylized as the company they keep. The crochet mat is serviceable as well as attractive. The accompanying holder is ideal when one prefers individual service and insists on food passed by a maid. She has an attractive holder which is not difficult to crochet and an excellent protection against burns.

For instructions for crocheting the hot plate mat and holder, No. X-137, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Giannini Best Carmen Since Era of Garden

BY CECIL SMITH.

Dusolina Giannini, the Philadelphia born soprano of Italian lineage who made a stirring debut earlier in the season in "Aida," sang the title rôle of Bizet's "Carmen" with the Chicago City Opera company at the Civic Opera house last night. It was her first portrayal in America of the part of the wanton Spanish girl, although she has made many successes with it in Germany.

So far as my own experience goes [I did not see either Conchita Supervia or Maria Olszewska] this was the finest, most memorable Carmen our opera stage has seen since the days of Mary Garden.

With some of the swaggering external manners of a tomboy, yet with the susceptible heart of a wayward, passionate Latin woman, she keyed her performance upon a pitch of extraordinary vitality. From the very beginning there was never a break in the continuity and credibility with which her Carmen ran the heated gamut of her meotions. One was hardly conscious of stage "business," for every moment became part of a characterization of great urgency and powerful projection.

Her singing, while not technically impeccable, was of that rare and valuable kind that always seems inseparable from the action it interprets. And no singer in the company has a profounder sensitivity to musical values.

Miss Giannini had the assistance of Armand Tokatyan, in fine fettle as Don José; Annunciata Garrotto, singing as expressively as her wild method of tone emission permitted; Jean Fardulli, a deadpan and vocally uninteresting toreador; and Douglas Beattie, Helen Margolyne [attractive in her first sizeable rôle; Mari Barona, Sandro Giglio, Daniel Harris, and Giuseppe Cavadore. The Little ballet danced with good effect, and Louis Hasselmans conducted.

Middle Age Is Critical Time in Rouge Use

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"How grateful I would be to you, Miss Donnelly, if you would address older women on the subject of makeup. I know one who would take from you what she would not accept from me. The situation is a bit difficult. It's my mother of whom I speak. She has been an unusually attractive woman all her life, petite, well groomed and, up until the death of her husband a year ago, well protected.

"Because of my own inability to take her into my home, and because of her own energy and principles about being the visiting mother-in-law, and because she is well equipped for the line she is now job-seeking, she has a number of interviews. She is sensitive at the moment, I suppose, but when I suggested the other day that she had much too much rouge on for a woman on a job-seeking quest she flew off the handle. Conscious of this in my mother, I have observed how many older women make this terribly plastered on rouge error in the false conviction that it is youth lending. I know that that is what my mother thinks.

"CONCERNED."

It's been a question in my mind often whether the older woman with the free hand at the rouge jar is convinced that she looks younger the more rouge she uses, or whether the rouge she uses does not show up more disadvantageously just because of her years. It is true that the makeup mistake is made frequently by older women. The trouble begins invariably with the careless way rouge is applied, in a light that is dim and with a hand untrained to apply just a couple of wee dabs up toward the cheek bones.

There is a school of thought now that aims to convince women of middle age and thereabouts that no rouge on the cheeks serves her gray haired beauty best. And very little powder—some is indispensable. The theory is that the skin at 50 has undergone tone changes that are not in harmony with the usual artificial shade, and that powder, unless very lightly applied, emphasizes lines and shadows in the skin. It may be the shade of rouge so often used is to blame, for you will notice that the heavy effect is more often gained with the purplish range of rouge colors than with other tones.

Catholics to Launch Liberty and Loyalty Program in Schools

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Catholic leaders of the United States, responding to the recent call of Pope Pius XI. for defense of democratic government, announced today an educational program intended to train more than 3,000,000 Catholic pupils in "enlightened, conscientious American citizenship."

In a pastoral letter, Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia and the archbishops and bishops who attended an annual meeting here in October said they were "seriously alarmed by the spread of subversive teaching and by the audacity of subversive action in our country."

"We are witnesses today," they added, "of proclamations and programs which, if translated into action, would destroy all that is just and ennobling in liberty loving America."

The pastoral letter declared: "Our people . . . must be held to the conviction that love of country is a virtue and that disloyalty is a sin." New texts will emphasize liberty and democracy.

The Most Rev. Edward Mooney, archbishop of Detroit, said that although the program was of Catholic origin he hoped it would not be considered an exclusively Catholic undertaking.

Blouse Is Excellent Gift

WOMAN'S AND MISS' BLOUSES.

For several years now Christmas presents have avoided the tried and true items that people have given for years. Not many seasons ago gift givers decided to show a little originality in their choice of tokens, and wearing apparel came in for its share of popularity. This year the trend is being recognized again, and blouses are among the important items women will be giving to their friends.

The pattern today offers a blouse that is extremely easy to make in either of its versions. At the left is a simple model that may be worn with tailored suits, costume ensembles, cocktail suits, street length skirts, or formal length skirts. It has no collar and it fits snugly from neckline to hip. Buttons close the garment and lend a distinctive finish. All the lovely silks, especially those with metal threads, make up superbly well.

The other version is more tailored. It has a brief collar and longer sleeves. Four pockets add dash. Woolen is a smart fabric possibility for this garment, as are the tailored silks, especially plaids.

Style No. 3288 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 2 yards of 39 inch material for the long sleeved blouse.

Granny's Views Held to Be Not Bad Psychology

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Older people who would never think of themselves as psychologists, often make wise comments that would qualify, however, as being very astute psychology. Of course they would scoff at the label and say, "Why, that's only common sense," or, "Any one who knows human nature knows that!" But what, after all, is applied psychology but a combination of knowing human nature and using good sense in applying the knowledge?

Grandmother comes to spend the afternoon with her daughter and the children. Absorbed as they become in talking over a new stuffing for the turkey and an untraditional Thanksgiving dessert, they ignore the children, among whom is Bim, age 7, and grandma's particular pal.

At intervals Bim's mother stops her conversation to look at Bim turning somersaults—Bim lying on his back in front of them kicking his feet in the air—Bim making faces—Bim acting generally silly and obstreperous. Bim's mother not only looks at her son, she corrects him each time or scolds him. And each time he stops for a minute, only to go off on a new tack.

Finally grandma sends him upstairs to get her handbag which contains a new pocketknife for him. Waiting until she hears his footsteps in the bedroom above, she says, "Martha, why do you keep at Bim like that? Just don't notice him, that's all. It's the age; he'll get over it. If you'd stop noticing every little silly thing he does at a time like this, he'd stop it—he'd soon get tired of it."

Another grandmother had just come from a long visit to her daughter, who has one little girl.

"Phoebe's a dear child, interesting and bright. But, in a way, a problem. And I know it's because Edith keeps at her all the time. It really amounts to nagging. It's 'Phoebe, go and eat your rice. Phoebe, eat your string beans. Mother, you see how little appetite Phoebe has. Meal times center round Phoebe. At other times, too, it's 'Phoebe, do this! Phoebe, don't do that! Phoebe, what are you doing?' all day long. The child is thin and a little nervous at best and this is the worst treatment she could get.

"Finally I said, 'Edith, if you just wouldn't notice her—not watch her every minute she'd be better.' Fortunately Will understands her; when he's home she's like a different child. Her mother just isn't good for Phoebe."

If things are at sixes and sevens in your home, open your eyes, look around, and see if perhaps you're not watching your children too much, keeping at them about things. It just doesn't work any more with children than it does with grownups to watch, to direct, to make suggestions, to criticize, to find fault all the time, no matter how good your intentions.

As grandma said, "Oh, just don't notice him!"

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 no trump	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the five of spades, dummy ducked, East played the ten, and declarer won with the jack. Declarer then led the eight of diamonds. Most players in West's position would play the seven spot and think no more about it, but this particular West was an expert. Without a second's hesitation, he put up his diamond queen. Dummy's ace won and declarer returned to his own hand with a club. Another diamond then was led toward dummy. This time West played the seven and thereby put the declarer [who was not a master player] into a long huddle. After much stewing and brewing, declarer decided that West's play of the diamond queen must have been based on a holding of king-queen and one or more others, hence now went up with dummy's jack. East won with the king and returned a spade. At this point declarer was "fixed." He went up with the ace and led another diamond. West won with the ten, ran his two established spades, and then cashed the heart ace for the setting trick.

Admittedly, West's play of the diamond queen might have done no good if declarer had been shrewd enough to realize that West would not have played the queen from a holding of king-queen with one or two small guards. The fact remains that if West had played the seven spot, any declarer would merely cover with dummy's nine. East would win and return a spade, but now declarer would have a simple finesse against West's remaining Q-10 of diamonds and hardly could go astray. The recommended play at least gives the defenders a fighting chance.

ANSWER TO LAST FRIDAY'S QUESTION.

Q. No. 37: Your best play on the eight of diamonds is the queen of diamonds. This may mislead declarer into thinking you hold the king and queen without the ten spot. The diamond ace will take your queen but later, when declarer leads another diamond toward dummy, and you follow with the seven spot, declarer may misguess the situation and put up dummy's jack. If he does, your partner's king will win and your ten still will remain as a diamond stopper and trick. The recommended play may not succeed, but cannot lose, since if you play low or play the ten, your side certainly will be held to one diamond trick. For full explanation, see today's hand above. [No demerit for playing diamond seven or ten, but take 15 points credit for playing diamond queen with correct reason.]

The Housewife

Why not let your teen age sons and daughters experiment with making their own Christmas cards? A set of linoleum blocks, tools, inks, and all the "makings" costs little and is sure to give any youngster with a creative sense a great deal of joy. Grownups can use the set, too.

Instructions explain how designs are made and how they are transferred to parchment or paper. And some of the kits even have these cards and matching envelopes. It is a good idea to get a press, at the same time, although this is not absolutely necessary. A small press doesn't run into much money and it does make the job easier. You'll be surprised to see what attractive designs can be worked out with a linoleum block set.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

In the model rooms of a New York store one is immediately conscious of a faint, lovely fragrance that permeates the entire floor. The scent, it develops, emanates from open bowls and boxes scattered about into which a handful or so of dried lavender flowers has been tossed.

This struck us as an awfully good idea, so we recently did some scouting and experimenting. Dried lavender blossoms, in quantity, are not so easy to find at a price within our modest reach. But we finally came on some fine French lavender, sold in bulk, that suited us perfectly. Already we have persuaded several Chicago housekeepers to give the new trick a trial and we're all now members of the lavender about the house club.

This French lavender, sold in quarter and half and full pound cellophane sacks and to our way of thinking very reasonably priced is a little heavier in fragrance than other lavenders.

This is another factor that makes it good for use in open containers. We found that in a warm room the scent is stronger than in a cold one. It's a clean fragrance, and for our money there's nothing nicer than the perfume of it wafted toward one now and then in a warm room. It seems to freshen the atmosphere.

You might try this during the coming holidays. It's rather festive and unbelievably pleasant. You don't need to use much, just scatter a handful of the dried flowers here and there in bowls or vases. Men like it. Even the men who dislike perfume and who writhe at anything so outlandish as incense tell us they approve of this. ELEANOR NANGLE.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 24. — The Detroit Lions, professional football's great enigma, summoned all the power and courage an injury ridden squad could muster today to organize two touchdown marches and achieve the major upset of the National league season. Striking once in the second period and again in the fourth, they battered and blasted their way to an astounding 14 to 7 victory over Chicago's high riding Bears.

With five key men lost through injuries, a third stringer, Rookie Bill Rogers of Villanova, forced to play sixty minutes at the important left tackle position, and three unimpressive performances in a row their only recommendation to a loyal constituency, the Lions whipped themselves into the fury of men possessed to preserve an opportunity to tie for the western division championship. Only Philadelphia's Eagles on Dec. 4 now stand between them and a share of the title. Victory over the Eagles would necessitate a playoff with Green Bay for first place and set the league championship game back a week to Dec. 18.

Bears Merely Threaten.

Until the final touchdown drive, which carried eighty yards and ended with Vernon Huffman's twenty yard pass over Bernie Masterson's head into Chuck Hanneman's arms in the end zone, it seemed to the 26,278 banked around the snow bordered gridiron in the spacious Briggs' stadium that the Bears would break loose any minute. They have been the league's outstanding team in recent weeks.

Except for its sixty-four yard march to the first touchdown, which ended with Huffman, a superb field general in this critical contest, plunging over from the 1 yard line, Detroit had not advanced past its 39 yard line in the first half. It had recovered a fumble on the Bears' 25 yard line in the third quarter and promptly fumbled back. But the Lions, spurred on by the shouts of their crippled star, Bill Shepherd, who was carried across the field before the game and ran back after the final play, were not to be denied. In six plays they advanced sixty yards to the 20 yard line, where Huffman fired the pass that broke the 7 to 7 tie the Bears had gained the period before.

Moscrip Turns Pugilist.

An old Bear special, reserved almost completely for Detroit games, gave the Chicagoans' their touchdown after Monk Moscrip had provided the opportunity by pummeling Ray Nolting and drawing expulsion from the game. With the expulsion went a half-the-distance to the goal penalty, placing the ball on the Lions' 22 yard line. Masterson passed to Bill Karr in the end zone for sixteen yards and the touchdown.

The Bears' chief troubles were faulty tackling, questionable generalship, and extreme over confidence. Throughout the game they appeared more concerned over the numbing cold than they did about the Lions and as they shuddered their defense congealed and their attack lagged. They managed to tie the Lions on first downs, each team collecting twelve. They held an advantage in yards gained by passing, 109 yards to 20.

But their punishing running attack, which had led eastern writers to dub them the team unstoppable in Brooklyn last week, bogged down before the furious charges of a desperate Detroit defense.

The Lions Score First.

Detroit went into the lead immediately after the scoreless first period. Masterson called a fourth down pass

Garcia Aims at Armstrong's Welterweight Crown Tonight

Ceferino Garcia.

The fight originally was listed for Nov. 2, and was postponed because of an injury suffered by Armstrong, but the delay has not dulled interest in the match, which is expected to attract a crowd of 20,000 and a gate of $100,000.

Appears Physically Fit.

Armstrong is reported fully recovered from the injuries which caused the postponement, and because of that fact is held the betting favorite at odds of 8 to 5. Considerable mystery surrounded the exact condition which forced the champion to ask for a delay, his manager, Eddie Meade, ascribing it to a back sprain incurred in a fall. Others insisted that the cut lips the Los Angeles lad suffered in taking the lightweight crown from Lou Ambers last August had not healed sufficiently.

At any rate the latest findings of the examining physicians reveal the champion is all set to go.

Armstrong possesses one of the most impressive records in the history of the ring, having been victorious in his last thirty-nine starts, in which he won the featherweight, lightweight, and welterweight titles.

He is running the risk of losing his 147 pound crown to the hardest hitter in the division. Garcia has to his credit three knockdowns against Barney Ross, former welterweight champion, and it is the belief of his followers that he will put Armstrong on the floor for the count. The challenger will have a decided advantage in the weights, scaling 147 pounds to Armstrong's 136.

His Biggest Opponent.

The problem seems to be whether Garcia will be able to tag the aggressive colored boy with his sweeping right uppercut. Armstrong fights at close quarters all the time, crowding his rival, and belaboring him with so steady a stream of punches as to afford him little chance to get set for a crushing shot at the jaw. Still, Garcia will be the biggest man Armstrong has ever been called on to fight.

For Garcia tomorrow's fight will mark his second attempt to win the welterweight crown. He came close a year ago last September when he fought Barney Ross to a standstill in a 15 round battle, in which the Filipino sagged at the finish. Should Armstrong lose he will have only one championship left. He vacated the featherweight crown three months ago because of inability to scale down to 126 pounds.

Crowd at Prep Title Game May Exceed 115,000 of 1937

BY EDWARD BURNS.

When 115,000 swarmed into Soldiers' field to see the prep championship game last year, crowd experts were amazed. And they said it never could happen again, what with the prep star, Bill De Correvont, a turnstile magnet, graduating and all

Now comes Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes, secretary of Chicago's Own Christmas Benefit committee, with the statement that Saturday's attendance will top last year's startling turnout, providing, of course, that the weather man makes good on his efforts to duplicate the weather that blessed last year's show.

Says Mr. Hodes: "The advance sale this year is thousands ahead of the total at the same time last year. With good weather the game should set a new record for attendance at a football game, prep or collegiate. All the early anxiety about not having a personality magnet to succeed De Correvont disappeared as soon as Fenger won the title in its league. I am sincere when I say that this boy, Don Griffin, has excited as much interest as the former Austin star did a year ago. Beyond that the prospect for a much closer game is apparent from the records of this year's teams, Fenger and Mount Carmel."

There'll Be Music.

The football game is the thing, plus the fact that it will produce $90,000 or so with which new, warm clothing and shoes will be purchased for the children of destitute Chicago families. But even for those who don't understand football and hate children, the spectacle Saturday will be more than worth the price of admission, unless those who don't understand football and hate children also loathe pretty music.

There will be fourteen high school bands out there tooting their sweetest before the game. Just before the kick off the bands, in mass formation, will conclude their concert with "The Star Spangled Banner."

Palmer is Proud of Team.

Between the halves the bands of Mount Carmel and Fenger will take over. The maneuvers of the Fenger band will be augmented by the marching section of 125 Fenger girls and the 30 piece drum and bugle corps. Viola Sharkey and Elaine Connolly, Fenger's famous acrobatic drum majors, have been practicing some new didoes for the entertainment of the vast crowd of spectators.

Our boss on this assignment, James Segreti, prep expert of THE TRIBUNE, has insisted upon doing all the experting about the teams and the players in the big game but we just had a visit with Chuck Palmer, coach of Fenger, whom we hadn't seen since he first became famous for running 105 yards for a Northwestern touchdown in the early '20s.

"I'm not claiming victory," said Mr. Palmer with becoming caution. "But I knew after a week's practice that Fenger had a fine team. I am, of course, delighted with the way they fought to the title.

"My biggest thrill, aside from the championship game last Saturday was the way the boys won their game with Lane in the last forty-five seconds of play. We were licked going into the last minute but with forty-five seconds to go Griffin passed to Dudzik and Fenger won, 20 to 14.

"I can't make any direct comparisons between Fenger and Mount Carmel because of lack of familiarity with Mount Carmel. I didn't see those boys play until they won the title Sunday. Then they looked very good to me.

Fenger Has a Defense.

"Fenger and Mount Carmel have had only one mutual opponent, St. John's. Fenger beat St. John's, 32 to 0, and Mount Carmel was victorious, 15 to 6.

"I know that the two teams have contrasting reputations. Fenger is supposed to be much better on offense than defense, while Mount Carmel is supposed to excel in defense. I will leave this comparison to those who have watched both teams play several games. I will say, however, that I expect our defense to function just as effectively as the offense."

102 Yard Run Features Denver's 19 to 12 Victory

Denver, Colo., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Denver university flashed its most brilliant football in several campaigns today to beat Colorado university, 19 to 12. The most spectacular run of the game was made by Dick Kearns, Colorado half back, who intercepted a pass behind his own goal line and ran 102 yards for a touchdown.

JACK M'CALLUM, MT. CARMEL BACK, ILL; OUT OF GAME

Jack McCallum.

The operation was performed by Dr. Howard McNally. McCallum, who is 18 years old, 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs 158 pounds, was stricken yesterday morning shortly before he was to have reported to Coach Wally Fromhart with other members of the squad for the final practice.

Lack Experienced Substitute.

McCallum was one of the leaders in Mount Carmel's march to the Catholic High School league championship. A senior, McCallum did virtually all the eleven's kicking and forward passing in addition to his ball carrying. His punting last Sunday staved off several Fenwick threats and he made several long gains against the West Siders to put his team in scoring position.

The loss of McCallum was a severe blow to the Catholic leaguers, who had hopes of winning their third city title from the Public School league. Coach Fromhart said no other able and experienced half back is available to replace McCallum.

May Shift Andretich.

However, John Andretich, regular full back, may be shifted to McCallum's place. Bob Quinn will play right half and Wesley Miller will be at quarter back. The full back duties will be given to Capt. Dick Creevy, who was injured three weeks ago and was on the sidelines when Mount Carmel defeated Fenwick last Sunday.

Only two other backs are available, Coach Fromhart said. They are Quarter Back Tom Creevy and Half Back Frank Meakin, who has an injured instep. Meakin appeared for a short time in the league title game. If Meakin gets into the game he will play left half and Andretich will be moved to his regular full back position.

In the Wake of the News

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 24.—Jimmy Crowley, Fordham coach, and a group of college football players, all 1937 and 1938 graduates, will sail from New York for France next Wednesday. . . . We reached the star-kist heights of ecstasy,
And love was such a grand and splendid dream—
Nothing like this has ever come to me,
Resounding through my heart its poignant theme.
Love then was like a pageant on a stage,
Unfolding evanescent scenes of bliss;
The play was all about Love's golden cage,
Wherein you trapped my heart with just one kiss.
With just one kiss you changed life's very scheme,
Altered the things that Fate had planned for me—
Laughing and arrogant, your eyes agleam,
You swept me off my feet so breathlessly,
That even now, with love grown wise and old—

IOWA RELEASES TUBBS; ANDERSON SIGNED, REPORT

Board Delays Official Word on New Coach.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Ira Irl Tubbs, coach of the University of Iowa football team was officially discharged today. At the same time it was reported authoritatively that Dr. Eddie Anderson, coach at Holy Cross college in Worcester, Mass., had signed a contract last Monday to coach the Hawkeyes for three years.

Eddie Anderson.

The release of Tubbs, who coached Iowa for two years, was announced by Karl E. Leib, chairman of the athletic board. It was learned, however, that Tubbs had been notified that he was through after Iowa's final game of the season against Nebraska last Saturday and had been asked to resign. Tubbs refused to retire voluntarily and the action dismissing him followed.

Signs $12,500 Contract?

Dr. Anderson is said to have signed a contract calling for a salary of $12,500, when he conferred with Walter L. [Stub] Stewart of Des Moines, former Iowa athlete and now an alumni member of the athletic board. Stewart met Dr. Anderson in Worcester on Monday but has not yet returned to make his official report to Hawkeye officials.

Despite Dr. Anderson's great record at Holy Cross, where his team lost only one game this season, alumni and business men in Iowa City who were responsible for the agitation which led to Tubbs' dismissal still were not satisfied with the new arrangement. They claim that they were not consulted in the selection of a new coach and are demanding an entire sweep of the athletic administration at the university, including the dismissal of E. G. [Dad] Schroeder, athletic director.

The alumni letter men's organization here is demanding recognition by the athletic board and the right to be consulted in athletic affairs.

No Objection to Anderson.

Although they have no objection to Dr. Anderson as a coach they contend that it will be impossible for Iowa to improve its athletic standing unless the coach is given complete control. Friction between the head coach and athletic directors has been blamed for much of Iowa's troubles in the past.

Dr. Anderson is a native Iowan. He started his coaching career at Columbia college in Dubuque after his graduation from Notre Dame, where he played end. He went to Holy Cross six years ago.

Today's statement that the board had decided not to retain the former Miami university [Fla.] coach was the first official word from that body concerning the coaching situation.

Prof. Leib said:

"The board has decided on a change. Mr. Tubbs has been informed. The board is not at liberty now to name a new coach but will do so as soon as possible."

Prof. Leib said that no special board meeting has been scheduled and that the next regular meeting will be Dec. 3. He added that the announcement was the official statement the board promised nine days ago.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 24.—(AP)—The Detroit Red Wings scored their second victory of the National Hocky league season and their first at home by whipping the Chicago Blackhawks, Stanley cup champions, 4 to 2, tonight.

A crowd of 10,000 saw the Wings tally twice in the second period and twice in the third after a drab opening, twenty minutes in which neither team was able to get an attack underway. The Hawks scored in the final period. The defeat dropped them to second place in the standings.

The victory appeared likely to prove costly for Detroit, however, as Charley Conacher, purchased from the Toronto Maple Leafs for $16,000 on the installment plan, suffered a leg and shoulder injury in a collision with Phil Besler of the Hawks early in the second period.

Second Injury of Season.

Conacher, who had been counted on by Manager Jack Adams to help the Wings make a comeback, sustained injuries frequently while with the Leafs. Tonight's hurt was the second he has suffered since joining Detroit.

Detroit's first two goals were scored within 47 seconds late in the second period after Alex Levinsky, Chicago defense man, was chased for holding. When Levinsky protested the decision Referee Clarence Campbell added 10 minutes for misconduct.

The Wings struck quickly, with Modere Bruneteau taking a double relay from Ed Wares and Ebbie Goodfellow and beating Goalie Mike Karakas with a shot from ten feet out. Less than a minute later Syd Howe drove the puck into the corner. Marty Barry and Bruneteau got assists.

Desilets Finds Net.

Chicago scored its first goal early in the third period when Jeff Desilets drove the puck home from 15 feet out after taking a pass from Cully Dahlstrom. Johnny Gottselig also got an assist.

Syd Abel, playing his first major league game, scored for Detroit a few minutes later, beating Karakas with a shot after a rebound. Pete Kelly and Hector Kilrea got assists. Later Howe tallied the final Detroit goal after taking a pass from Barry.

Chicago fought gamely to overcome the lead, but was able to get only one more goal, Paul Thompson counting from far out. Earl Seibert and Gottselig got assists.

VIRGINIA STATE ENDS MORGAN'S SIX YEAR REIGN

Virginia State, guarding a 1938 undefeated record, scored a safety in the first period and added touchdowns in the second and fourth. It checked Morgan's most serious threat in the waning moments on the State 70 yard line.

CONQUER DOES JUST THAT IN BOWIE FEATURE

Bowie, Md., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Piercing fog, rain, and sleet, Mrs. Louise Viau's Conquer won the $5,000 added Thomas K. Lynch Memorial handicap today at the Bowie race track. Necks apart were Walter Carter's Clodion for place and Miss Audrey Davies Unheralded for show. About 15,000 huddled in the stands to see the race.

Conquer won $4,675 for the major portion of the purse. He ran the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:49 3-5.

CANADIENS TIE, 2-2

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Defeated in their first seven starts, the Montreal Canadiens squeezed into the National Hocky league's point scoring column the hard way tonight, getting a 2 to 2 overtime tie with the New York Americans.

A revised lineup in which George Brown and Gus Mancuso of the New Haven farm replaced Jimmy Ward, and Johnny Gagnon gave a sparkling exhibition early in the game by taking a two goal lead in the first period. Paul Haynes and Rod Lorrain did the scoring. Then the Americans started clicking and Tommy Anderson scored in the second period and again in the third to tie the score. Neither team had a good scoring opportunity in the overtime.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa. Nov. 24.—An inspired Pennsylvania eleven checked every assault of Cornell's mighty team this afternoon in Franklin field. While the scoreless tie permitted Cornell to win the championship of the Ivy league the fact that Penn was not scored upon by the team that had broken Dartmouth's gridiron march tonight was hailed as a proper climax by the Red and Blue.

Seventy thousand watched the forty-sixth game between the rivals, a series that has been renewed every year except 1918. It was the fourth tie and while Pennsylvania through the years generally has subdued the Big Red from Ithaca, no victory was more satisfying than today's successful defensive battle. It was particularly pleasing as a climax to the first campaign in Penn's new football deal and in comparison with last year's 34 to 20 defeat.

Yale, Columbia Beaten.

Pennsylvania defeated Yale and Columbia but it was beaten by Princeton in the eastern league competition. Navy and Penn State also tied Pennsylvania. Michigan was the only other team to whip the Quakers. Cornell finished undefeated in league competition, its greatest victory having been scored against Dartmouth's Indians. Early in the campaign Syracuse gave Cornell its only defeat, 19 to 17.

The second half was played under conditions that handicapped Cornell's rallies. The Big Red started slowly in the opening periods when the field was firm. At the beginning of the second half a fine mist started to fall and by the end of the game it was changing to sleet. This made the gridiron slow and coated the ball so that forward passers scarcely could control the direction of their tosses, let alone connect with receivers.

Pennsylvania's only opportunity to reach enemy territory in the first half came on the third play of the second quarter. Capt. Walter Shinn, who played an excellent defensive game for Pennsylvania at left tackle, broke through and blocked Harold McCullough's punt. The ball went out of bounds on Penn's 45. Pennsylvania, however, could not gain and Cornell continued to dominate the attack.

Cornell Shows Some Power.

Late in the third period, led by Vincent Eichler, full back, Cornell linked together three first downs. The assault met a decisive setback, however, when a penalty for offside created a yardage barrier neither Eichler nor his mates could negotiate against Penn's fighting line.

Just before the fourth period started Cornell got another march under way from its 27. This also put together three first downs, the last a twenty-one yard pass from McCullough to Mal Baker, half back, that put the ball on Pennsylvania's 34. Three plays netted only five yards and on fourth down McCullough's long pass to Brud Holland, Cornell's colored end, was intercepted by Edmund Burke on his 15.

A few minutes later Cornell's last attack ended in the same fashion, an interception by Burke on Penn's 15. He slipped and fell after grabbing Walter Scholl's pass.

Marshall-Wesleyan Game Is Off; Too Much Snow

Huntington, W. Va., Nov. 24.—(AP)—A heavy snow forced cancellation of the Marshall-West Virginia Wesleyan football game today an hour before game time. It was to have been the final game of the season for both teams. Marshall officials said an attempt would be made to arrange a post-season game with West Virginia Wesleyan or another opponent.

Cards Work Out Despite Holiday; Await Cleveland

There was no letup in the Chicago Cardinals' training yesterday as Coach Milan Creighton directed a two hour practice in Wrigley field. The Cardinals will play the Cleveland Rams in their final National Pro league game of the season Sunday afternoon.

Cleveland is the only team the Cardinals have defeated this season. They beat the Rams, 7 to 6, in Cleveland early this season. Since then the Rams have come a long way, trimming the Chicago Bears twice.

The Rams are due in Chicago this morning from Los Angeles, where they played the Los Angeles Bulldogs last Sunday.

Brown Piles Up Big Lead to Beat Columbia

Providence, R. I., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Irving Hall, a descendant of the Pilgrims, gave Brown much cause to rejoice on this Thanksgiving day by contributing four touchdowns and three extra points to its 36 to 27 victory over Columbia.

Hall, himself a father, for he was married as a sophomore two years ago, ended his college football career by tearing the Columbia line to shreds until he retired, with the Bruins leading 36 to 7, in the final period.

Although he made many a long dash through the Lions' secondary, his longest touchdown run measured 30 yards. His other three scores were dashes from Columbia's 9, 7, and 5 yard lines.

Columbia Fights Back.

With ten minutes to go and 29 points behind, Sid Luckman cut loose against Brown substitutes by whipping a 65 yard touchdown pass to Johnny Naylor. The Lions gained the ball twice thereafter and Luckman's aerials enabled Columbia to travel 99 and 35 yards and Siegal to score twice.

The Bruins thrilled a chilled crowd of 20,000 by outrushing Columbia eighteen first downs to five and gaining 383 yards to 75. They completed only three of their nine passes for 43 yards while Luckman had eight of his thirteen caught for a gain of 148 yards.

VILLANOVA WINS AGAIN.

New York, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Villanova, executing its assignments with admirable precision in the face of miserable weather conditions, defeated Manhattan college, 20 to 0, today to complete its second straight season without defeat and run its undefeated streak to twenty games.

Led by Sophomore Nick Basca, whose passes accounted for three touchdowns, the Wildcats impressed a chilled crowd of 10,000 in the Polo grounds with the versatility of their attack and the crispness of their blocking.

It was Villanova's fifth successive shutout against the Jaspers. The Wildcats began their 20 game streak by beating Manhattan, 12 to 0, late in the 1936 season, and since then have been tied only three times—twice by Auburn, which was beaten 25 to 12 this season, and once by South Carolina.

CARNEGIE WINS, 14-0.

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Carnegie Tech, held scoreless for two periods, pushed over third and fourth period touchdowns and defeated North Carolina State, 14 to 0, today. Merlyn Condit scored in the third period on a twenty-seven yard dash, and in the fourth Peter Moroz, just after entering the game, passed thirty-eight yards to Ted Fisher for the second touchdown. Carnegie made good both tries for extra point. About 12,000 saw the game.

MIAMI WHIPS BUCKNELL.

Miami, Fla., Nov. 24.—(AP)—An alert Miami football team picked up an easy first quarter touchdown, hurled back two Bucknell challenges, and surged on to a 19 to 0 victory before a crowd of 12,648 today.

MARYLAND WINS, 19-13.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Substitute Half Back Fred Hewitt played his last game for the University of Maryland today, leading the Terrapins to a 19 to 13 aerial victory over Washington and Lee. Handicapped by sleet and snow, Hewitt completed six passes in a row, good for two scores through the air and setting up a third touchdown which Hewitt made on a thirty-nine yard dash through center.

WEST VIRGINIA BEATS GEORGE WASHINGTON, 7-6

Playing on a sleet-covered field, West Virginia put over its touchdown late in the second period on a forward pass hurled to Hockenberry by substitute Bob White. Rapaswick kicked the extra point.

Midway in the final period, White fumbled the ball on his 33 yard line and George Washington recovered. Billy Richardson shot a pass to Babich in the end zone for a touchdown. Nowaskey's try for the extra point failed.

NEBRASKA BEATS KANSAS STATE RIVALS, 14 TO 7

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Nebraska halted Kansas State on the 6 inch line in the final period to win their Big Six conference football game today, 14 to 7.

A crowd of 22,000 saw the contest, which with Missouri's victory over Kansas today, gave the Cornhuskers a tie with Missouri for third place in the conference.

Dodd Dashes to Goal.

Nebraska's touchdowns came in the first and second periods. Jack Dodd dashed sixty yards to register the first points, early in the game. Herman Rohrig place kicked the extra point.

In the second quarter, Thurston Phelps tossed a thirty-three yard pass to Roy Petsch, who ran fifteen more for the second Nebraska touchdown. Marvin Plock kicked the extra point.

MISSOURI, 13; KANSAS, 7.

Columbia, Mo., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Missouri, led by Sophomore Paul Christman, defeated Kansas, 13 to 7, today in their forty-seventh meeting.

For eight minutes the Kansas supporters were joyful as the Jayhawks took the ball and marched sixty-nine yards to a touchdown and a 7 to 0 lead. Then Christman received a punt on his 24 yard line, faked a lateral to Jim Starmer, and as the Kansas defenders took out after Starmer, raced seventy-six yards for a touchdown, which with Les Pieper's place kick, tied the score.

A sixty-two yard pasisng parade brought the Tigers their winning touchdown in the fourth period. On the Kansas 29 yard line, Christman shot a pass to Starmer, who ran over the goal unmolested.

The Missouri victory left it tied with Nebraska for third place in the final Big Six standings and dropped the Jayhawks to last place.

Southern California Crushes U. C. L. A. in Second Half, 42-7

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Southern California crushed University of California at Los Angeles under a 42 to 7 score today and immediately set up a clamor for the nomination as the far west's representative in the Rose Bowl game.

The victory ended the Trojans' conference schedule and left them in a tie with California for the Pacific Coast conference championship. The ten members of the league now will vote on which team, U. S. C. or the Golden Bears, will go into the Pasadena game Jan. 2.

Southern California will close its season against Notre Dame Dec. 3 in Los Angeles.

U. C. L. A. Scores First.

The Uclans scored first when they got the ball on a Trojan fumble at the kickoff. Kenny Washington, colored half back star, ran and passed the Bruins thirty-four yards, climaxing the march with a ten yard touchdown pass to Woodrow Strode.

In the second period Jimmy Jones broke loose on a fifty-one yard gallop. He was hauled down on the 1 yard line, but Jack Banta smashed it over. Al Krueger intercepted one of Washington's passes and traveled fifty-two yards and as the first half ended U. S. C. led, 13 to 7.

Becomes a Rout.

In the third period the Trojans smashed down field forty-seven yards to the goal in eight plays.

A little later the Trojans collected a safety when Bill Fisk batted down a Bruin pass in the end zone.

Early in the fourth period, U. S. C. completed a fifty-seven yard parade, with Ollie Day scoring. A fumbled Bruin lateral gave the Trojans another touchdown and the reserves drove to still another in the waning minutes.

IRISH IN PHYSICAL SHAPE.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Coach Elmer Layden of Notre Dame held practice for two hours this morning, despite a school holiday, and vouchsafed the belief that the Fighting Irish had a lot to be thankful for this season. Serious injuries have been reduced to a minimum, he said, and only one regular has been forced from the starting lineup since the season opened here Oct. 1 against Kansas. The only casualty was Motts Tonelli, full back, who was forced to the sidelines with a charley horse. He has since recovered and will be ready to play against Southern California in Notre Dame's season's final game.

Layden devoted today's session to dummy scrimmage, punting, and pass defense. Three freshman teams, armed with Southern California plays, were pitted against the first three varsity teams to acquaint the regulars with the type of offense they may expect a week from Saturday.

A portion of tomorrow's practice session will be turned over to news reel men, who report that interest in Hollywood and Los Angeles has reached fever heat over the coming tussle with U. S. C. There is excellent prospect that the Los Angeles coliseum, which seats 115,000 fans, will be sold out.

Wichita Turns Back De Paul Attack, 31-13

Wichita, Kas., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Led by Half Backs Harold Brill and Tromer Smith, Wichita university beat De Paul university, 31 to 13, today before 5,000. Wichita pushed over a touchdown in each of the first three periods and kept pace with a thirteen point drive by the Chicagoans in the final period.

Smith ran forty-nine yards on the second play of the game for Wichita's opening score. A twenty-seven yard dash in the second period by Brill added another. A pass interception by Brill in the third on De Paul's 46 paved the way for another Wichita score, Smith going over from the 10.

Tom O'Brien ran twenty-two yards on a spinner in the fourth period for De Paul's first score and a few minutes later Frank Jenks raced to a touchdown after a series of laterals that started on De Paul's 35. Wichita then turned on the power, Brill jogging eleven yards around end for a touchdown and Full Back Niehage crossing De Paul's goal from the 14 with less than a minute to play.

Furman Forces Clemson to Be Satisfied, 10 to 7

Clemson, S. C., Nov. 24. — (AP) — Clemson, beaten only by Tennessee this year, was extended today to defeat Furman, 10 to 7, on a slippery field. Clemson did all its scoring in the second period. Banks McFadden went over from his 10 yard line for the touchdown. Two plays before the half ended Ben Parsons made an 18 yard field goal. Furman marched forty-three yards to a touchdown early in the fourth quarter.

on the Lions' 36 yard line and threw it too far for Eggs Manske. Starting from this point, Gutowsky hit guard for two yards. Ed Klewicki, one of the Lions' outstanding players until he was injured late in the game, got four on an end around play, and Huffman made it first down on the 50 yard line with a sprint around Manske's end. Gutowsky added eight on a spinner over George Musso's guard. Huffman got another yard at tackle and Gutowsky spun past Musso for a first down on the Bears' 38 yard line.

After Huffman had been held for no gain, Dick Nardi, a rookie right half back from Ohio State, went wide around the Bears' right end to put the ball on the 18 yard line. On the next play he dashed around left end for nine yards before being shoved out of bounds. Gutowsky spun over guard twice for a net of five yards, then Nardi, cutting back on a wide reverse, reached the 1 yard line.

On fourth down Huffman, stripped of his blockers by Stydahar, raced past Masterson and over the goal. Moscrip added the extra point.

The Battle Begins.

Early in the second half the Bears were forced to punt and Nolting kicked out of bounds on the 17 yard line. Moscrip crashed into him as he kicked, and in the melée the Lion end, standing over the fallen Nolting, swung several punches.

Moscrip was banished forthwith and Referee Bobie Cahn stepped off half the distance, giving the Bears a first down on the 22 yard line. Famiglietti plunged for three yards, Manders fumbled and recovered for a three yard gain and Nolting was held to no gain, making it fourth down. Masterson then brought forth the pass that has plagued the Lions more in the last five seasons than any other single offensive maneuver and tossed up the middle to Karr, who had split Gutowsky and Stokes in the secondary and took the ball in the end zone, just as Huffman rushed up to knock him down. Manders added the extra point, tying the score.

Then Ryan Came In.

Rookie Ken Ryan came into the game late in the third period and fumbled. Stydahar recovered on the Lions' 43 yard line. As soon as the Lions regained the ball in the fourth period, however, Ryan made amends by leading them on their triumphant eighty yard march.

He brought Swisher's short punt back five yards to the 20 yard line, blocked for Huffman as the latter cracked inside Stydahar for ten yards and faked the Bears into letting Gutowsky spin for seven. Then he broke away around the Bears' right end on a reverse to Chicago's 36 yard line, where Stydahar brought him down.

Bears Substitute In Vain.

The Bears hurriedly made substitutions, sending in among others, Milt Trost to relieve Del Bjork at right tackle. On the first play, Ryan again took the ball on the famed Lion reverse and smashed his way twenty-two yards to the 14 yard line. Huffman lost three yards when Wilson broke through his interference and Musso crashed through to toss Ryan for another three yard loss before the dreaded reverse play could get under way. On third down Huffman rifled the ball into the end zone where Hanneman had gotten behind Masterson. The end took it in stride for the score. Regis Monahan, veteran guard, replaced Lester Graham and added the extra point.

ALABAMA BEATS VANDERBILT, 7-0, IN 4TH PERIOD

Bradford Goes Over from One Foot Line.

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Charley Boswell warmed the hearts of a partisan Alabama crowd of 25,000 today by blasting through the Vanderbilt line for vital gains in the Crimson Tide's 7 to 0 victory in their traditional Thanksgiving Day battle.

Vic Bradford, Alabama quarter back, took the ball over from the one foot line on the first play of the final period after Boswell and Pig Davis, playing full back in place of the injured Charley Holm, had smacked out six consecutive first downs in a drive starting from the Alabama 28.

Stopped on Five Yard Line.

That march won the ball game, although superiority in punting gave Alabama other chances, one of which bogged down on the Vanderbilt five in the closing minutes.

The contest was played in bitter cold, with snow falling in the final seconds.

Start Late in Third Period.

The Alabama touchdown drive started late in the third period. It included slashing drives off the tackles, and netted the distance across the goal in eighteen plays, all inside the ends and without a pass being called.

Alabama amassed 179 yards by running for thirteen first downs to Vanderbilt's twenty-five yards and two first downs, one on a penalty.

VIRGINIA TECH, 2; V. M. I., 2.

Roanoke, Va., Nov. 24 —(AP)—Virginia Tech and Virginia Military institute battled to a 2 to 2 tie in a snowstorm today before 16,000 fans. Both military school teams scored automatic safeties in the first period and were unable to handle the slippery ball well enough on the slushy field to score again.

NORTH CAROLINA WINS, 20-0.

Charlottesville, Va., Nov. 24.—(AP)—The University of North Carolina defeated the University of Virginia, 20 to 0 before 7,500 shivering spectators today. North Carolina scored on a safety and a field goal in the first period and struck again in the third to score two touchdowns and another safety.

TENNESSEE WINS, 46 TO 0.

Knoxville, Tenn., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Tennessee's Volunteers overcame a long standing jinx to crush the Kentucky Wildcats 46 to 0 today and win its first undisputed Southeastern conference championship before 18,000 fans on a snow covered field.

Tennessee ran and passed its way to an easy triumph, with Kentucky making only one earned first down. The triumph was Tennessee's ninth straight for the season and placed the Volunteers in bidding position for a post-season bowl game invitation.

Giants Battle Dodgers to 7-7 Tie in Snow

Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 24.—(AP)—The New York Giants pierced Brooklyn's defense for a last period touchdown on a pass, Ed Danowski to Dale Burnett, and tied the Dodgers, 7 to 7, today in a savagely fought National pro football league battle.

Victors only once in the interborough rivalry, the Dodgers scored midway of the first period on Ace Parker's 68 yard run with an intercepted forward pass.

Brooklyn Staves 'Em Off.

In the second quarter the Giants, driving hard across the snow swept gridiron, got to the Dodger 30 yard line. In the third period they reached the 8 yard line, where two passes went astray and Brooklyn took the ball.

The real drives came in the fourth quarter, however, as the 17,500 rooters went wildly happy and sorry by turns. Once, after the Giants had moved from the Dodger 31 yard line, Brooklyn took the ball on the 2 yard line, stopping Bull Karcis on a fourth down. Another time they took the ball on the 8 yard line

Fight Back to Score.

The third time the Giants marched, storming the tackles and harrying the seconday, Ralph Kercheval intercepted a pass on the Brooklyn 1 yard line. He went back to punt—after kicking the ball nobly all day—and the kick was partially blocked. The Giants got the ball on the 11 yard line and on the first play Danowski tossed the ball to Burnett, who stiff armed Stan Kosel and scored. A moment later Ward Cuff kicked the tying point. Lineup:

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 24.—(AP)—The University of Arizona football team tossed a 7 to 0 football victory to Montana before 9,000 today.

Montana's score came in the closing minutes of the second period when Half Back Bronko Smilanich threw a pass into the arms of Bob Thormally, Montana center, on the Arizona 19. Fine interference formed around Thormally as he crossed the goal line. Perry Stenson, Montana guard, added the extra point.

DOLLAR CLIMBS; STERLING VALUE FALLS 2½ CENTS

London Gold Price Rises to High Record.

The value of the American dollar rose sharply yesterday against British and French currencies in London and Paris. Labor strife in France and continued anti-Jewish violence in Germany were believed responsible for the rush to convert foreign currency into gold and dollars. Gold was bid up to the highest price on record in the London open market.

At the time of price fixing the gold rate was unchanged at 149 shillings 2 pence, but later buying forced the price up to 149 shillings, 9 pence an ounce, equivalent to $34.80 in American money. The former peak price of 149 shillings four pence was set June 3, 1935. About $4,742,280 of gold was purchased in the open market.

Pound Drops 2½ Cents.

Heavy demand for American dollars drove the pound down 2¼ cents to $4.64¾ in the London market. The French franc closed at 2.602 cents in Paris compared with Wednesday's rate of 2.61 cents in New York.

The Bank of France reduced its discount rate from 3 to 2½ per cent. The bank rate had been raised to 3 per cent on Sept. 27 during the Czechoslovakian crisis when gold was flowing out of France. A spokesman for the finance ministry said the rate was reduced because of a return flow of gold into France and because the position of the franc against the British pound "showed improved conditions."

The bank's rate for loans on securities was cut from 4 to 3½ per cent.

Gold Revaluation Completed.

The statement of the Bank of France for Nov. 19, showed the bookkeeping operation of revaluing gold had been completed. The bank reported a paper profit of 31,456,000,000 francs on the transaction, which will be credited against loans made to the government for operating expenses. The bank's gold reserves were revalued at 87,264,284,579 francs against 55,808,329,303 francs a week earlier.

Stock markets were dull in Europe and Canada. Closing of American markets made traders hesitant. Prices advanced moderately in the early trading at London but profit taking wiped out most of the gains. French stocks and government loans declined in Paris as a result of the strikes and unsettled exchange conditions. International issues were steady.

Business Books

"How to Operate Under the Wage and Hour Law," by Alexander and Jacob E. Hurwitz. Alexander Publishing company, New York City. Price $3.50.

Until the administrative staf of the fair labor standards act can fully interpret the mountain of problems confronting business under this new law, or until the courts rule on the act, only two bases exist for compliance by business. One is the administrator's warning, "When in doubt, comply." The other is private opinion.

"How to Operate Under the Wage and Hour Law" is the work of two attorneys specializing in labor law. They are members of the New Jersey and New York bar, and are the authors of "How to Deal with Organized Labor."

Besides discussing the many provisions of the law in everyday language the new volume gives a clear and concise explanation of an employer's responsibility for his own actions and for the violations of others. Answers to many specific problems under the act are presented in a syllabus. These replies are supported by citations of official interpretations or court rulings on similar points. The official text of the act makes up another section. An appendix contains reprints of the early official regulations.

Business men who want to add to or supplant bulletins published by various associations will find this 248 page book compact and readable. It would serve as a handy reference in an office.

HOME BUILDING DURING 1939 MAY SET NEW RECORD

Private Capital More Active in Field.

New York, Nov. 24. — (AP) — The United States in 1939 and 1940 may have the best residential building years since 1929. This is the belief of a number of executives in manufacturing industries interested in building construction.

A utility executive who has just collected estimates of planned residential construction in this and a number of other leading cities, said today that it was possible that the 1929 figure would be surpassed. He said building would reach back to all-time records.

Private Capital Active.

A heavy industry manufacturer who depends for a major part of his business on new building prospects said that private capital was entering the residential building field in "great amount" for the first time since the depression began.

Some "fugitive" British and Amsterdam capital is being put into new privately financed large scale housing developments, he said. Plans for three big developments supported by this capital in the metropolitan district of New York alone have already passed from the planning to the bidding stage, he said. A number of the largest insurance and other institutions are preparing plans to break their investment log jam by way of housing developments, he said.

Others Predict Active Building.

F. W. Dodge corporation, a compiler of data for the construction industry, has just published a prediction of 1939 residential construction contracts totaling $1,300,000,000. This is the highest total since 1929.

W. C. Bober, economist for a leading building industry manufacturer, predicted 1939 would be the best year since 1929. He based the prediction on studies antedating these latest developments.

A gain of 1.56 per cent was reported in the October output of cigars, as compared with the same month last year. The total for last month was 525,662,072 units.

Snuff production last month totaled 3,128,093 pounds, a substantial increase over October, 1937. Manufactured tobacco output was 24,740,880 pounds, a decrease of more than a million and a half pounds from the production in October last year.

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Nov. 24.—Congress has given a 15 years concession to Alfred Palazio and Alejandro Hurtado providing for the development of gold mines near La Libertad in the Department of Chontales. The concession stipulates that the government concedes the right of the concessionaries to dispose of all the newly mined gold with the exception of 12 per cent, which must be sold to the National Bank of Nicaragua.

Lead and Tin in Steel.

Lead is mixed with tin to form a rust resisting coating for steel. Small amounts of lead alloyed with steel improve the "machinability" of the metal.

Lead steels are used for roofing, automobile gasoline tanks, machinery and other products. The United States is the world's principal source of lead, producing about 30 per cent of the total. The United States is also the principal consumer, using about 35 per cent of the world output, necessitating some imports.

Tin is used chiefly for its corrosion resisting quality. This property is needed in steels used for sanitary cans and kitchenware. The United States imports nearly all of the tin it uses. Imports come from British Malaya, United Kingdom, Netherlands, and India.

BETHLEHEM STEEL CORPORATION

ADOPT PROGRAM TO SELL BIG CROP OF CITRUS FRUIT

Reduces Handling Costs and Retail Prices.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—A program to aid the marketing of this season's record orange and grapefruit crops was announced today. It provides for reduced packing and handling charges and prices. The plan was formulated at a meeting of representatives of retailers, wholesalers, shippers, and growers.

The conference, called by the agriculture department, made recommendations for "increasing the consumption of citrus fruits, and to enable retail groups to support a reasonable return to producers and a fair retail price to consumers."

The recommendations were submitted by John A. Logan, president of the National Association of Food Chains, and on behalf of the independent groups by Hector Lazo, executive vice president of the Coöperative Food Distributors of America.

Groups Involved in Plan.

The retail groups concurring unanimously were the National Association of Retail Grocers, Voluntary Groups Institute, Coöperative Food Distributors of America, National Association of Food Chains, and the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company. The recommendations follow:

A maximum price markup of 23 per cent above cost [20 per cent on sales price]. A minimum that will not violate anti-loss leader laws in any state where such laws are established.

Packing costs to be reduced. Charges above 50 cents per box on grapefruit and 55 cents per box on oranges, exclusive of picking and hauling, would be regarded excessive.

The plan suggests that the government and growers request a proportionate reduction of terminal market charges, such as brokerage, receiving agents' margins, auction charges, cartage, wholesale and jobber charges. Such savings would be applied toward the reduction of consumer prices and the improvement of producer prices.

Retailers Make Recommendations.

Retailers made the following recommendations for a general program to improve the marketing and to increase the consumption of citrus fruits:

Industry-wide committee be established to explore the markets for citrus fruits to ascertain areas where per capita consumption is low and plans be formulated to develop the markets and increase per capita consumption.

Growers would recognize that the responsibility for the permanent development of markets rests with them and their organizations—and that distributors will aid in every consistent way in the merchandising of their products to consumers.

ILLINOIS LEADS NATION IN YEAR'S GIN PRODUCTION

California Packing.

Investors' Guide: I should be very grateful for anything you can tell me about the stock of California Packing company.—Mrs. W. W. K.

Answer: The California Packing corporation is the largest packer and distributor of dried fruits and vegetables in the world. It also ranks among the leading fruit and vegetable canning companies, and is one of the most important distributors of Hawaiian pineapple.

The company's best known brand is "Del Monte." Products are also sold under the names "Sun-Kist," "Gold Bar," "Glass Jar," "Luxury," and "President." It has six wholly owned subsidiaries and controls the Alaska Packers' association, through ownership of about 85 per cent of its stock.

Prices of food products fluctuate with changes in sizes of crops and general business conditions and have a considerable effect on the company's profits. Inventory writedowns at the end of the fiscal year ended Feb. 28 accounted to a large extent for the almost 40 per cent drop in net earnings. Increased taxes and labor costs also helped to reduce profits. No interim earnings reports are issued. Earnings in recent years follow:

1936	58,188,106	2,542,248	2.63
1935	†	3,240,704	3.36
1934	†	4,131,863	4.28
1933	†	*4,521,001	*4.68

*Net loss. †Not reported.

Funded debt of the company now consists of $6,000,000 of 2¾ per cent debentures, due serially on July 1, 1939 to 1944, inclusive. They were sold to an institutional investor early this year to retire a $7,500,000 issue of 5 per cent convertible debentures due 1940.

The company has 61,294 shares of 5 per cent preferred stock outstanding and 965,073 shares of no par common stock. The preferred stock was created late in 1936 to be used for paying extra dividends on common stock in order to reduce undistributed profits taxes and at the same time conserve the company's cash. Payments in stock were made in February, 1937, and in February, 1938.

Cash dividends paid so far this year on the common stock amounted to $1.25 a share, including 25 cents paid Nov. 15. Cash payments during 1937 totaled $2. Payments totaled $1.50 in 1936 and in 1935.

NBC TURNS FEDERAL INVESTIGATION INTO RADIO EXPERIMENT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—[Special.] — The National Broadcasting company has turned an investigation of its activities by the federal communications commission into an experimental demonstration of radio technique.

In the auditorium of the Labor Department building, used as a hearing room, microphones have been placed so that all commission members and a battery of counsel and witnesses may speak in conversational tones and yet be heard clearly throughout the room. An operator is present with a portable broadcasting unit sufficiently powerful for use by any one who may be out of range of the microphones.

ILLINOIS STORE SALES INCREASE ABOUT 9 PER CENT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Sales of independent retail stores in Illinois in October showed an increase of about 9 per cent over sales of the preceding month. They declined about 17 per cent from October, 1937, however.

The commerce department's bureau of foreign and domestic commerce said today that Evanston and Oak Park were the only cities not reporting decreases in total sales last month from October, 1937. Both cities showed practically no change in sales volume. Other changes ranged down to the loss of about 31 per cent, reported by Springfield.

Declines of 20 to 30 per cent were reported by Alton and Moline.
